3 MORE SLAIN IN CUBA AFTER NEW DISORDER

MANY SEIZED AS RADICALS

Embassy Takes Step for Protection of Its Nationals.

Havana, April 14 (A.P.).—Three young Cubans, believed by authorities to be engaged in active opposition to the government, met swift, violent death at the hands of police today.

The Spanish Embassy moved to protect its nationals as dozens of persons were being taken into police custody on the suspicion that they conducted subversive activities.

Spain's diplomatic representatives inquired after at least one person arrested today, and it was reported that other ministers were doing likewise.

The deaths swelled to seven the total of deaths since terrorism, quiescent for several days, burst forth anew yesterday. Four of the victims were opposition'ists; two were government men, and one was a 3-year-old child.

Police Begin Searches.

Stirred by a series of 17 bombings yesterday and last night—during which one person was killed, four were hurt, and some property damage was done—police began a systematic search of automobiles and residences, and jailed suspects by the dozens.

A tip led them this noon to a Campacio street house occupied by Abilio and Alberto Valdes Daussa, 25 and 23 years old, sons of J. M. Valdes Leon, paymaster general of the Cuban government.

The brothers, authorities said they believed, supplied the bombs for the terroristic events of last night.

Bomb Is Dropped.

Breaking in, the authorities met resistance from the pair, one of whom dropped a bomb at the raiders' feet. The brothers were turned over to expert, or plain clothes, police.

This afternoon shots sounded in the exclusive Vedado section of Havana, and uniformed policemen rushed up to find Alberto dead and Abilio dying.

Both had been shot once in the head and once in the body.

Father Is Arrested.

Their father also was arrested today. Their bodies lay unclaimed in a morgue tonight. Another brother, Ramiro, is serving a sentence in the Isle of Pines prison.

The other death today was that of Manuel Garcia, 19, son of a police headquarters electrician. He was shot and wounded twice last midnight when police fired at several youths gathered on a street corner. He died tonight.

Police armed with rifles stood guard along all streets leading into Havana tonight, and halted all automobiles. Passengers were required to identify themselves.

UNIT OF SENATE HEARS LEADERS RAP D. C. CUTS

REPORT TO BE GIVEN EARLY IN NEXT WEEK

Civic Washington yesterday solidly went on record against the 26 per cent cut in District appropriations in an effective presentation of the needs of the city before the Senate District Appropriations subcommittee.

It was the civic leaders' first opportunity to be heard on the House bill, which reduces the Federal lump sum from $7,775,000 to $5,700,000, eliminates all funds for new school construction and generally pares down appropriations.

Chairman Elmer Thomas hoped to bring hearings to a close yesterday, but a long line of waiting witnesses, each with the same general plaint, forced continuance of the hearings Monday. The bill will be reported to the Senate early next week.

Cottrell Cites Slashes.

A strong case for an increase in the Federal contribution was made out by Robert J. Cottrell, executive secretary of the Washington Board of Trade, who traced reductions in the sum since Congress originally paid half the cost of the District.

He asked that authority be given the Commissioners to adjust the tax rate downward, and pointed out detrimental effects of individual cuts in appropriations.

George E. Sullivan, representing the Federation of Citizens Associations, asked a 20 per cent slash in the water tax so District taxpayers may get the benefit of the present surplus in the fund. He asked more power for the Commissioners in administering the $1,040,000 increase for street construction voted by the House.

Petition Is Presented.

A petition signed by 500 taxpayers protesting the $112,500 reduction in appropriations for school repairs and improvements, was turned over to the subcommittee by a delegation headed by E. R. Williams.

Other witnesses included S. S. Stabler, of the North Capitol Citizens Association, who sought a small appropriation for the Bloomingdale playground; Dr. Llewellyn Jordan and G. C. Shinn, of the Washington Board of Trade, who asked funds for construction of Calvert Street Bridge over Rock Creek; Frank T. Shull, who appeared in behalf of Conduit road paving; J. M. Schaffer and Mrs. Giles Scott Rafter, who asked new school facilities for the south section of the city; Evan H. Tucker and O. H. Brinkman, who outlined Northeast playground needs; John Rhodes, who spoke for Porter street paving; Watson B. Miller, who opposed abolition of the War Veterans' Information Service, and Mrs. Burton K. Wheeler, Mrs. Leslie B. Wright and Edwin S. Hege, who demonstrated the need for the new Woodrow Wilson High School.

TURNAGE'S AUTO HIT BY FAST AMBULANCE

A Casualty Hospital ambulance driver was charged with reckless driving at the First Precinct Station last night, after the ambulance and an automobile driven by United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage collided at Thirteenth street and New York avenue northwest.

Although both vehicles were badly damaged, no one was injured. The cars came together in the center of the intersection and traffic was at a standstill for several minutes.

Commissioner Turnage, in lodging a complaint against William McCeney, 32, driver of the ambulance, told police he heard no warnnig signal and the ambulance cut across his path traveling on a red light.

"The ambulance was going quite fast," the commissioner said, "and I heard no siren to warn me of its approach. I crossed on the green light and naturally did not expect to see anything coming from the other direction."

Witnesses also related to police that they heard no siren on the ambulance. The crash attracted several hundred persons, who milled about the center of the street until McCeney was placed in another hospital car and taken to the police station.

Riding in the ambulance was Dr. J. R. Passalaeque. He said they were en route to 708 Eighteenth street northwest, where a woman had been reported ill.

The accident occurred less than a month after an official ruling set the speed of ambulances at 30 miles per hour. An ambulance from Emergency Hospital struck a private car in the downtown section and the crash resulted in the death of a baby and severe injury of his parents.

Dalrymple Drops Dry Chief on Coast

Asks Walker Resignation and Names Considine to Succeed Him.

(Associated Press.)

John Considine has been appointed by A. V. Dalrymple, prohibition director, to succeed William Walker, whose resignation has been requested, as prohibition administrator for California and Nevada.

Walker's resignation was asked effective tomorrow. In making known the change, Dalrymple, who is from San Francisco, declined to discuss his reasons for acting.

Considine was Federal prohibition supervising agent for California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Arizona under the Wilson administration. During the same administration Dalrymple, who took office only a few weeks ago, was supervising agent for the Middle West.

Test Flight of Macon May Be Started Today

Akron, Ohio, April 14 (A.P.).—Lieut. Comdr. Alger H. Dresel, of the dirigible Macon, watched a low-pressure area moving into the neighborhood of Ohio today, and announced the huge craft had a "30 per cent" chance to get in the air on her maiden flight tomorrow.

"Sunday looks better to me, though," he said, as he scanned the daily weather map. The test flights will determine the Macon's acceptance from the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation by the Navy. The first flight has been twice postponed this week.

Auto Bullet-Proof, But Is Not Robber-Proof

MANSFIELD, O., April 14 (A.P.).—Sheriff E. C. Wilson and Policeman Dwight Trueblood, of Decatur, today were held up and robbed of their automobile, supposedly by the same three men they were seeking for a robbery here earlier in the day.

Three men held up the Peck general store and escaped with $40 after firing one shot. Wilson and Trueblood cruised over the county in a bullet-proof automobile seeking the men.

Near Oreana, Sheriff Wilson said, they saw a parked automobile and, farther down the road, three men. The men hailed him, he said, explaining their car had developed motor trouble. When Wilson asked to see their automobile registration card, the men covered him and Trueblood with pistols.

The trio forced the sheriff and Trueblood from the car and sped away with the county's automobile, a machine gun, and pistols belonging to Wilson and Trueblood.

CARPENTERS ACCEPT WAGE SCALE OF $8

The long-drawn-out wage controversy between union carpenters in the District and contractors appeared ended last night until April 30, 1934, with agreement for $8 a day rate between Master Builders Association of Washington and the District Council of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. The former scale was $11. The new rate is effective Monday.

Threatening several times to tie up the Federal building projects here, the carpenter-contractor wage rows have gone on since last May. Yesterday's agreement ended negotiations conducted intermittently ever since the first pay flare-up nearly a year ago.

Approximately 2,500 carpenters are affected by the wage pact. About half of the number are said to be engaged on private and public projects at present. Twenty-four local contractors are members of the Master Builders.

The wage treaty, it was generally believed by both labor officials and contractors last night, will extend throughout the ambitious Federal program on the Mall, although many of the contractors there are not members of the Master Builders.

Labor leaders last night would not discuss any queries leading to the proposition that other trades might be indirectly affected by the carpenters' cut. The carpenters are the only trade to deal directly with the Master Builders, other lines of building dealing with the subcontractors.

Inflation's Defeat Looms in Senate

Long and Wheeler Favor Currency Expansion as Farm Aid Rider.

(Associated Press.)

Defeat of proposals to expand the currency as part of a farm relief program was predicted yesterday by Democratic leaders as the inflation issue came squarely before the Senate for a decision in connection with the broad Roosevelt plan to aid agriculture.

Moving late in the day, Senators Long (Democrat), Louisiana, and Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, raised the monetary expansion question with proposals to add silver to the currency, on which a vote may come today with all indications pointing to rejection.

Long, offering an amendment to authorize the purchase of $100,000,000 in silver, against which currency would be issued, took the first step. Wheeler promptly proposed as a substitute for Long's amendment, his Bryanesque plan to remonetize silver at 16 to 1 with gold.

Nine Persons Are Hurt When Trains Collide

ROOSEVELT WANTS MINIMUM PAY LAW

Considers Double-Barreled Public Works Program as Slump Relief.

Determined that America shall arise from the depression stronger than before, President Roosevelt and his advisers yesterday were considering minimum wage legislation and a program to make public works yield double dividends by raising the standard of living as well as providing employment.

The President favors some form of protection for wage levels, it was learned definitely at the White House yesterday. He is not sure of the constitutionality of a national minimum wage law, but is much interested in the efforts being made to find a constitutional means of keeping up wages. In this connection, he is watching efforts being made at the Capital to add a minimum wage amendment to the shorter week bill.

President Roosevelt has reached no decision on the best methods of setting the salary level. The solution of establishing wage boards for various industries has been considered, however. The possibility that employers might voluntarily set up such boards and agree to abide by their decisions has also been studied. It was pointed out, however, that while 90 per cent of the employers might agree to a minimum scale, the remainder of the industry would be sufficient to wreck the scheme. For this reason, little hope is maintained of setting up a minimum scale without legislative action.

A possibility of a public works program with the double-barreled effect of providing employment and raising living conditions, was advanced by Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor. Slum improvement work, she pointed out, would improve living conditions, while monumental building construc-

Theater Projectionist Badly Beaten by Group

Kansas City, April 14 (A.P.).—The management of the Madrid Theater reported to police today that a projectionist in its employ, Frank Jameson, had been taken from the show and severely beaten by a group of unidentified men.

The Madrid was one of the 27 shows, closed three days because of a wage dispute with union operators, which announced they would reopen tonight with such help as is available among Kansas City operators.

Felon's Confession Gives Lifer Pardon

Atlanta, April 14 (A.P.).—Robert E. Coleman, who served four years on a chain gang for a crime he did not commit, was pardoned today by Gov. Eugene Talmadge.

Coleman was convicted four years ago of slaying his bride and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

James Starks, Negro serving a term for burglary, told officers yesterday that he beat Mrs. Coleman to death with a poker the night of March 14, 1929. Coleman's reaction to news of the confession consisted principally of an expressed wish to see his son, Robert E., jr., now 5 years old, whom he has not seen since the day of the crime.

Jury Advises Life Term For Man Who Slew Six

Seattle, April 14 (A.P.).—Recommending against the death penalty, a jury of ten men and two women today convicted Marcelino Julian, Filipino, accused of stabbing six persons to death and wounding thirteen others here last Thanksgiving Day, of first-degree murder in the slaying of Tito Gautlo, his roommate. The verdict means life imprisonment.

The jury found the 30-year-old defendant, who had pleaded insanity, was sane. He showed no emotion when the verdict was read.

MODIFIED BEER BARS ALLOWED BY D. C. BOARD

Counter Trade Approved if Chairs or Stools Are Furnished.

PERMITS REACH 1,250 AND RUSH SUBSIDES

The Beverage Permits Board late yesterday adopted a lenient policy regarding the sale of beer over counters after a prolonged conference with the District Commissioners. Vernon E. West, chairman of the board, said that licensees will be permitted to sell beer over counters so long as there are chairs or stools at the counter.

While the old-fashioned bar with the brass rail, &c., is definitely barred, the board will accept it so long as it is dressed up to comply with the District beer act. That is, if the bar is converted into a lunch counter primarily, i. e., with chairs or stools, it will be considered as fulfilling the role of a table as specified by the beer act.

Old-Fashioned Bars.

This policy, while not absolute pending approval by Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, who was absent yesterday, will be followed in the consideration of annual licenses. It was decided upon after United States Attorney Leo A. Rover gave no indication that he intended to prosecute permit holders who dispensed beer over the counter.

When beer first went on sale April 7 the old-fashioned bars were brought into play at several former saloons, but the beverage board instructed police to warn the licensees that their permits would be revoked and that they would be subject to prosecution. Since that time these places have restricted beer sales to table service.

Beginning next week the beverage board will meet only twice a week, on Monday and Thursday afternoons, Mr. West said. Yesterday the board's work was light again and total permits numbered about 1,250.

Test Case Opened.

A test case to determine the validity of the District Government in refusing to grant "off sale" licenses to drug stores not conducting lunch counters was instituted in District Supreme Court yesterday by Raymond J. Lowry, a druggist, of 300 Eleventh street southeast, who petitioned the court for an order requiring the Commissioners to appear and explain their failure to give him a license.

Mr. Lowry, through Attorney James J. Waters, pointed out that he had fully complied with the requirements when he filed out his application blank. He said that the license board refused the permit because he was in a residential neighborhood.

Justice Jennings Bailey set April 28 as the date for the Commissioners to appear and show what reasons they might have for not granting the druggist a permit.

Dickinson and Murphy Confirmed by Senate

(Associated Press.)

The nomination of John Dickinson, of Pennsylvania, to be Assistant Secretary of Commerce, was approved yesterday by the Senate.

The nomination of Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit as Governor General of the Philippine Islands, also was approved. Frank T. Bell, of Washington, also was confirmed as commissioner of fisheries.

LIBERTY LOAN ISSUE NOT TO BE REFUNDED

Chiefs Study Bill for Remonetization of Silver.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

The White House announced yesterday that no attempt would be made to refund the Fourth Liberty loan bonds, which become callable next October. The decision means that the issue will continue on the present 4¼ per cent interest basis indefinitely, or until Federal finances are in a more favorable position.

The outstanding issue of the Fourth Liberty loan aggregates $6,268,000,000. Under the law six months notice would have been required on any refunding plan. Today is the last day for such notice if the operation is to be attempted on October 15, the first call date.

Although President Roosevelt communicated no details of the Treasury's financing plans in his press conference yesterday, the abandonment of refunding project was generally interpreted as an official portend that heavy additional borrowing by the Federal Government is contemplated soon.

Efforts Will Wait.

In informed banking circles it is anticipated that no efforts will be made to reduce interest rates on United States bonds or the short-term obligations until the whole fiscal program of the administration is ready for presentation. This announcement apparently is awaiting final determination of the exact amount of the bond issues which will be necessary to finance the emergency program now before Congress.

This program includes the $500,000,000 State-aid dole, the possibility of a gigantic public works scheme and the rural and urban mortgage guarantee bills. Until all of these measures are in final form no estimate of the Government's financial needs during the next few years can be attempted.

Currency Inflation Studied.

Closely linked with the uncertainties surrounding the Federal spending program, the currency inflation program still is in a nebulous phase. President Roosevelt has expressed publicly his belief that some measure in this direction must be embraced quickly and party leaders in the House and Senate have been discussing seriously for a week or more various specific proposals for realizing direct inflation.

As yet nothing definite has been decided upon, but such influential Senate leaders as Robinson, of Arkansas, and Harirson, of Mississippi, have indicated their approval of the idea.

Only a parliamentary maneuver of the majority leaders averted a record

President Orders Hunt For Boy Who Vanished

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt yesterday directed the Department of Justice to aid in the search for the missing 13-year-old son of Mrs. Bessie Chandler, of Athens, Ga.

The President acted in response to an appeal from Mrs. Chandler sent to the White House by the Athens Banner-Herald. The boy, whose name is Norbum, has been missing since April 4.

Paris, April 14 (A.P.).—Amelia Earhart Putnam was awarded the 1932 Harmon International Aviatrix Trophy today for her flight across the Atlantic in May, 1932, the first crossing ever accomplished by a woman alone.

Other winners of the Harmon annual awards were Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, of Germany, international aviator; Prof. Auguste Piccard, international spherical balloonist, who flew into the stratosphere, and Capt. Ernst A. Lehmann, international dirigible pilot and German Zeppelin expert, who frequently navigates the Graf Zeppelin between Germany and South America.

National awards for the United States were: Aviator's Trophy to Lieut. Col. Roscoe Turner, who has done considerable coast-to-coast flying in the United States, and medals of honor to Warren D. Williams, dirigible pilot; Lieut. Comdr. Charles E. G. Rosendahl, survivor of the Shenandoah crash, and Lieut. Thomas W. C. Settle, spherical balloonist, who won the James Gordon Bennett international balloon race last year.

Amelia Earhart also was awarded the National Aviatrix Trophy for the United States.

Visitors on Easter Due to Total 75,000

Individual Reservations at Hotels Surpass Those of Previous Years.

Easter crowds in Washington this year will be the largest in several years, Curtis Hodges, executive director of the Greater National Capital committee of the Washington Board of Trade, predicted yesterday. Indications are that most of the hotels will be filled to capacity over the week-end.

The number of individual reservations already engaged at the hotels is larger than that for any corresponding period in the history of the city. Railroads have noticed a lack of parties, but say that individuals traveling into Washington this Easter far exceeds that of previous years. Practically every train coming into Washington will carry a capacity load the railway companies say. Several bus companies are putting on additional coaches.

Augustus Gumpert, of the Washington Hotel Association and the Greater National Capital committee, estimated the Easter crowds in Washington this year will pass the 75,000 mark.

60-Day Tax Moratorium Bill Voted in California

Sacramento, Calif., April 14 (A.P.).—An Assembly bill providing a 60-day tax moratorium, beginning April 20, was passed by the Senate today with a vote of 31 to 0. The bill carries an emergency clause and will become effective as soon as the governor signs it.

An agreement provides that in the chartered County and City of San Francisco, which is on a cash basis, taxpayers shall pay 50 per cent of their taxes due April 20 and 25 per cent in May and 25 per cent in June.

ROOSEVELT AWAITS M'DONALD APRIL 21

Preparations Made Ready; Accord Reached on Many Points on Agenda.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The largest meeting of world powers since the Treaty of Versailles will begin here next Friday when British Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald arrives for the first of the White House conferences between President Roosevelt and representatives of eleven nations in advance of the General Economic Conference. Fifty-three nations in all will be represented here during the conversations which will be handled by the President and Secretary of State Cordell Hull. The sole nation to be excluded from the talks is Soviet Russia.

Arrangements for the reception of the various delegates were announced yesterday by the Department of State and are already fairly complete for the British prime minister and his party, but are still in a state of preparation for the other statesmen.

The technical plans for the Anglo-American discussions proceeded when the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, flanked with his two advisers, one financial, T. K. Bewley, and the other economic, H. O. Chalkley, called at the department for their usual conference with the Secretary of State.

Harmonious agreement is reported on many of the points on the agenda, although one high official decried against any too great optimism at this point. He thus expressed the situation:

The subject of debts is still being consistently avoided by the Secretary of State and it is believed that in the last analysis the President will be the sole arbiter of any decision on this phase. The stabilization of the British pound is an economic consummation heartily hoped for by Secretary Hull as one of the best guarantees for the creation of that general stability he so ardently seeks. However, the British delegation meeting here at the Department of State has indicated that such a maneuver can not be accomplished without certain guarantees and it is on the subject of these guarantees that much of the recent talks have been based.

French Gratification.

With the details of the French acceptance, arrived yesterday a memorandum from the French foreign office. The Quai d'Orsay announced the personnel of the French mission and expressed gratification at the President's initiative. The note said:

"These preliminary conversations between representatives of the principal interested governments is a practical method to insure an efficient preparation of the conference and a step toward its success."

The French chief delegate will arrive two days after the British Prime Minister has taken up his residence at the White House. This heightened the prospect of a tripartite discussion at the White House, a conference of which the President himself in no way discouraged the possibility but only intimated that the debt talks would have to be taken in their turn in an individual bilateral discussion.

To Arrive on April 21.

Mr. MacDonald will arrive in New York on the Berengaria Friday, April 21, and will come immediately to Washington. He will be accompanied by his daughter, Miss Ishbel, and the permanent undersecretary at the foreign office, Sir Robert Vansittart. The other members of the party will include Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic advisor of the British government; Charles Howard-Smith, of the foreign office, and Michael Wright, former private secretary of British Ambassador Sir Esme Howard.

Twelve newspapermen from London will accompany the British party. The program of the prime minister includes a trip to the country, or if the British statesman prefers, a short cruise on the Sequoia down the Potomac and an informal Sunday night dinner at the White House, a luncheon with Col. Stimson and another at the Canadian Legation. He will spend one day in New York before leaving for London again on the 26th.

Six to Accompany Herriot.

M. Herriot, apostle of payment of the French debt of $19,200,000, will arrive on the Ile de France with six experts from the French foreign office. He intends to be able to leave on the same boat six days later. French Ambassador de Laboulaye is now working on the details of the French statemen's visit and exchanging confirmatory cables with the Quai d'Orsay before announcing the definitive plans for his itinerary.

M. Herriot will be accompaned by Charles Rist, Jean Jacques Bizot and Robert Coulondre, who were here on the Laval visit. M. Rist is the famous French economist, and M. Coulondre one of the bright young men of the Quai d'Orsay. Jean Paul-Boncour, nephew of the present foreign minister, has been detached from his post at Geneva to accompany the delegation as secretary.

Women Ask Congress To "Revoke" Beer Law

(Associated Press.)

Calling upon the President and Congress to "revoke" the 3.2 per cent beer law, the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement last night adjourned its three-day convention under the leadership of Mrs. Henry W. Peabody.

The last action by the convention was the adoption of a petition sent to the White House and to Congress asking that it be given "attention and immediate action." The petition was dispatched from the Lincoln Memorial to which the delegates had marched to commemorate the anniversary of his death.

Jury Disagrees; Blind Man Freed in Slaying

Oakland, Calif., April 14 (A.P.).—After 24 hours' deliberation the jury in the murder trial of Manuel Licon, blind man, charged with slaying his sightless friend, Joseph Parker, was dismissed because of failure to agree on a verdict.

Simple Language Held Vital In Laughing Off Mortgages

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

The circus catches with which the new administration began its career have been very entertaining and the citizens have been noticeably stimulated thereby. But now that the statesmen are beginning to deal again with such matters as Muscle Shoals, the gold standard and farm relief, including some scheme for laughing off mortgages, the game is entering the phase of inside stuff and is becoming a little too complex for popular undertaking. If it is desired to hold the customers in their seats, Prof. Raymond Moley had better go into a huddle somewhere and draw up a simplified set of rules.

These would have to be very simple, not to say dumb, to meet the comprehension of the average citizen because, for all that the campaign orators may tell him about his keen, intelligent countenance, the average citizen is not fond of thinking. If he can not understand this game he will become bored and say to hell with it.

It is a common mistake to regard mere worry or discontent over matters of Government as intelligent comprehension. But, inasmuch as it is plainly impossible to broaden the public comprehension to the great width of the measures involved, it might be possible to reduce the issues to a sort of Tom Thumb explanation which the citizens could understand.

I think it would be nice if someone in the Government could show just how the mortgage business is going to work out because the ordinary understanding of mortgages is quite primitive. A man hires some money, as Mr. Coolidge would have said, and when the money comes due he either pays it back or gives up his property. It is understood that he used the borrowed money in an attempt to make more money and it is also understood that if this attempt had brought him in a profit of 1,000 per cent he still would have paid back only as much as his legal owings and not any more. Inasmuch as the lender does not stand any chance of sharing in the borrower's extraordinary good luck, if any, then, naturally, it is assumed that he will not be asked to share his hard luck, either.

The citizens have not found it hard to understand beer and the indictment of Mr. Harriman is quite plain to them, also, partly because so many of them are indicted themselves, from time to time. But the Government proposition of laughing off the mortgage, or laughing down the interest will take some patient, careful elucidation, especially to citizens who own insurance policies in companies which invested their funds in mortgages. It may be quite a nice thing for the country to help people who over-borrowed to buy solid possessions in Iowa or Nebraska, but a man who borrowed $1,000 to buy an operation in Newark, N. J., may feel the same way about his debt.

Muscle Shoals have been a tremendous mystery for years and now it seems that in a land which the technocrats found too high powered for its own good more power is to be manufactured. Just what use is to be made of the power I have not been able to gather from my reading, but they could pass a law.

The point is, however, that now with beer on sale and with the boys marching off to the camps to prepare for a summer among the woods and waters and all the little furred and feathered wild things, the administration goes into the hard part. Summer is nighing, and with it baseball and golf, and after that football, and if Mr. Roosevelt is to hold his crowd he must dramatize his program and present some idea of how it works or why he happens to think it somehow might.

It should not be forgotten that the rotogravure features of the new deal are generally very much like, though in their details quite different from, those of the preceding administrations. The President will have his swimming pool, but Mr. Hoover had his medicine ball and Mr. Coolidge had old Dobbin, the iron horse. The Roosevelts have a Scottie named Agnes (or Angus), but Mr. Hoover had a sullen white mutt that used to tear hunks out of diplomats' legs and bury them in the yard. And Mr. Harding had an airedale, the first of a national plague of Laddie Boys.

The beer scenes, in which a truck dropped a case of decimal brew at the White House, was original, and Mr. Roosevelt deserved his publicity on that score, for he restored beer where Mr. Hoover, the world traveler, pretended not to know what beer was. I believe, though, that they used to have a maple syrup ceremony in Mr. Coolidge's time known as bringing in the sap, which was not a bad picture subject once a year and lent itself to coarse humor.

Ardent Democrats in all the hollows of the mountains and in all the swamps will be sending in random picture subjects from time to time, such as double-yolk eggs, dogs that bark "Sweet Adeline," blue billygoats, swallow-tailed badgers, house-broken rattlesnakes, two-headed pullets and 40-story strawberry shortcake made by the domestic science class of the East Whiffletree Junior High. The camera detail will record these and the pictures will be amusing, but no more so after the novelty is off than the invariable White House routine. For it is a national habit to send our freaks and problems to the President for his very own.

It seems almost as if the saving enabled by the dramatic economies of just the other day are now to be spent away in other directions. Something which I think the boys ought to explain in dumb, simple language just about now, or anyway pretty soon, is by what method of arithmetic you save a billion and spend a billion on new business and show a saving in the end.

RAIL COMPETITION'S END SEEN BY RAINEY

Tells Freight Association First Step Will Come at This Session.

Declaring that the time is approaching when destructive competition between different kinds of freight carriers will be eliminated, Speaker Henry T. Rainey of the House of Representatives, in an address before the annual convention of the American Highway Freight Association, yesterday predicted that "the first step will probably be taken on that before the end of this session, and that will be the elimination of railroad competition, the elimination of parallel tracks serving the same section."

"The next step," he continued, "will be to invite railroads and trucks and buses under the kind of control which enables both systems of transportation to keep their places in the sun, to reach proper methods of doing business and to reach that without destructive competition and without legislation that destroys either system."

In his annual address, President J. K. Keeshin, of Chicago, also predicted that the time is close at hand when the different kinds of freight carriers will meet on equal ground.

Mr. Keeshin was reelected president of the association at the annual election.

John A. Bingaman, West Reading, Pa., was named first vice president; H. C. Mims, Greenville, S. C., second vice president; E. J. Buhner, Louisville, Ky., third vice president; W. E. Humphries, Washington, D. C., treasurer, and E. J. Arbour, Hartford, Conn. secretary.

(Associated Press.)

The first official ratification of the proposed prohibition repeal amendment was received at the State Department yesterday from the State of Michigan. It marked the first time in history that a ratification of a constitutional amendment by a State convention had been filed.

RAIL COORDINATOR BILL NEAR CAPITOL

President Will Ask Law to Provide Emergency Relief for Roads.

A Federal coordinator of railroads, their traffic and their new construction will be provided for in a bill to be sent to Congress by President Roosevelt about the first of next week, it was learned yesterday at the White House.

Such a bill will take care of the railroad problem temporarily, the President hopes, while a permanent plan is being drawn up for presentation next January. The temporary plan will start to take care of the railroads financially and also will give the administration experience which will be valuable in setting up the permanent scheme.

Four plans looking to the relief of railroads were presented to the President during several weeks of consideration, and three of them provided for a coordinator. The fourth plan proposed a first-magnitude consolidation of the roads, but never met with any great support, it was reported. The three coordinator plans differed in detail, and a compromise between them was worked out in a series of conferences.

C. & O. Asks Authority To Absorb Coal Lines

(Associated Press.)

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. yesterday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to permit it to incorporate in its system seven small coal-handling roads, of which it already owns the stock and bonds.

The total mileage is only 140, but most of the lines are important feeders from coal mines in the Kentucky and West Virginia mountains.

Rail Branch Abandonment Granted.

Ancient Good Friday Rite Is Performed Before Pope

Vatican City, April 14 (U.P.).—Pope Pius XI resumed an ancient and impressive rite of the Roman Catholic Church today in leading the Catholic world in religious ceremonies.

The pontiff attended the solemn function of Good Friday, restoring a ceremony discontinued in 1870. He attended "the mass of the presanctified," the singing of the Passion and of the "Tenebrae," in the Sistine Chapel.

Cardinals in their rich robes attended him, together with numerous bishops, archbishops and members of the papal court. Other dignitaries present included Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, of Germany, Premier Engelbert Dollfuss, of Austria, Princess Stefania, of Belgium, and other members of the royalty of Italy and other Catholic nations.

The sacred ceremony began with a procession from the papal apartments. The Pope was carried on the sedia gestatoria into the Sistine Chapel and the ceremony began with all the solemnity which characterizes the sacred functions of the Roman Catholic Church on Good Friday in every part of the world.

The singing of the "Tenebrae" was participated in by the Sistine choir, led by Mons. Antonio Rella, director of the papal school of singing.

ROOSEVELT SHOALS PLAN IS DENOUNCED

(Associated Press.)

Fertilizer and power interests yesterday joined in a reiterated demand that Congress take out of the Roosevelt Tennessee Valley plan all provisions implying possible Government competition with their industries.

Spokesmen for each told the House Military Committee their industries were expanded far beyond present consumption levels and that only with the aid of a subsidy from the Treasury could the Government compete at Muscle Shoals.

"Don't scrap a private industry," urged Charles J. Brand, secretary of the National Fertilizer Association. "If you are going to put the Government into competition with us, buy existing plants."

W. L. Willkie, president of the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, said six Southern companies of the group had outstanding senior securities of $400,000,000.

"I give as my deliberate judgment that if this plan is carried out the value of these securities eventually will be destroyed," Willkie testified.

Today the other side of the power argument will be presented by Judson King, director of the National Popular Government League. Before nightfall, Chairman McSwain said he hoped to conclude hearings on the administration's vast Tennessee Basin project.

A brief plea for including the Cumberland River Valley of Kentucky within the scope of the development was made by Representative Brown (Democrat), Kentucky.

Train Quits Rails And Catches Fire

Several Hoboes Reported Unable to Escape From Debris.

Monroe, La., April 14 (U.P.).—A fast Missouri Pacific freight train was derailed 5 miles south of Monroe tonight and immediately caught fire. Persons at the scene of the wreck said it was probable that several hoboes may have burned to death.

An unidentified white man emerged cut and bleeding from the wreckage and said the car from which he escaped was "full of men" and that they were unable to escape.

Twenty-five loaded freight cars were destroyed with a loss of cargo estimated at $37,500. The wreckage became a blazing inferno as the fire spread to 12 tank cars filled with gasoline.

NEW BOARD NAMED TO FIX LIVING COST

The committee which will seek a new method of compiling the "cost of living" figures, basis of changes in the Federal pay rate, has been appointed and hopes to have a report before the rate is fixed again on July 1, Secretary of Labor Perkins said yesterday.

This year's economy act gives the President power to raise or lower the pay of Government workers according to the cost of living, as shown by the reports of the Labor Department. As a result of criticism, the basis on which the reports are compiled will be studied by a special committee appointed by the American Statistical Association.

Among those on the committee are Bryce M. Stewart, president of the American Statistical Association; Morris A. Copeland of the University of Michigan; J. Frederic Dewhurst of the American Wire and Steel Institute; Meredith Givens of the Social Science Research committee; Ralph G. Hurlin of the Russell Sage Foundation; Miss Aryness Joy of the Research and Statistical division of the Federal Reserve Board; Howard B. Myers of Chicago University, and Sidney W. Wilcox of the New York Department of Labor.

Another phase of the work to be done is a study of the commodity price index. Hearings may be held on suggestions to change the method of determining this index.

Jackson's Servant Seeking Job Here

(Associated Press.)

"Uncle Joe" Ford, tall 82-year-old Negro, who says he was the slave of Gen. Stonewall Jackson in the Civil War, was brought to town yesterday by Representative Sadowski (Democrat), Michigan, in an effort to get him a job in the House.

"Uncle Joe" has been in charge of the Michigan State Senate cloakroom for 52 years. Sadowski was the only Democrat in the Michigan Senate until last year.

"Yas, suh," Ford told Speaker Rainey, with a big smile, "I was Gen. Jackson's servant, and held his horse when he mounted for the Battle of the Wilderness. I was born in slavery near Fredericksburg, Va., and was owned by the Frank Allsops family.

Action on the St. Lawrence seaway treaty ratification, accompanied by legislation to give definite Federal recognition to New York State's power claims, was reported at the White House yesterday to have been put on the calendar of the present session of Congress.

The treaty between the United States and Canada, providing joint development of a seaway in the international section of the St. Lawrence, was signed in July, 1932. The treaty, sent to the Senate for ratification recently, was reported favorably by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

MUNITION EMBARGO SCORED AND UPHELD

(Associated Press.)

Prophecies of war and internal dissension mingled yesterday with bitter words charging personal interest and concealment of facts as the House prepared to wind up debate on the resolution that would empower the President to stop the shipment of munitions to fighting nations.

Despite what appeared to be growing opposition, Democratic leaders predicted the resolution would be passed on the roll call vote set for Monday.

They relied for safety on the huge Democratic majority, and in order to keep that in line, Chairman McReynolds, of the Foreign Affairs Committee, read on the floor a letter from Secretary Hull saying the legislation would "strengthen the position of this Government in its international relations."

The opposition, led by Representative Fish (Republican), New York, centered on the Republican side, but it found some Democrats swinging away as numerous minority speakers sailed into the measure.

McFadden (Republican), Pennsylvania, who was cast out of party councils because of his opposition to President Hoover's foreign policy, was in agreement with many Republicans on the embargo resolution. The Pennsylvanian insisted the embargo plan "is of British origin" and predicted that 30 days after it is enacted "we will witness a declaration of war against the United States by Japan."

To this, Bloom (Democrat), New York, replied "tommyrot," adding that the State Department did not have in mind Japan or any other nation.

Representative Wadsworth (Republican), New York, former senator, declared he foresaw domestic difficulties should the President decide a foreign nation was an aggressor and invoke an embargo against it.

Speaking before the Cosmopolitan Club at the Carlton Thursday, Representative Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, paid high tribute to President Roosevelt as a "man whose heart is with the American people, regardless of politics" and who "is striving, by direct action, to better conditions in the United States as fast as possible." Mr. Randolph was introduced by Gordon W. Bonnette, member of the forum committee.

The speaker cited conditions and the need for every American to work with every other American to better them. He warned against inroads of Communism and recalled speeches made by Foster, in which the churches, schools and home ties of the Nation were denounced.

John Collier Is Favored As Indian Bureau Head

(Associated Press.)

John Collier, secretary of the American Indian Defense Association, was understood in Senate sources yesterday to be the choice of Secretary Ickes and President Roosevelt for Indian Commissioner, but his nomination was being held up for the time being.

Delay was attributed in some quarters to a desire of the administration to pacify Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, who supported E. B. Merrit, of Fayetteville, Ark., assistant Indian Commissioner for sixteen years.

Kidnaping Charged to Man Too Shy to Ask for a Date

Two Artist's Models Say They Were Bound and Gagged, Abductor, Meanwhile, Sitting in Corner of Home and Reading Book.

White Plains, N. Y., April 14 (A.P.).—Four indictments charging kidnaping and assault were returned today by a Westchester County grand jury against George Cooper, jr., 25, of New Rochelle, who last month was alleged to have lured two artist's models to his home because he was "too shy to ask for a date."

Two indictments charge kidnaping and two charge assault. The models, Mrs. Louise Groothoff and Mary Louise Harper, were engaged through an employment agency in Manhattan and went by train to Mount Vernon, where Cooper met them and drove to his home.

Arriving there, the girls charged that he bound and gagged them, carried them to the attic and kept them there four hours, meanwhile sitting in a corner reading a book. Later he untied them, they said, and drove them to Manhattan in his car.

Cooper said today that after he untied the girls all three sat and talked for a while and ate chocolates. He said he was surprised that they had brought the charges against him, as they were "perfectly friendly on the way to New York."

Cooper said he asked them how much money they received for posing, and when told $7 an hour, he remarked he owed them $70, but did not have that much. He said that when they reached Manhattan he gave them his pocketbook containing $34, that one of them took $20 and the other $14.

At the time of his arrest, Cooper, who had used the name of an artist in applying for models, said he had acted as he did because he "was too shy to ask a girl for a date."

LONG URGES CHANGE IN RULES OF SENATE

(Associated Press.)

A proposed change in the Senate rules governing receipt of petitions assailing the reputation of its members was under formation last night by Senator Long (Democrat), Louisiana, after he had branded on the floor as "claptrap" the charges by a group of Louisianans, who petitioned the Senate Thursday to remove him.

The rule amendment probably will be submitted Monday to the Judiciary Committee, to which the Senate yesterday referred the anti-Long petition for study as to whether it or similar ones in the future should be treated as privileged matter and thus made available for publication.

The Louisiana petition, signed by former Gov. John M. Parker and a score of others, was addressed to Vice President Garner and referred by him to the Elections Committee. It thus became public property.

Long said in his speech in the Senate yesterday that a study of the authorities had convinced him such petitions were privileged and newspapers could not be blamed for printing their contents, but suggested the Senate should determine the question.

"I think that is a proper suggestion," said Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, who moved the petition be taken from the Elections Committee and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Robinson said Long had raised the question whether the Senate had a right to "receive such a petition."

"I think it is important," Long said, "that the Senate should determine whether or not documents of this character sent here, are privileged. If they are, we should amend our rules. If they are not, then we should take such action as is appropriate."

Chairman Ashurst, of the Judiciary Committee, disagreed with Long's contention that the petition was privileged, but added:

"If in the Senate—and I apply this admonition to myself—we were more careful respecting the tender subject of human character and the reputation of other persons who can not answer here we would have more sympathy extended to us when we find ourselves the objects of calumny, as we all do now and then."

Bandits Wound 4 As Robbery Fails

Huron, S. Dak., April 14 (A.P.).—Search was under way in central South Dakota today for three gunmen who shot their way to freedom yesterday, wounding four persons, after failing in an attempt to hold up the Security National Bank.

They were last seen about 10 miles northwest of here. They were reported to have slugged Mrs. Albert Houska, a farm woman, and commandeered her car after abandoning another machine, which had been disabled by a bullet.

None of the four persons wounded was seriously hurt. A woman and a baby were cut by flying glass and two men were nicked by bullets during the exchange of shots between Lowell Greene, bank teller, and the gunmen. The robbers fled without loot when Greene opened fire.

Beer in Louisiana Draws Neighbors

Return Welcomed, Bringing Visitors From Four Nearby States.

New Orleans, April 14 (A.P.).—Beer with a potent kick was served in Louisiana today and drew customers from four neighboring States by train and automobile.

New Orleans, the oasis of the deep South, sped beer supplies by truck, railroad and airplane to the principal cities in the State where the thirsty clustered about legally authorized beer establishments. New Orleans' beer predominated over the State, although St. Louis and Milwaukee brew competed by express car and plane.

Bank Statement Thief Sentenced for Forgery

Philadelphia, April 14 (A.P.).—Frank A. Weatherby, 30, who said his home is in Baltimore, has been sentenced to three to twenty years in prison on a charge of forgery.

Police said he stole monthly bank statements from mail boxes to get copies of depositors' signatures and to learn what were their balances.

Medalie Stops Blocking Vacating of Padlocks

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—George Z. Medalie, United States attorney here, said today he had received word from Washington not to oppose decrees to vacate padlock and injunction proceedings in cases where beverages of less than 3.2 per cent alcohol were involved.

He made no estimate of the number of such cases.

INVESTOR DEFEATED IN RECOVERY ACTION

Schaeffer Said New York Company Misled Him on Stock Prospects.

After a trial lasting three weeks, a jury in the court of Justice Oscar R. Luhring in the District Supreme Court yesterday returned a verdict in favor of the New York Title & Mortgage Co., which had been sued by John Schaeffer because of a stock transaction.

Mr. Schaeffer purchased $3,000 of the capital stock of the Capital Title & Guarantee Co., of which John Paul Earnest was president. He claimed that he purchased this stock upon misrepresentations made to him by a salesman of the Capital company and he introduced a letter written by an official of the New York company in which statements were made about the prospects of the local company.

On the basis of this letter, the New York company was made codefendant in an original suit, but Justice Joseph W. Cox granted the New York company a separate trial. Attorney George P. Hoover and the law firm of Marsh & Rogers claimed that the New York firm had no interest in the sale of stock by Mr. Earnest's company and had not profited by such sales. The jury held in effect that the New York company had acted in good faith and had not been instrumental in the sale of the stock to Mr. Schaeffer.

Railroad and Pipe Line Oil Bill Is Introduced

(Associated Press.)

Designed to curb the flow of petroleum from the big east Texas field and other large production areas, a bill was introduced yesterday by Representative Marland (Democrat), Oklahoma, to prohibit railroads and pipe lines from carrying oil in interstate commerce in violation of State laws or regulations.

Mr. Marland, a former producer and refiner, said the measure was drawn in accordance with the administration's petroleum conservation policy. It was proposed, he said, to meet the anticipated emergency on April 21, when certain restrictions on production are to be lifted in Texas.

PSYCHIATRIST FINDS RUTH JUDD CHANGED

Dr. Catton Examines Tigress as Sanity Hearing Begins to Cheat Gallows.

Florence, Ariz., April 14 (A.P.).—a San Francisco psychiatrist invited here by the State reported today "a very definite change" in the mental condition of Winnie Ruth Judd as a sanity hearing began to determine whether the blonde "trunk murderess" must die on the gallows a week hence.

Dr. Joseph Catton, expert witness for the prosecution who testified at the murder trial more than a year ago that Mrs. Judd was sane, made the statement today after a 20-minute interview with the condemned woman.

He said, however, further observations would be necessary before he could reach definite conclusions concerning the present mental condition of Mrs. Judd.

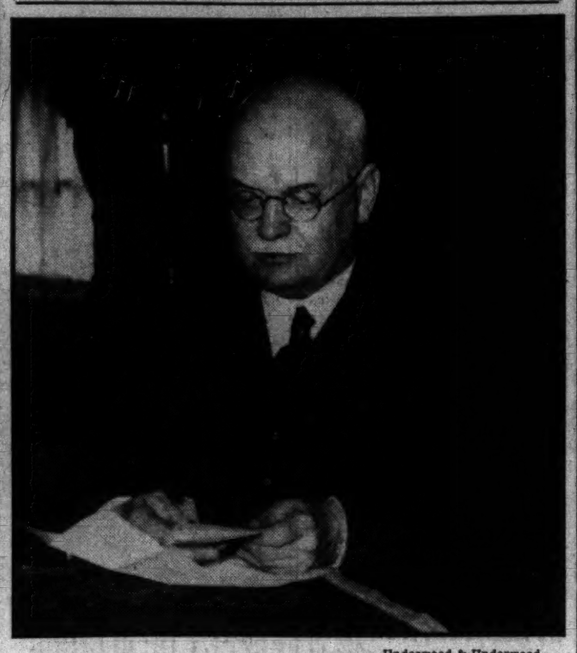
The psychiatrist said he had been asked by the State to examine the prisoner, but came here as a "disinterested witness."

After his conference with Mrs. Judd, Dr. Catton withdrew in favor of Dr. Paul Bowers, of Los Angeles, who also was a State witness at Mrs. Judd's trial and at that time declared her sane. Dr. Bowers said his six-minute interview with Mrs. Judd was without result.

The psychiatrists interviewed Mrs. Judd during a recess in the sanity hearing which got under way this morning in Pinal County court, with indications that the selection of a jury of twelve men would require considerable time.

As the tedious process of examining veniremen proceeded, the slender blonde woman convicted of the murder of Agnes Anne Leroi, one of two women friends she confessed shooting to death at Phoenix, muttered and fidgeted.

GERMAN ENVOY ARRIVES



Underwood & Underwood.

Dr. Hans Luther, former chancellor of Germany, arrived yesterday in Washington to assume his duties as Ambassador to the United States, succeeding Frederick Wilhelm von Prittwitz, who resigned because of difference in policy with the home office in Berlin. Dr. Luther is shown reading a letter shortly after his arrival at his apartment in the Mayflower Hotel. He declined to make any statement about subjects he will discuss with President Roosevelt until his credentials have been presented. He probably will call on Secretary Hull today, preparatory to being presented at the White House next week.

FALSE REPORT LED TO BLIMP'S SEARCH

40 Survivors of Akron Were Believed Clinging to Hull, Inquiry Court Told.

Lakehurst, N. J., April 14 (A.P.).—Officers of the Naval Air Station told the court of inquiry today they were ready to sacrifice the blimp J-3 if necessary to rescue 40 survivors of the Akron who, they heard, were clinging to her floating hull at sea.

The session of the inquiry today was devoted to an investigation of the blimp's loss with the death of two men during the search the day after the Akron's crash.

A false report as to the 40 survivors, the court heard, led to a decision to send out the nonrigid ship in the face of weather that was "unfavorable" but that did not make her operation "impossible."

Lieut. Comdr. Jesse L. Kenworthy, jr., acting commandant of the station, had himself designated an interested party because it was on his authority that the blimp went aloft.

Kenworthy told the court that in his opinion circumstances other than the unfavorable weather caused the blimp's destruction. The ship's five survivors subsequently testified that the port engine was moving in its outrigger mount because the plate holding it to the supporting struts had sheared completely across. This was discovered en route back from the futile sea search, and the blimp, facing the danger of having the motor drop into the sea, limped back to the coast for an emergency landing, that ended disastrously.

The blimp investigation was virtually completed when court adjourned until tomorrow morning. A brief session with one witness is scheduled for tomorrow, when the court will adjourn to the Washington (D. C.) Navy Yard, where the inquiry will be resumed at the call of the court president, Rear Admiral H. V. Butler, probably next Tuesday.

GERMANY PROTESTS ENGLISH CRITICISM

Ambassador Ordered to File Objection After Cabinet Keeps Phones Busy.

Berlin, April 14 (A.P.).—Criticism of Germany yesterday in the British House of Commons so aroused the ire of the German government that Ambassador Leopold von Hoesch was ordered today to protest to Great Britain.

The long-distance wires were kept busy when the decision was being made that the ambassador must protest in the name not only of the foreign office but of the entire government of the Reich. The telephone had to be used because many members of the cabinet are not in Berlin.

Chancellor Adolf Hitler and Joseph Goebbels are taking a vacation in Bavaria. Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath is in Wurttemberg. Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen and Hermann Goering are in Rome. Dr. Alfred Hugenberg is in Hanover, and several othes members of the cabinet are out of the capital.

The ministers were described as painfully surprised because Sir John Simon, as Britain's foreign minister, did not object to the criticism of Germany voiced by members of the House.

"Just imagine that any member of the Reichstag raised the Irish issue on the floor—don't you suppose the German foreign minister would have called him down?" a government spokesman said.

In the House of Commons Sir Austen Chamberlain, former chancellor of the exchequer, asserted that this is no time for revision of the Treaty of Versailles because of the present state of mind in Germany.

"This new spirit of German Nationalism," Sir Austen said, "is the old Prussianism with an added savagery of racial pride and exclusiveness."

RELEASED MADMAN SLAYS 3 IN FAMILY

Shoots Wife and 2 Children Dead, Wounds Another and Kills Himself.

South River, N. J., April 14 (A.P.) Joseph Kensek, 50, whose wife had barred him from home since his release from the State Insane Hospital seven months ago, crept up to the house with a revolver before dawn today, wired the doors shut, slew his wife and two children, seriously wounded another and swallowed poison.

Then he crawled out the window through which he had broken in, staggered to a garbage dump 200 yards away and died.

Those killed by his bullets were Mrs. Amelia Kensek, 48; Frank, 18, and Anna, 20. Sixteen-year-old Rose was wounded and three smaller children, who cowered beneath a bed, were overlooked.

The police were called by Rose, who had managed, despite two bullets in her back, to crawl to a neighbor's home. They took her to a hospital at New Brunswick and pieced the story together from what she told them.

BANKS' REOPENINGS REACH HIGH LEVEL

Less Than Fourth of Federal Reserve and Under Half of State Stay Shut.

New York, April 14.—Surveys of the banking situation throughout the Nation tonight showed that far more than three-quarters of the Federal Reserve member banks and well over half the State banks are open and doing business on an unrestricted basis.

Before the bank holiday there were 6,736 Federal Reserve member institutions in operation in the twelve districts.

Today 5,443 were open without restrictions, 680 were open with restrictions, and 543 had not yet been licensed.

There were 11,436 State banks doing business before the holiday in the forty-seven States for which figures are now available.

Today, in those 47 States, 7,654 of these banks were open without restrictions, 3,012 were open with restrictions, and the remainder were either not yet licensed or were closed for reorganization or liquidation.

In some States and Federal Reserve Districts comparative figures were available which showed that only a very small percentage of the deposits in banks before the holiday are not now available to the public without restriction.

In the New York Federal Reserve District, for example, 153 of the 828 member banks are either under restrictions or closed, yet the 675 member banks open without restrictions had at the first of the year about 97 per cent of the deposits in all member banks in the district.

In the Chicago Federal Reserve District it was estimated that of the funds now in member banks, 73 per cent are unrestricted, 24 per cent are in banks which are in the hands of conservators, and 3 per cent in banks on which no action has been taken.

Dr. J. G. Porter, Astronomer, Dead

Stellar Motion Authority Had Written 20 Books on This Subject.

Cincinnati, April 14 (A.P.).—Dr. Jermaine G. Porter, 81, noted astronomer and authority on stellar motion, died of heart disease here today.

Born in Buffalo, N. Y., January 8, 1852, he studied at Hamilton College, the University of Berlin and the Royal Observatory in London, England. He was a member of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey from 1878 to 1884, became director of the Cincinnati Observatory in 1884 and was an observer of the International Latitude Service from 1899 to 1905.

A student of the motion of the stars, he wrote more than 20 books upon that subject, among them exhaustive catalogues of the stars and their movements, and for his work was awarded in 1894 the Comet Prize of the Astronomical Journal.

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—The order issued last February by William N. Doak, as Secretary of Labor, that all immigrants be fingerprinted upon their arrival here was rescinded today. The order was to have taken effect May 1.

Archduke Sought As Tipsy Motorist

Leopold Hapsburg Fails to Answer Court Call So Arrest Is Ordered.

Boston, April 14 (A.P.).—Archduke Leopold of Hapsburg was ordered defaulted in district court today when he failed to appear to answer a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

His attorney told the court the archduke was in New York and could not appear. The judge ordered his arrest on a warrant.

Leopold was arrested the morning after 3.2 per cent beer became legal in Massachusetts. Officers who chased his automobile claimed he told them he had been drinking only the new beer. He gave personal bail and was released. He has been living at Marblehead.

Name of '3.2' Is Given To Pet Spotted Whale

San Diego, April 14 (A.P.).—Sailors had a pet in the bay today. They thought they were seeing things when the monster first appeared and called it "3.2" in honor of the new beer.

A seasoned salt with Alaskan experience identified "3.2" as an Arctic spotted whale, the first ever sighted this far south.

Chicago Police Suspend Alleged Nitti Attacker

Chicago, April 14 (A.P.).—The suspension of a second member of the late Mayor Anton Cermak's "hoodlum squad" was ordered by Police Commissioner James P. Allman today as a result of the shooting of Frank Nitti, "public enemy" and one time "enforcer" for the Capone gang.

Allman announced that Detective Sergt. Harry Miller had been suspended upon request of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney. Detective Sergt. Harry A. Lang already is under suspension and free on bond pending trial on charges of perjury and assault with intent to kill as a result of a raid in which Nitti was shot three times and Lang was wounded in the arm.

vote on a direct inflation proposal in the Senate yesterday. The clear inference was that no decision would be made on Capitol Hill until the specific measure agreed upon has been formally indorsed by the President.

Silver and Gold Dollar.

Among the measures now being seriously considered are those to remonetize silver, ne to revalue the gold dollar, and another to issue paper currency directly against the projected $2,000,000,000 worth of farm mortgage bonds.

Other proposals contemplate an experiment with "controlled inflation" through the Federal Reserve system, but these measures have encountered vigorous opposition in the financial community, as well as within the Federal Reserve Board.

Influential leaders in the Senate expressed opinion yesterday that if President Roosevelt delays his decision on the particular inflationary plan he desires, Congress will select its own method.

Is Felt Too Slow.

Congressional advocates of a direct printing press plan take the view that the sort of inflation contemplated in the public works bill would be too slow. Months would pass before the preliminary work could be handled and construction contracts actually awarded.

The inflationists demand something which will skyrocket prices instantly. Many of this group appear highly confident they can enlist President Roosevelt's support for some plan of this sort.

Mona Fox Becomes Wife Of Diamond Merchant

Miami Beach, Fla., April 14 (A.P.). Mona Fox, daughter of William Fox, theatrical magnate, was married here today to Joseph Riskin, New York diamond merchant. The ceremony was at the winter home of the bride's father, William Fox, at 4 p. m. Rabbi Jacob Kaplan officiated.

In applying for a marrige license yesterday, Miss Fox gave her age as 30. Riskin listed his at 45 and Russia as his birthplace. Mr. and Mrs. Riskin will make their home in New York after a short stay here.

Western "Mud-Fall" Laid to Sandstorms

Miami, Okla., April 14 (A.P.).—Sandstorms over western Oklahoma and Kansas were blamed for a freak "mud-fall" here today.

Diplomatic Offer Refused by Curley

Mayor Feels He Is Needed at Home More Than in Poland.

(Associated Press.)

Major James M. Curley of Boston, yesterday rejected the ambassadorship to Poland because, he said, he felt he was needed more at home.

In a brief conference with President Roosevelt he said he was unwilling to leave his post as mayor of Boston "until such time as conditions materially improve" and asked that his nomination be withdrawn. The President took pains to make known his regret that Curley was unable to accept, but there was no doubt last night that he would do other than withdraw the nomination.

Curley denied vigorously reports current here and in Massachusetts that he was dissatisfied with the appointment, and in a statement issued as he left the White House said it was "an honor for which I shall be eternally grateful."

tion provides employment but nothing more.

As examples of such double effect programs, she pointed to construction of water and sewage systems and the establishment of phone and electric light lines in rural areas, as well as slum improvement. All these projects would be self-liquidating. Water and sewage systems would provide bathrooms for the 60 per cent of town dwellers who have no bathrooms. Phone and light lines would provide these facilities for areas where the first cost of establishing the line is too great for the individual user to bear.

Miss Perkins said that a two or three billion public works program could be put into operation within a few months. Such a program to total six billion might be necessary later, but would take some time to work out. The immediate program includes not only Federal projects but also those of States and cities, and possibly some individual low-cost homes plans.

Commenting on the need for minimum wage laws, Miss Perkins declared that such legislation was of prime importance in the emergency. Lower wages decrease purchasing power, one of the reasons for continuance of the depression, it was pointed out. Recent laws fixing the bottom levels for salaries in Utah and New York were applauded, even though they apply only to women. She also pointed out as significant that the Governor of Massachusetts, a great industrial State, had called on President Roosevelt to request some minimum wage statute.

It was also revealed yesterday that any fears of lack of cooperation between the Federation of Labor and the Department of Labor were unfounded, when President William Green, of the federation, said that his opposition to the appointment of Miss Perkins was "a closed incident." Asked if his opinion of her had changed since her appointment, he said that all differences between them were purely impersonal, and that he had never discounted her ability or sincerity. He added that their views on labor questions since she assumed office had been largely the same.

PLOT FOR WRECKING SOVIET IS CHARGED

Russian Accuses British Engineer of Bribery to Cripple Plant.

Moscow, April 14 (A.P.).—A Russian witness charged tonight that L. C. Thornton, British engineer, organized a plot which, in case of war, would have paralyzed the large Moscow electric station serving the Kremlin, important factories and powerful wireless stations.

This accusation was made by L. A. Sukoruchkin, who was manager of the Moscow station and is now one of the Russians facing trials with six British engineers on charges of sabotage and espionage.

Denies Knowing Accuser.

Thornton promptly denied the charge, declaring to the court that never had he so much as talked to Sukoruchkin.

In his confession the Russian plant manager asserted that he had sabotaged machinery and had concealed defects in equipment. He did so, he declared, on orders Thornton had given him in December, 1932, and he assured the court that he and Thornton had planned to disable the station completely in the event of war.

25,000 Rubles Bribe.

For his work, Sukoruchkin said, Thornton paid him 25,000 paper rubles and 350 gold rubles. (Translation of these sums into American money is difficult as there is no official quotation. The value of the old gold ruble was about 51½ cents.)

In reply to the charges Thornton declared that although Metropolitan-Vickers machinery was used in the plant and he visited it occasionally in the course of his work, he never talked to Sukoruchkin and gave him no money.

Today's session of the court was occupied for the most part by direct accusations of bribery made by Russian witnesses, who asserted they had been hired to damage and interefere with the operation of electrical equipment supplied by the Metropolitan-Vickers Co., for which the six British engineers worked.

New York Broker Plunges to Death

Man Cuts Throat Before Leaping From Window of Brooklyn Hotel.

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—William Busk, 35, slashed his throat with a razor today and jumped from the window of his fifth-floor room at the Hotel St. George, Brooklyn. He was dead when an ambulance arrived.

"I am going to commit suicide," a note addressed to his estranged wife, Esther, read. "If I get a sentence in court tomorrow I will do it on the way there."

A relative at the home of his wife, living in Brooklyn, said Busk was a graduate of the United States Naval Academy and served in the Navy until ten years ago, when he resigned to enter the brokerage business. This relative said she knew of no court action.

North Carolina Urged To Enter Power Field

Raleigh, N. C., April 14 (A.P.).—A proposal to place the State of North Carolina in the hydroelectric power business was made in the Senate today by Senators Burgin, of Davidson, and Blackstock, of Buncombe.

They introduced a bill to create a State hydroelectric commission of five members, who would be empowered to issue bonds and buy lands by condemnation or other proceedings for the establishment of State-owned power plants.

Vintners Await Right To Move Stock of Wine

San Francisco, April 14 (A.P.).—William H. Woods, jr., supervisor here for the United States Bureau of Industrial Alcohol, said today California vintners and bottlers were holding in abeyance their plans for manufacture of 3.2 per cent "wine" as permitted in the new beer act, pending authority from Washington to permit them to move natural strength wine from wineries to bottling works.

The supervisor said he believed some attempt would be made to produce a 3.2 per cent alcohol beverage of fruit juices as soon as authority was received for the movement.

Gov. Olson Denies He 'Plays Politics'

Replies to Senator Rockne in Wisconsin Battle Over Relief.

St. Paul, April 14 (A.P.).—Denial he was playing politics, as charged in the State Senate, came today from Gov. Floyd B. Olson as another shot in his conflict with the Legislature over relief measures.

He told Senator A. J. Rockne in a letter he "would regret very much to have you believe that there is any political motive in my endeavor to secure means for protecting the distressed."

Thanking the legislators for cooperating in passing certain relief bills, he reiterated that present statutes were insufficient to meet the situation. Senator Rockne, Republican, arose to a point of personal privilege yesterday to say the State farmer-labor administration headed by Olson was "playing politics to mislead the people."

Retiring Envoy Reports On Liberian Differences

(Associated Press.)

Charles E. Mitchell, of West Virginia, retiring Minister to Liberia, visited the State Department yesterday and will remain in Washington for several days making a report on the differences between the American and Liberian governments over Liberian legislation which altered the conditions governing an American loan to Liberia without consent of the lenders.

Mitchell refused to make any prediction as to the outcome of negotiations which Judge Advocate General Blanton Winship, of the Army, is conducting in Liberia as a special representative of the President.

Chicago Pays Teachers Today, 10 Months Late

Chicago, April 15 (A.P.).—Chicago's 14,000 school teachers and other school employes will receive pay checks tomorrow for their services last June, ten months late.

Announcement of the pay day was made today by Orville J. Taylor, president of the school board. It was made possible, he said, by the election of Edward J. Kelly as mayor yesterday. Previously, since the assassination of Anton J. Cermak in Miami several weeks ago, there was no one with authority to sign city tax warrants acceptable to bankers from whom the necessary $1,700,000 was borrowed.

Vasco Consents to Operation

Father of Girl Held Doomed Unless Knife Is Used on Eye Tumor; Abandons Objections, But Mother Remains Obdurate.

Hastings, N. Y., April 14 (A.P.).—The family of John Vasco was torn today between a father's sense of duty and a mother's love for her little daughter.

Through it all 2-year-old Helen Vasco played with her dolls, unaware of the strife she has caused since doctors found her inflicted with a tumor on her left eye which, they say, will cause her death unless it is removed.

Relenting at last to pleas of physicians that the operation on her eye be performed, John Vasco, the father, said he was willing that it be done; but the mother remained obdurate. She still believed the doctors were wrong and her "baby" would be all right without the aid of a surgeon's knife.

In the meantime the appellate division of the supreme court was considering an appeal against an order of the Westchester children's court authorizing the operation. Although the court was in recess until May 1, its decision was expected shortly, in deference to the request of Judge George W. Smyth, of the children's court, so that the operation might be delayed if the higher court so orders.

Vasco, a recent immigrant, removed the barricade to his home which he and his wife had erected to prevent authorities and physicians from seeing their children—Helen and her twin sister, Anna. Anna had contracted a sudden fever, and when a doctor and a policeman sought to see the child they found the Vasco home barred to them. Today Anna was said to have recovered.

TEACHERS INSPECT BUSINESS DEVICES

Commercial Instructors, in Session Here, Visit Roosevelt High.

The entire gamut of business training from penmanship to the latest types of adding and writing machines were surveyed yesterday by the 1,500 members of the Eastern Commercial Teachers Association in convention at Wardman Park Hotel.

The heads of business schools, their techers and business teachers from high schools from half the States divided the day between attending sectional meetings and seeing a demonstration of the most up-to-date business classroom equipment in operation at Roosevelt High School.

The demonstrations include the layout and equipment of typewriting classrooms and bookkeeping and practice classrooms. Charles E. Cook was chairman of the typewriting demonstration, Miss Frances Newman of the beokkeeping and Miss Claire L. Sweeney of the practice.

Salesmanship Outlined.

Methods of teaching and training salesmen have changed with the advent of high pressure methods, Bernard Shilt declared at one of the sectional meetings. Modern devices of teaching salesmanship include motion pictures, still films, glass slides, outside speakers and advertisements, he showed.

The system of business training used at Girard College, Philadelphia, was described by Ralph W. March. The students are divided into two groups, one elects the stenographic course and the other the clerical bookkeeping, he showed.

Dr. Walsh to Speak.

Clyde B. Edgeworth, supervisor of commercial education in Baltimore public schools, gave an address on the prevocational junior commercial service program.

The delegates will go on a sightseeing tour this afternoon and a banquet will be held tonight.

The Rev. Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, regent of the School of Foreign Service, of Georgetown University, will address the business pedagogues this morning on "Capitalism at the Crossroads." A business meeting, at which new officers will be elected, will precede the address.

2-CENT LOCAL RATE OF POSTAGE IS NEAR

President's Plan Likely to Be Combined With Retention of Gas Tax.

(Associated Press.)

Speedy action toward restoring the 2-cent charge on local mail, and at the same time handing to President Roosevelt widespread power over postal rates generally, yesterday was agreed upon at a White House conference.

Preparation of legislation for introduction in the House early next week was begun immediately after House leaders and Postoffice Department officials departed from their conference with the Chief Executive.

The measure probably will be combined with the proposed bill to continue the 1-cent per gallon Federal gasoline tax for another year. Indications pointed to quick passage.

Those conferring at the White House included Postmaster General Farley, Joseph C. O'Mahoney, First Assistant Postmaster General; Chairman Mead, of the House Postoffice Committee; Chairman Doughton, of the Ways and Means Committee; Representative Rayon (Democrat), Arkansas, a member of the Ways and Means Committee, and Lewis Douglas, Director of the Budget.

Such legislation was recommended in a statement Thursday by Mr. Farley. He indicated that if the 2-cent rate on first class mail handled only within a city produces more revenue than the present 3-cent charge, it would be adopted generally.

Under the proposal as outlined by Mr. Farley, the President would be empowered until July 1, 1934, to "lower or increase postage rates as increasing business or the demands of the postal service may make necessary."

The 2-cent rate went into effect last July. Opponents have contended a large number of business establishments have found other means of handling bills and such things rather than pay the increased postage.

Trade and Power Units Mergers Off

Agencies to Retain Status and Likely to Become More Active.

(Associated Press.)

The determined push of the Roosevelt administration to bring stray independent agencies into more cohesive units now is expected in Democratic circles to leave the Federal Trade Commission and the Power Commission untouched.

Despite widespread reports that these two agencies would be incorporated in the Commerce and Interior Departments, respectively, it was said authoritatively yesterday that such proposals had been cast aside.

Opposition was certain from many of the independent group at the Capitol to disturbing the independence of the two commissions. However, under the Roosevelt program as now contemplated they will not only retain their identity, but probably will be more active.

Messboy Wounds Sailor, Slays Self

Filipino Runs Amuck on Ship Baltimore-Bound and Disappears.

Baltimore, April 14 (A.P.).—The story of a messboy who ran amuck and seriously wounded one of the crew before apparently committing suicide by jumping overboard was told today after the Danish ship Chastine Maersk dropped anchor here.

The messboy, a Filipino, attacked the sailor, Christensen Thorne, of Denmark, with a piece of pipe. The ship, loaded with sugar from the Philippines, for Baltimore and New York, speeded its movement in order to get the injured man to shore for medical treatment.

After the attack, the messboy disappeared and repeated search of the vessel showed he was not aboard. Thorne was left in Norfolk for treatment.

H. H. Van Cleef Found Dead on Porch of Hotel

Honolulu, April 14 (A.P.).—The body of H. H. Van Cleef, former New York attorney, was found today lying on the upstairs veranda of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel, to which hotel attendants said he apparently had fallen from his third-floor room.

Van Cleef, about 60 years old, had been suffering with an ear ailment. Hotel employes believed he might have become dizzy and fallen. He was a widower and lived alone.

How to Keep Well

—By DR. W. A. EVANS.

TEACHING THE INSANE.

IN the Elgin State Hospital certain groups of patients are being treated, under the immediate direction of Dr. Mary C. Schroeder, by medicines that do not come out of bottles. The best way to tell what these medicines are is to give the facts. With that information, readers can decide for themselves by what names they will designate the remedies.

A group of mentally disturbed patients are organized into a class that meets at 3 and breaks up at 4 o'clock. The secretary calls the roll and reads the minutes of the last meeting. Then a song or two is sung. There is generally an instrumental or vocal solo at some point in the program.

The main feature of the program is a paper read or a talk given by some member of the class. This paper may deal with something connected with the hospital, or it may discuss some subject of national or local interest or of civic or domestic importance. The subject-matter is of the patient's choosing and she is allowed to treat it as she pleases, provided only that it must be of interest to the members.

In six months 30 members of the class had become sufficiently stabilized to return to their homes. This example has been followed by patients in other cottages in the hospital.

In another part of the institution a school has been organized. The pupils attend regularly. The routine followed is that of schools on the outside—roll calls, attendance records, recitations, home work and blackboard work.

THE NEW CINEMA OFFERINGS

RIALTO

"BE MINE TONIGHT." Universal release of Gaumont's British picturization of a story by I. V. Cube and J. Joseph, with Jan Kiepura, Magda Schneider, Sonnie Hale, Edmund Gwenn, Athene Seyler and Betty Chester. Directed by Anatole Litvak. Reviewed from previewscreening Thursday midnight, April 6.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Superlative in the flexibility of its camera treatment and genuinely distinguished in its employment of music as an integral of plot and motivation, this unique hybrid of musical comedy and opera bouffe is worthy of the serious consideration of all devotees of screen artistry.

With a score that ranges from "hit" numbers—one bears the same title as the picture, "Be Mine Tonight," and is eminently whistleable by any one with an ear and a pucker—to complete scenes and arias from "Rigoletto," "Traviata" and "Boheme," this novel work has the temerity to take its vocalism out into the open and on several occasions utilizes the grandeur of Swiss Alpine mountain and lake scenery as a natural setting for Kiepura's gorgeous voice. This, of course, is not attempted with the operatic interpolations, which are sung in a courtroom scene extremely remote from those to which American audiences are accustomed, and during an operatic performance in the opera house of the little Swiss village where much of the action takes place.

The raison d'etre of all this may be easily explained by the regretful admission that the whole development of the story depends upon the exchange of identities between a notorious crook and a famous tenor. The picture's musical worth entitles it to a more substantial and more worthy story basis than the ancient device of mistaken identity.

However, much that might otherwise seem more trite than it does is redeemed by an extraordinary facility in achieving new camera angles and the suggestion of swift movement by a variety of photographic tricks that American directors might examine with profit.

The characters involved in the development of the romantic narrative are not too many in number to follow and know intimately. Some are rather strenuously overacted, but all are at one time or another, if not continuously, amusing. They move against a constantly variegated background of matchless scenic beauty. Unfortunately, when the action moves indoors it loses something of this opulent quality of pictorial charm.

Jan Kiepura, the young Polish tenor of the Vienna Opera, who assumes the role of Enrico Ferraro, suggests Caruso in more than first name. His voice is of the same robust quality and even approximates that of the great Italian tenor in power. Furthermore, he is an agreeable artist and handsome, withal. In the opposite role, Magda Schneider is attractively naive and numerously wooed to the considerable enhancement of the film's effectiveness. Edmund Gwenn, as Mayor Fategg, her father, is an amiduous, if not always successful, comedian, and Athene Seyler, as his wife, is a comic foil for his and Sonnie Hale's energetic clowning.

The auxiliary features of the bill include a new issue of the Universal News, with Graham McNamee, and a "Pooch, the Pup" cartoon comedy, "The Lumber Champ."

Last evening's gala invitational inaugural was attended by a brilliant capacity audience, representative of the Capital's official, professional and society sets, that gave every evidence of thoroughly enjoying a production that will particularly impress lovers of the best music, executed in the cinema's best manner.

PALACE

"THE WHITE SISTER." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of the novel by F. Marion Crawford, dramatized by Willis Goldbeck and adapted to the screen by Donald Ogden Stewart, with musical score by Herbert Stothart, costarring Helen Hayes and Clark Gable, with Lewis S. Stone, Louise Closser Hale, May Robson and Edward Arnold. Directed by Victor Fleming. Reviewed from preview screening, Thursday, April 6.

Peculiarly attuned to the spirit of the week in which it is being shown, this familiar story of the futile love of a young soldier and a nun is distinguished by both a spiritual and a material beauty that is rarely achieved on the screen.

Although the original F. Marion Crawford story has been modernized to the extent of dating it with the World War, its action has not been appreciably quickened nor has the tale's tragic denouement been softened for those whose emotions lie near the surface. It is still a lachrymose drama tearfully dedicated to Niobe and the sable hues of grief.

The modulation of the romantic tale from a gay opening in carnival time to the somber poignancy of its closing sequences has been contrived with a cumulative effect that lends the picture a climacteric power rather beyond any it possessed in silent film form. Its dramatic action is interrupted about midway by an extended introduction of the intricate rituals of the Catholic Church. These ceremonies, attendant upon the taking of the veil, are visualized with utmost accuracy and reverence, but are in no way vital to either the comprehension or the power of the story.

In the role of Angela Chiaromonte, who enters the convent after years of awaiting the return of the young lieutenant whom she finally believes to be dead, Helen Hayes once more proves herself possessed of an intuitive and infallible interpretative sense that causes her performance always to transcend the shortcomings of any role in which she may be cast. Miss Hayes is here called upon to breath new life into a character that has been fixed in public consciousness by many years of playing. That she is able to give it new warmth, new vigor and new charm—yes, and a new depth of despair—is a revealing commentary upon the amazing facility and thorough artistry of this brilliant young actress in whose achievements Washington takes an especial and a proprietary pride.

Inspired, no doubt, by Miss Hayes' sublime miming, Clark Gable, in the role of Lieut. Giovanni Serveri, offers one of his finest portrayals—poised, forceful and at times infinitely tender.

Lewis S. Stone, impersonating the aristocratic and sternly paternal Prince Chiaromonte, who meets a violent end in an automobile crash; Louise Closser Hale, as Mina, a watchful but conniving governess; May Robson, as the Mother Superior, and Edward Arnold, the Mgr. Saracinesca, are among the numerous others who contribute generously to the minute perfection of a memorable, if grimly tragic, camera drama.

Supplementing the feature are a Charlie Chase comedy, "Silent Racket," in that nimble comic's distinctive manner; a cartoon comedy, "Oh, Susanna," and the new issue of the Metrotone News, all serving to some degree as mitigation of "The White Sister's" less enlivened mood.

LOEW'S FOX

"LOOKING FORWARD." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of a story by Mark Canfield, adapted to the screen by Gene Markey and Kathryn Scola, starring Lionel Barrymore, with Lewis Stone, Benita Hume, Colin Clive, Phillips Holmes, Elizabeth Allan, Doris Lloyd, Laurence Grant, Hallowell Hobbs and Douglas Walton. Directed by Clarence Brown. Reviewed Friday morning.

Continuing its crusade to rid the world of all its present evils, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer now follows the political panacea of "Gabriel Over the White House" with this tonic prescription for individual and corporate triumph over the blasting effects of the depression.

Devoid of arresting action, slow-moving in its meticulous building up of a bullet-proof case against moral disintergration in times of stress and a trifle flabby in its closing moments, "Looking Forward," nevertheless, is so thoroughly natural and normal a film that it tugs pretty strenuously at the heart-strings now and again and does hammer home an inspirational message.

The story is wholly British, but is played by a cast of Hollywood celebrities. It centers in the conduct of London's greatest mercantile establishment—Service's, a shop of the highest ideals and traditions, that is slowly but surely going on the rocks in the course of the long-drawn-out slump's relentless pounding. The owner, the old fighting courage gone, lays off many of his oldest and most faithful employes, surrenders to the force of circumstances that threaten his home and eventually is on the verge of selling out the house of his father and his father's father to a spectacular chain-store operator, who seems to show the way to affluence and peace of mind.

Through the timely intervention of his own children and the man he had discharged after 40 years of drudgery, Service, sr., gets back a spark of the old spirit and the tide is turned.

It is a simple story that the film unfolds, but one that will strike home to a vast number of people at precisely this time. To some it will seem to point the way; to others it probably will not. To all, however, it must appeal as intelligently produced and remarkably well acted.

While Lionel Barrymore is nominally the star of the picture, his performance is scarcely more notable or more to be remembered than Lewis Stone's in the role of Service, sr. Barrymore is Benton, the accountant given the sack after four decades. Beaten at first, he later finds the way to independence and an income and manages to impart a little of his optimism to his former employer at just the time when he needs it most. There is rather more than a suggestion of Kringelein, from "Grand Hotel," in the character of Benton; the eldest Barrymore, as goes without saying, plays him flawlessly.

Phillips Holmes and Elizabeth Allan appear effectively as the junior Services, and Benita Hume looks surprisingly like Mary Astor a great deal of the time.

Two sure-fire offerings top the stage bill—Isham Jones and His Orchestra, with Eileen Clarke, soprano, and Ben Alley, tenor, assisting, and Al Trahan, the nut pianist, and Lady Yukona Cameron in their classic clowning. Either one is a show-stopper; together they are devastating.

France and La Pell, serialists, and George Weist and Ray Stanton, with their familiar company of four, in their time-worn claptrap, add a touch of variety to a bill that also includes the Fox Movietone News and Phil Lampkin's "Easter Recessional" overture.

RKO-KEITH'S

"SWEEPINGS." RKO-Radio picturization of Lester Cohen's novel, starring Lionel Barrymore, supported by Gregory Ratoff, Alan Dinehart, Gloria Stuart, Eric Linden, George Meeker and William Gargan. Directed by John Cromwell. Reviewed Friday evening by Dorothea Lewis.

In his Fifteenth street shadow appearance, Lionel Barrymore is called upon to portray that most unsympathetic of all characters, a parent who seeks in his children only for what he wants to find, and, not finding that, lets wounded ambition utterly defeat love and understanding.

So, although this senior Barrymore plays with more than usual restraint and a depth of feeling that is at times very moving, we can not forget our annoyance with, and rebellion against, Daniel Pardway in the excellence of his playing. There is, however, a very definite stamp of reality and authenticity about the play's people and their problems.

Daniel begins his little store in a frame shack after the Mrs. O'Leary's cow's conflagration and watches it grow with the rebuilt Chicago until it becomes the great Pardway Bazaar. And as it grows, so grows the Pardway family, Eugene, Phoebe, Bert and Fred, and with them also a great dream, until, in Daniel Pardway's mind, the store and the family are almost one.

His children shall have his store and his store his children, that must be so. When Gene, Bert and Fred all fail him in this, he can not forgive them or realize that they may have had dreams of their own. And so, finally, he dies, a lonely old man, not realising that the dream is undefeated for Fred, his youngest, understanding at last much clearer than his father, loves him enough to try to love the store.

The sympathy is, of course, not entirely with the children, for much of their weakness and inadequacy is of their own doing.

An excellent cast maintains the smoothness and sincerity of the Barrymore playing throughout the production and contrives to make this story, which never rises to great dramatic heights nor somehow quite realizes all of its possibilities, interesting in its quiet, slowly paced way. Outstanding are Gregory Ratoff as Abe, general manager of the store from its humble beginnings to its days of glory; George Meeker, as Bert; Eric Linden, as Fred; Allan Dinehart, as a lovable, ne're-do-well, and two women, whose names we do not know but whose respective performances as Daniel's wife and Fred's shopgirl companion of an evening are vivid and right. The latter is very like Frances Dee.

One scene of Chicago just after the fire is a Currier and Ives print come to life.

The subsidiaries include a particularly interesting Pathe News, with views of men behind the scenes at the White House from the White House doorman up to frontpage F. D. R. himself. There are also an amusing and Eastery Krazy Kat cartoon, a Eugene Pallette comedy, which doesn't give Gene much chance to be funny, and a long-drawn-out organlogue with Ralph Kirby doing dream-singing, whatever that is.

EARLE

"EX-LADY." Warner Brothers picturization of a story by Rowland Brown and Robert Florey, adapted to the screen by Bonnie Hughes, starring Bette Davis, with Gene Raymond, Frances Dee, Monroe Owsley, Frank McHugh, Claire Dodd, Kay Strozzi and Ferdinand Gottschalk. Directed by Robert Florey. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

Miss Bette Davis is a young actress of sufficient authority to deserve a little less rambling and non-committal play than this to signalize her elevation to stardom.

"Ex-Lady" relates the marital experiences of a young artist and an equally young advertising man. As a matter of fact, it relates quite a few of their pre-marital experiences, Helen Bauer having been one of those advanced young women, "emancipated" from the conventions, averse to matrimony and all that sort of tosh, until, for no apparent reason, she became a convert to marriage and was wedded to her ad man. Then she at once decided that she had been correct in her original views and set about setting aside the vows of wedlock. Finally, she guessed that was all wrong—what with a few of hubby's mesalliances to arouse her jealousy and a few "friendly" advances by nice little pals to arouse her resentment—so reverted to a vast enthusiasm over the benefits of clergy.

The trouble seems to be that Helen changed her mind once or twice too often, thus somewhat depriving certain movements of the play of any very definite direction. That and occasional bursts of some extremely staccato dialogue that fairly bristles with inanities. And too much kissing and too many closeups.

Miss Davis at times is strikingly beautiful in creations that must have taxed the originality of the most inspired modistes; again the light seems to go out and she seems a very broody young woman. This probably happens after she has been listening a little too intently to some of her lines and Gene Raymond's! Mr. Raymond is almost too much an Arrow collar ad to be a convincing advertising man, if you can do with the parades.

In the matter of handsome settings and ornate embellishment, "Ex-Lady" is no less than magnificent. It moves in an atmosphere of luxurious elegance, with an occasional New York or Havana night club of the better sort thrown in for good measure and a little music. Mr. Raymond, Monroe Owsley, the city slicker, and Frank McHugh, the philosophical bibbler, all have a hand in this "gay life" aspect of the picture. Claire Dodd and Kay Strozzi, a vamp of the leopard skin type, make some of their moments a little too murky, but in the main manage to score on the side of effectiveness in a small way.

On the stage, Miss Dorothy Stone, daughter of a distinguished father, and Charles Collins present a clever dancing act as the headline attraction. Each is an adept solo dancer—especially Mr. Collins—and together they are a team of exceptional grace and precision. Next in eminence comes Ray Samuels, the "blue streak of vaudeville," who this week—or at least yesterday she was—happens to be done up from head to foot in canary yellow! Miss Samuels sings buoyantly and to considerable length, assisted by a platinum blonde at the piano and a diminutive dancer whose name sounded in the first row of the logs like Eleanor Whitecomb, or Whitney, or something. At any rate, she can dance.

A dog and pony act, more dogs than pony, is the first announced by Miss Doyle to open the bill, and Garner, Wolf and Hakins—two of them formerly stooges for Jack Pepper—are enough to close it permanently. The boys don't seem to be going anywhere.

The Universal News, with Graham McNamee; a Merrie Melodie cartoon comedy, "The Organ Grinder;" Jack Dempsey, with June Gale, in "The Champ," a romance of the ring and the stage, and Freddie Clark's "Radio's Spring-Festival of Song-Hits" overture complete the Easter program.

"OLIVER TWIST." Monogram picturization of the novel by Charles Dickens, featuring Dickie Moore, Irving Pichel, Doris Lloyd and William Boyd. Directed by William J. Cowen. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

Selecting somewhat at random a series of events and using the names employed by the author, this talking version of "Oliver Twist" leaves much to be desired as an adequate screen transcription of Charles Dickens' famous novel.

Dickie Moore, in the title role, and his supporting company might, a priori, seem to be a bit of inspired casting. It might have been, but certainly not in the manner in which all the roles are played.

Through the ages "Oliver Twist" has come to be one of the most scathing indictments of a social order ever penned; it would seem, accordingly, almost impossible to make a screen adaptation that did not in some slight way carry some of that spirit of militant writing that Dickens brought to the printed page.

But as the current narrative is unreeled it becomes more and more evident that somewhere along the line some one has completely "lost the point" of the whole story, the cinematic version degenerating into an episodic tale of a 9-year-old boy who falls in with the prototypes of the 1933 gangster and his ultimate adoption into a family of position together with the final solution of his parentage.

Perhaps we should not be too hard on the cast, for they individually and collectively have done perhaps as good a job as possible with Adaptor Elizabeth Meehan's script. It is at her door that the blame must be laid, for how can any actor be inspired when his lines are palpably of the earth earthy?

Bing Crosby, with Franklin Pangborn, offers "Sing, Bing, Sing," a comedy that has its moments. A release of the Paramount News is the only other subsidiary.

U. S. Resumes Shipping Gold to Aid Exchanges

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—The export of $500,000 gold to Holland today, announced by the New York Federal Reserve Bank, is regarded as highly significant by international bankers who have been following the fluctuations of foreign exchanges.

Representing the first export of the yellow metal on a straight exchange basis since the temporary restrictions on gold shipments became effective on March 4, today's shipment was interpreted as meaning that the country's gold reserve fund may be available when needed to protect the position of the dollar in the foreign exchange markets.

The license for the Holland shipment followed a drive against the dollar yesterday in European markets. All of the continental gold currencies soared, largely, it was believed, as the result of speculative activity.

On account of the Easter holiday, foreign exchange trading throughout most of Europe will be suspended until next Tuesday. The Reserve bank's gold statement today showed $23,000 received by import from Mexico. Announcement also was made of the receipt of $1,960,000 of gold from Japan. There was no change in holdings under earmark for foreign account.

Petersburg Forest Camp Site Sought

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., April 14.—Lieut. Col. Arthur E. Wilbourne, director of the Petersburg and Fredericksburg Military Parks, was in this city this week looking over tentative camp sites for a small unit of the national reforestation crews to be used in the development of the National Military Park here.

No definite plans for sending 100 men here to carry on the work as a part of the Nation-wide reforestation project have been made. Only tentative arrangements have been discussed, it was stated today by authorities.

Col. Wilbourne inspected Fort Fisher about five miles from Petersburg in Dinwiddie county and another at Lee Park. He made no definite statement but took information and data concerning the sites with him to Washington. It is expected that 100 men will carry on this work here.

Drunken Driver Fined But Beer Is Returned

Fredericksburg, Va., April 14 (A.P.).—Fined $100 and costs and given a suspended jail sentence of 30 days on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated E. W. Marley, of North Carolina, was given back an uncounted number of bottles of beer found in his automobile at the time of his arrest, after a trial justice hearing today.

State Officer M. G. Sneed made the arrest yesterday afternoon. Marley pleaded guilty. Justice L. G. Stewart returned the beer to Marley after the trial.

Post's $10,500 World Fair Contest Will Close Tonight

One Day Still Remains in Search by Photos for Queen and 51 Girls to Form Court of Honor at Chicago.

Hundreds of photographs yesterday flooded the desk of The Post's Queen Contest Editor as their owners suddenly realized that the $10,500 prize contest to select a queen and court of honor to officiate at the Century of Progress International Exposition at Chicago, on June 1, will close at midnight tonight. Every photograph postmarked not later than that hour or brought to the offices of The Washington Post before that time today, however, will give its subject an equal opportunity to be numbered among the 51 girls who will achieve a most unusual distinction and share in the great financial rewards of the contest.

Every unmarried girl, regardless of her place of residence and excepting only professionals, such as stage girls and artists' models, and employes of The Washington Post, is eligible to enter the contest. It is only necessary to submit a photograph that has been taken within the past 12 months, and that is at least 6 by 8 inches in size, to the Queen Contest Editor, The Washington Post. To the back of the photograph should be pasted the transmittal coupon which appears elsewhere on this page or the same information written upon any sheet of paper and similarly attached.

The 51 girls will be chosen entirely upon the basis of the feminine charm reflected by their photographs and will enjoy a two-weeks' stay at Chicago's most luxurious hotels as the guests of The Washington Post and its affiliated newspapers. Every expense, including transportation from their homes and return will be paid by these newspapers and each girl will also be provided with beautiful gowns designed by leading modistes.

At Chicago, three of the group will be chosen to become queen of the Century of Progress Exposition and her first and second ladies-in-waiting. These girls will receive respective cash awards of $5,000, $3,000 and $2,000 in the order of their selection. The remaining 48 girls will compose the queen's court of honor during the colorful opening ceremonies at the world's air and will share equally in an elaborate program of entertainment under proper chaperonage. They will also receive international recognition of their feminine charm and many other advantages.

There are no fees or obligations involved in entering this unique contest and friends or relatives are equally entitled to submit the photograph of their favorite candidate for these high honors. Every photograph, however, must either bear a postmark not later than midnight tonight or be delivered to the offices of The Washington Post on or before that hour.

EFFECT OF ALCOHOL ON ANIMALS IS TOLD

W. & L. Professor Claims Drunken Rats Act Like Brains Are Removed.

(Associated Press.)

Discovery that alcohol affects the actions of animals in the same way as though part of their brains had been removed yesterday was reported to the Southern Society for Philosophy and Psychology.

Wallace B. Varner, professor of psychology at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., said that apparently alcohol has a temporary effect that is the same as the permanent effect of some types of injury to the brain. He said it was not yet known whether the discovery applies to human beings.

Prof. Varner spoke before the opening session of the two-day annual meeting of the society, which drew delegates from many parts of the South. The society is associated with the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Varner said his experiments with rats before and after they were put under the influence of alcohol supported the belief that alcohol affects the nervous system directly, attacking the lipoids, or fatty elements in the nerve cells. No support, he said was found for another belief—that the greater an animal's weight, the more alcohol it can tolerate.

BIG HOME PROJECT WORK OPENS TODAY

Ground will be broken this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the start of a home building project, planned for Federal employes exclusively, at Belle Haven, Fairfax County, Va. It will have 2,500 homes as its objective, according to announcement by George H. Weinrott & Co., with offices in the Shoreham Building.

Mr. Weinrott said the project has been under consideration for some time and that it contemplates the construction of the foregoing number of dwellings within the next two years. He said it had been decided to proceed with the operation on the strength of between 1,000 and 1,500 signed applications for homes in the development procured without advertisement or solicitation, merely as the result of pamphlets describing the proposal, distributed last September.

Under the plan, he said, home-seeking Federal employes are given fifteen-year leases, by the terms of which, if they pay rent and maintain premises for that period, at the end of which they own the houses and lots, free and clear of debt. Monthly rentals will be $30, $45, $55, $65, $75, $90, $100, $125 and $150, according to type of dwelling and size of lot. Rentals include interest, taxes and water, but not in excess in the last two items.

He said that construction of seven sample houses is under way and that these would be furnished to give prospective buyers a view of their construction. All of the homes will be of masonry, he said, and the community will be highly restricted. He announced the Owning Corporation of Virginia, now being formed, as the owner of the project; George H. Weinrott & Co. as its agents; Dillon & Abel, of this city, as exclusive designers and architects for the project; David J. Howell & Sons, of this city, as the engineers, and Joseph K. Seidle, of Philadelphia, as the builder. Lease on a quarry at Stonyhurst, Md., already has been secured for stone, he said.

The low cost of the projected residences, Mr. Weinrott explained, is made possible by the cooperation of various manufacturers and trades, "whose research departments have succeeded in putting into small house construction the intelligence that normally goes into larger structures." The stability of the tenants' pay roll and mass construction are equally important factors, he added. Prospective home seekers will be offered a selection of 25 types of homes. All houses will be detached and of early Virginia architecture, he said.

Belle Haven is on the Mount Vernon boulevard, a half mile south of Alexandria. It is within 17 minutes from Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, or 8.8 miles. There are 600 lots available for the immediate undertaking, according to MBr. Weinrott, who added that arrangements are under way for an additional 2,000. Lots will be not less than 60 feet wide nor less than 7,000 square feet in area.

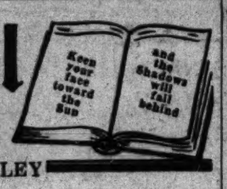
The Federal Diary



By GEORGE D. RILEY

IT'S a great game. It's called What's What. And since no one knows what's what, one guess is as good as another. It took Lawrence Batson, Electrical Division, Commerce, to get the most out of this period of uncertainty. The idea is this:

He started the ball by donating 25 cents to the first one who related the most plausible story of what's going to happen to personnel and jobs. But the 25-cent piece didn't stay put long. Some one else won it with a yarn even bigger. And remember, the stories must be plausible.

Yesterday the quarter was in the hands of Irma Kuhnert. She'd had it an hour and kept it overnight by default, for about that time the quitting bell rang. She won the money on a report she had heard that Foreign and Domestic Commerce was to be abolished and that all employes were to be discharged and that then a few chosen ones were to be rehired.

Since these yarns grow and grow, each more terrible than the one before, there's no telling how big the last report will be. Lawrence Batson's quarter doesn't grow in proportion, however, because when Irma got it 5 cents of it was missing.

EVEN the winners may lose in the Dynamite Bowling League, for the funds are all tied up. Anyway, there really is something in a name. The Wrecking Crew won the race and the Duds were just that, cellarites. The league toppled a lot of pins, 396,113, during the season, to be exact.

Here's how the ten teams from three bureaus ended the season:

Wrecking Crew, won 55, lost 26; Tornadoes, won 49, lost 32; Little Potatoes, won 47, lost 34; Lab Katz, won 46, lost 35; Sand Blowers, won 46, lost 35; Blow Hards, won 42, lost 39; Hiandrys, won 39, lost 42; Dri Kleeners, won 38, lost 43; Hill Billies, won 27, lost 54; Duds, won 16, lost 65. From which we gather the Hiandrys are still dry but not so high.

PAY DAY

A CERTAIN Washington bank in process of liquidation and patronized largely during its solvent days by Government employes has gone hockshop.

If you see a lot of Federal workers minus their watches or rings you can lay a bet the liquidating bank has them "in seal" until their notes have been paid.

If an employe can not meet payments, now that salaries are cut and so forth "to maintain the credit of the Government of the United States" the liquidator, who has an eye for jewelry, will accept it as added collateral. The jewelry is then held "in seal."

If we know anything about banking practices, this is really unique in handling delinquent accounts on notes.

Nor were the pay satchels as big or as heavy yesterday, Government pay day. It was the first pay day under the "new deal" 15 per cent reduction.

One young woman who has been serving Uncle Sam fifteen years yesterday received $7 less than when she started on her job.

Foreign and Domestic Commerce workers' envelopes showed a cut of 32½ per cent; Standards, 30 per cent; Secretary's office, 25 per cent, and the rest 15 per cent.

"TO my mind, the day of traveling orchestras is over," says Lieut. Charles Benter, leader, United States Navy Band, who Thursday attended the recital in the Academy of Music when Leopold Stokowski sat in the audience and directed a "ghost orchestra."

"The optical illusion was perfect. The playing actually was three floors away. It is the most marvelous invention of sound transmission. By the same method I can direct the Navy Band here in Washington and be heard perfectly in Australia. Music and sound can be controlled at any volume, with the overtones in perfect transmission."

To the audience the orchestra apparently was on the stage. Microphones were so placed as to convey the sound from behind the curtain across the stage. The stage actually was empty. Dr. Stokowski in low-pitched voice conveyed his orders through a concert master equipped with earphones. It was the first demonstration of a new achievement in electrical transmission.

Roosevelts Plan 10 Days on Sloop

President Is Considering Cruise Along Coast of New England.

Although no decision has been reached, the President is seriously considering a 10-day cruise along the New England Coast at the close of the special session of Congress, it was said yesterday at the White House.

If the President makes the cruise, it will probably be in the Amberjack II, a 45-foot sloop owned by Paul D. Rust, of Marblehead, Mass. This craft, well-known in yachting circles, has been inspected by James Roosevelt, son of the President. James Roosevelt, his brother Franklin D., jr., and another brother, John A. Roosevelt, will probably comprise the crew of the sloop. The President himself will be skipper.

Vacation talk at the White House fell on welcoming ears, for an overworked Congress and newspapermen had begun to fear the present spell of work would go on indefinitely. But with all but four of his first program of eleven major measures sent to Congress there is a sign of some relaxation at the White House.

Hunger Strike Kills Condemned Youth

Mississippi Is Cheated by Slayer Who Accepted Food Too Late.

Hattiesburg, Miss., April 14 (A.P.).—Paul Wexler, 20-year-old condemned prisoner, died last night after a hunger strike. Thus ended his long fight to escape hanging for the slaying of J. L. Odum in a filling station holdup.

Last November Wexler refused food and was kept alive by artificial feeding. Recently he consented to eat, but Dr. Leo H. Martin, county physician, said the self-imposed starvation broke down the youth's constitution and he died of general weakness.

Wexler was convicted December 9, 1931, and sentenced to hang. The case was fought through several courts.

Mountain Feud Flares; Wrong House Fired On

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 14.—Resumption of a mountain feud in Webster County has resulted in the wounding of two persons and the imprisonment of three participants.

Mrs. Edward Hamrick has a bullet wound in an arm, and Earl Meeks, 24, is in a Buckhannon hospital with a broken leg and other injuries alleged to have been received when kicked by Harry Townsend, 24, and Virgil Phares, 28.

Virgil Meeks, 23, brother of Earl, deciding to get revenge, officers said, climbed on top of a coal house and pumped 20 shots into the Hamrick dwelling, wounding Mrs. Hamrick. After being arrested and jailed on a charge of attempted murder, Virgil was informed he had made an error in that he had shot up the wrong house, Townsend's brother, whom he sought, being in the house next door.

Townsend and Phares were jailed under charges of attacking Earl Meeks. All live in the vicinity of Webster Springs.

REPORT COMMENDS ALEXANDRIA JAILER

A committee appointed recently by Judge William P. Woolls to investigate and inspect the Alexandria City Jail, composed of C. M. Moore, J. W. Goods and the Rev. Pierce E. Ellis, pastor of First Baptist Church, has submitted a report, commending City Sergt. R. H. Cox for the careful and efficient manner in which he handles the affairs of the jail.

The committee particularly commended Sergt. Cox for his examination of each patient, and medical treatment should such be needed. Every effort is made to avoid the spread of contagious and communicable diseases.

The report, however, calls attention to a fire hazard, in the wood stairway and floor immediately over the furnace room, and states a change should be made to eliminate the danger of fire; it states a concrete floor and iron stairway should replace the present one.

It also recommends a general bath house adjacent to the dormitory, which could be used also by members of the chain gang when coming in from street work.

The committee commends the sergeant and all other attendants at the jail, stating the food is excellent, well served and the dining room kept orderly.

Commander G. Raymond King, of Alexandria Post No. 24, American Legion, will head a delegation of members attending the mass meeting on Tuesday night in the Washington Auditorium in protest against recognition of Soviet Russia.

Commander King has distributed tickets to this meeting to members of his post, the American Legion Auxiliary, the American War Mothers and the Cameron Club, and tickets also may be procured from Dr. Howard L. Arnold, King and Alfred streets.

They will leave the Masonic Temple, Cameron street, in full Templar uniform, not later than 6:30 a. m., and will arrive at the west gate at Arlington in line ready to march to the Amphitheater by 7:10 o'clock.

In making this announcement, Dr. Parmlee says the reduction is an experiment. It will also apply on all rail lines of the company.

The letter received from the chairman of the commission, Edmund D. Campbell, by President Parmlee, which resulted in the reductions, reads in part, as follows:

"If after trial, it proves impossible for you to continue these reduced fares, the commission will not oppose such modification of these rates as may then appear to it to be necessary, for it is of course most important to the county that your company's transportation service is maintained."

Special Easter services will be conducted tomorrow morning at the Clarendon Presbyterian Church by the pastor, the Rev. Isaac Steenson. The choir will present an Easter cantata under the direction of Walter F. Sunderman at 8 p. m. Solos will be sung by Mrs. G. Stanley Werkin and Arthur Parsons.

Independence Checks

What is YOUR idea of independence, —something like this?

YOU are married, have two or three children, occupy a mortgaged house, expect to give those children a college education, and desire to have comfort and independence for yourself and your wife when your working period is over. Is not this the situation of the average family?—very likely it is yours! You are a level-headed man and are not afraid to look facts in the face. You agree that your family must not suffer financially if the summons should come early to you. The home must then be freed of its mortgage and have a steady and sufficient income, and the children must have the education that you and your wife had planned,—in brief, financial independence! There's no other way you can do it than by life insurance. You haven't now a sufficient reserve in bank or in other investments, and it would take you years to make the necessary accumulation.

Now, we will say that the years have passed. From your earnings you paid the mortgage and educated the children, and you and your wife have reached the time of rest from active work. The life insurance you took out in those early years to protect your family now will provide financial independence for these later years.

If you are a single man or woman, and have no family obligations, you can have financial independence in your later years, safe, sure, adequate, under one of our several Retirement Income plans. No fluctuation in value, no danger to principal, no suspension of income. Our entire resources are back of each such contract.

Founded in 1847, for more than eighty-six years we have been enabling American men and women to carry out their life's plans. We are daily sending Independence Checks from Independence Square to the families of those who have answered the call, and to those who have reached life's resting time.

On December 31, 1932, this was our financial status:—Assets, $514,588,274; Liabilities, $486,874,794; Surplus (contingency reserves for mortality and asset fluctuation), $27,713,480. Insurance in force, $2,008,947,312.

Sign your Declaration of Financial Independence during "Financial Independence Week," April 17 to 22.

THE TARIFF POWERS.

Outlines of the tariff bill which President Roosevelt will send to Congress in the next few days seem to have taken definite form. Some details of the measure are yet to be filled in, but they will not alter its basic purpose. President Roosevelt seeks authority to change tariff rates by executive decree, as he has changed veterans' awards and Federal salaries. Under this power he hopes to bargain with other nations in such a way as to stimulate international trade.

Under the Constitution Congress could not delegate to the President full authority to change tariff rates at will. The Supreme Court has decided that if Congress expresses its will in a formula for adjusting rates, the President may be authorized to apply that formula. Under such powers the President is authorized to adjust rates as much as 50 per cent when the Tariff Commission finds that such changes are necessary to equalize costs of production in this country and abroad. The administration is seeking a formula that will allow bargaining by the Executive within certain broad limits. It remains to be seen whether a formula can be worked out that will square with the Constitution.

The more immediate question is whether or not Congress will give the President authority to change tariff rates without submitting those changes directly to both houses for approval. The Democratic tariff measure passed last year provided for the submission to Congress of all reciprocal agreements that the President might negotiate. In drafting the Dingley tariff act of 1897 it was provided that reciprocal tariff treaties would be valid when negotiated by the President and ratified by the Senate. The House stubbornly refused to relinquish its power over tariff rates, and the Senate agreed that all such treaties would have to be ratified by both houses. It is significant to note that President McKinley negotiated a number of treaties under this provision, but the Senate refused to ratify any of them.

It is reported that President Roosevelt hopes to circumvent this difficulty by submitting tariff agreements to Congress with the provision that they should become effective within sixty days if not set aside by law. This would, of course, require two-thirds of both houses to upset a tariff agreement, since an ordinary act could be vetoed by the President, and it would be necessary to override a veto to defeat an agreement that Congress might consider obnoxious.

Democrats as well as Republicans in Congress are vitally interested in tariff protection for commodities produced in their home States. It would be politically hazardous for them to give away their powers to protect home industries. Congress has guarded its power over tariff rates more jealously than any other prerogative. In 1897 Congress did give the President authority to bargain with a few minor products, such as argols and wines, but Congress fixed specific minimum duties on those products, and those duties could not be altered in the bargaining process. Congress has never allowed the President to make bargains on competitive goods without providing for ratification of such agreements by both legislative chambers.

EASING ANTITRUST LAWS.

The belief that any modifications of the antitrust laws might lead to monopolistic practices has been so strong in Congress that for forty years the many attempts to amend and liberalize them have always failed. Many interests today feel that changed conditions warrant some changes to permit reasonable agreements to prevent wasteful competition and encourage conservation. The American Bar Association, however, having seen so many failures in the attempts to alter the Sherman act, now attacks the question from a new angle.

A committee that has studied the question thoroughly has prepared two bills which will be submitted to the President for alternative choice. They propose to secure relief without repealing or amending the antitrust laws. One bill will ask Congress to define what constitutes reasonable restraint of trade. The measure would ask exemption for contracts that are only a "reasonable restraint of competition" and that can not be considered as creating a monopoly. The bill would define reasonable restraint as restraint which is not unfair to dealers in or consumers of the products included in the contract, and where the purpose is to balance production and consumption or to avoid waste of irreplaceable natural resources, or to reduce wasteful duplication in producing, processing or marketing, and when there is no tendency to create a monopoly.

The other bill is designed to cover the "national emergency," and during this period would establish the office of Federal Commerce Commissioner with authority to "confer with, aid and guide" representatives of industry in the formulation of economic plans and cooperative action designed to remedy the causes or effects of the emergency and "to investigate and pass upon the operation of such measures in their relation to the public interest." This proposal is not new. It has been suggested before, but the objection has been that such an agency, to be effective, must have virtually the authority of the Supreme Court.

MINIMUM WAGES.

In addressing the Governors of thirteen industrial States urging upon them the enactment of minimum wage laws similar to the one just passed by the legislature at Albany, President Roosevelt is mindful of the interests of his home State. The value of such measures to one State, surrounded by others that have no such restrictive legislation, is questionable. New York passed two wage bills, one that provides for a mandatory minimum wage system affecting women and minors in industrial work and another bill, an emergency measure, which is permissive and includes males.

Neither bill has yet been signed by Gov. Lehman. The bills were passed during the closing hours of the legislature and their constitutionality and other features may be the subject of hearings before the Governor. It is reported, however, that the Wald bill will be approved. It authorizes the labor department to fix minimum wage scales for women and children and provides penalties for failure to comply with regulations. As to the good intent of such a law there can be no question. The practical effects of such legislation have not always been beneficial.

The minimum wage law in Massachusetts forced many factories to move to adjoining States and to North Carolina. In times such as these the danger of fixing a scale for women and permitting men to bargain freely might easily result in the replacement of many women by men. Following the White House reception of representatives of labor organizations comes the suggestion from Secretary Perkins that a Federal minimum wage law may be included in the administration plans to help labor. Such a measure would remove the danger of isolation of one State in adopting this regulation with the probability of seeing its industrial plants depart to States that have no wage laws. The field of wage fixing, like that of price fixing, by artificial means, is one that demands thorough investigation before being entered upon by either State or Nation.

GOV. MEYER RETIRES.

Gov. Eugene Meyer, of the Federal Reserve Board, has signified his wish to retire, and President Roosevelt will accept his resignation as soon as a suitable successor can be found. It will not be easy to find such a man.

For fourteen out of the last sixteen years Mr. Meyer has been in the public service, most of the time in peculiarly exacting work. He participated in organizing the War Industries Board and the War Finance Corporation, and was managing director of the latter. President Wilson, in accepting Mr. Meyer's resignation in May, 1920, expressed his "deep regret," and added: "I have known of your readiness ever to place your talents and time at the disposal of the Government in the solution of many perplexing problems that have confronted the Nation during the past three crowded years. . . . I can not permit the occasion of your resignation to pass without expressing my deep appreciation of the notable and loyal service you have rendered to your country with the single aim of performing the duties of a patriotic American."

During the critical years from 1929 to the present, Mr. Meyer has been in the thick of the Government's struggles with the world depression. His knowledge of finance, his firm adherence to fundamental principles, and his courageous policy as head of the Federal Reserve Board have made his services invaluable. The organization of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was thrust upon him in addition to his other duties. He started this immense agency successfully upon its way, but was compelled to withdraw after a time, because of overwork. His brilliant management of the Federal Reserve Board during the recent crisis is well known.

It may be that Mr. Meyer retires because he wishes to leave President Roosevelt unembarrassed in the development of fiscal and economic policies with which Mr. Meyer may not be wholly in sympathy. Or it may be that he feels that he has given all that can safely be given of his vitality to the country's service. In any event, his retirement is a national loss, and the thanks of his countrymen are added to those of the Presidents under whom he has served.

BEER AND REPEAL.

The vote of the Michigan convention, in which only one delegate among 100 opposed repeal of the eighteenth amendment, has attracted universal attention. The wets hope that this almost unanimous decision by the first State to vote on the proposed constitutional change will have no little effect upon the course of wavering States. This is questionable. Undoubtedly there have been great turnovers in public sentiment during the past year, but opinion for or against repeal is probably well established in most communities already and may not be greatly influenced by what is done in other States.

The factor which may play an important part in determining the action of other States is the return of beer. If the flood of beer results in bringing back in any appreciable degree the old saloon abuses, even the most ardent wets realize that it may so prejudice many who advocate the ending of constitutional prohibition as to defeat repeal.

Gov. Comstock, addressing the Michigan convention, said the State was leading in repeal and he hoped it would continue to lead the States by showing that it could handle the beer situation and still be temperate. Those favoring repeal and beer, he said, do not want the return of the open saloon which prevailed before 1919 any more than the drys do. "Prohibition," said the governor, "only messed things up morally and socially. We've decided to try personal liberty once more. That does not mean license. We want to be sure that in reaction we do not go too far and discourage other States."

That is sensible talk from the standpoint of order as well as that of repeal. Even with the large amount of beer provided during the last few days, there has been little disorder, in fact, most police reports record fewer arrests for intoxication than usual. This may be due to a change from hard speakeasy liquor to the comparatively mild beer. Beer drinkers will have to continue on good behavior if they are not to harm the cause of repeal, for beer will be charged with many things from now on whether guilty or not.

THE POLISH BOYCOTT.

Tension between Germany and Poland has turned for the moment from the Corridor and questions of armament to Polish resentment over the treatment of Polish Jews in Germany. This resentment is expressed in assaults on German shops and refusal to buy goods imported from Germany. Four times during the last two weeks Hans-Adolf von Moltke, German minister, has delivered energetic protests to Foreign Minister Joseph Beck in Warsaw; and as often received assurances that rioting and anti-German demonstrations would be sternly suppressed.

Popular resentment, however, is difficult to smother quickly. In the important manufacturing city of Lodz, with many German residents, stores selling German newspapers were ransacked, and windows broken in other establishments and in the German school. German newspapers no longer attempt sales on the street, and the importation of German manufactures has been virtually suspended.

The apparently sincere efforts to adjust matters through direct negotiation is considered a good indication, but this procedure has given rise to speculation as to why Germany has failed to lodge a complaint with the League of Nations regarding the treatment of her minority population in Poland. A general airing of the situation may be precipitated at Geneva, however, by the reverse charge lodged with the league by Polish residents of Upper Silesia, who complain of their treatment by Germans.

The banking and currency subcommittee is unanimously agreed upon the banking bill, says Senator Glass. If such progress is being made, the bill may be presented to the Senate after two or three redraftings.

CHICAGO'S MIDWAY

From the Boston Transcript.

The projectors of the Chicago World's Fair of 1933 promise that this year's midway will make doddering old men forget all the glories of the midway of 1893, which, indeed, was the eighth wonder of the world. To plan and present to the enraptured gaze of this generation a midway that can leave with beholders the impression which that of 1893 left upon millions of travelers to Chicago will be to surpass the unsurpassable, to gild refined gold and mount Pelion on Ossa.

Many of us who rode the camels in the Streets of Cairo in 1893 will hope that the same camels, the same "Tukkish candee," the same "denssing guhls" will be there to welcome us in 1933, but alas, a series of bitter experiences in trying to recapture the first fine rapture of things once enjoyed, warns us not to be too sanguine. It will be like trying to revive "The Old Homestead" or "Hazel Kirke," or repeat the Creation. Even if the same dancing girls are there we shall see them with changed eyes. They will not have the same exuberance of charm which they exercised 40 summers ago, when they were fresh from the Turkish pavilion of the Centennial Exhibition of 1876.

The glory of the midway of 1893 was that, like the discovery of America which it commemorated, nothing to match it had ever been done before. Nobody had thought of it or attempted it. There had been dozens of international exhibitions since the Crystal Palace Show of 1851, but not one of them had offered anything to restore the jaded mind of the pilgrim weary of walking miles and miles looking at "instructive exhibits." The educational side of these international affairs had been stressed and the only recreation provided was a meal in a New England Kitchen or a mess of Turkish sweetmeats with Turkish coffee. And then along came Chicago and the midway and the world suddenly became a better and brighter place. When you were completely fed up with manufactures and art there was always the Dahomey village by day and Old Vienna in the early evening and the Streets of Cairo after dusk—when some chickens went to rest and others came out of their coops. The secret pride and sorrow of old men still among us is that the younger generation never saw the midway of 1893 and never can see it.

PONTIUS PILATE.

In every age, in every town,
Some Pontius Pilate comes to rule.
Trained to keep new ideas down
In some old custom's rigid school.
And taught to worship pomp and power
And think of self his whole life long,
In some momentous, tragic hour
He gives assent to what is wrong.

Poor Pontius Pilate washed his hands
Of what appeared a troublous case.
He listened to the crowd's commands.
Not caring further rage to face.
He stilled the conscience in his breast
And bartered courage for content,
And in that judgment never guessed
How much his sorry failure meant.

His petty place as judge to save
And Caesar's favor to retain,
Unto expedience he gave
The word to let the Christ be slain.
And now forever he must stand
Wearing the sorry brand and blight
Of one so eager to command
He feared alone to do the right.

How many, many times we see,
Such men select the easy way.
Letting Barabasses go free.
To suit the pressure of the day!
Poor Pilate, playing dice with fate,
Although their minds are ill at ease!
Missing rare moments to be great

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY dear Louise: In ancient times, when man was unwashed and hairy, there was no feeling of compassion or standard of ethics or sense of sportsmanship to restrain him.

His days were full of dangers and he had to fight for all he got.

To help at his fighting, Nature gave him a temper. It was really a great help, for it increased his strength. When he had to fight for possession of a juicy bone, temper flashed in his brain, his brain sent a message to his adrenal glands, the glands doubled their output, and this secretion so stimulated him that his normal powers were multiplied for the emergency.

That arrangement was necessary. Temper was a life-saver.

But it was jungle equipment, and civilized man has outgrown the need of it.

We have outgrown numbers of primitive instincts and impulses, but unfortunately the capacity for them remains in us to make trouble. And those who wish to be civilized must spend the first third of their lives learning to control their jungle inheritance.

Children are like primitives. And you can't blame them for using their tempers. They have learned that a tantrum will pay a profit and they haven't learned to care about public opinion.

But temper in older people is a pretty bad sign. It means they haven't outgrown the tantrum habit. They are still childish, still primitive. They haven't acquired the sense of dignity, the breeding and the self-control that distinguish civilized people from the backwoods moron.

Temper is always shameful. When you give way to it in public you always feel as though you had exposed some hidden weakness and made a spectacle of yourself. Which you have.

You seem to have your red-head temperament under control, but I'm just warning you to play safe.

The man who gives way to temper seems an ass. The woman who does it seems common. The hallmark of breeding is poise, and poise doesn't kick the cat. Love,

DAD.

POLITICAL COMMENT

That Government Bank Plan.

Mandan (N. Dak.) Pioneer.

Remembering how easy it was when he as member of the North Dakota Industrial Commission succeeded in shifting $440,000 from the Bank of North Dakota to a shaky Fargo bank, William Lemke, now representative, is proposing the organization of the Bank of the United States. Lemke tells member of Congress and the press that the Bank of North Dakota has saved the people of this State millions and millions of dollars. There is only one thing wrong with this statement. It isn't so. When Lemke's faction took hold of the government in North Dakota, the bonded indebtedness of the State was $200,000, and we had the money to pay the bonds when they came due. After establishing the Bank of North Dakota, giving it license to make farm loans, to use deposits for any purpose the industrial commission saw fit, the State has made such great progress that its population has increased 2 per cent. Where taxes on a quarter section of land were $10 to $12, we pride ourselves with paying $60 to $75 taxes on the same quarter. Where the State owed $200,000 in bonds in 1916, we now owe $40,000,000. Have we made progress? We'll say we have.

Chalk Up Two.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The movement toward repeal can not be gauged accurately from the results in Michigan and Wisconsin, the first two States to vote on the question. In Wisconsin the vote was 4 to 1 for repeal, and in Michigan 3 to 1. The State conventions will be nearly 100 per cent for repeal.

There are 46 States left to vote on the question. Some of them are doubtful and some are probably dry in sentiment. The spectacular outcome in the first States to vote, however, indicates that the tide has turned to repeal in greater proportion than was evident from miscellaneous indexes.

More Work for Economy League.

Kansas City Star.

Virtually from the time that the National Economy League became active a year ago, it was charged that the organization was directed particularly, if not solely, against expenditures for veterans. Any feeling of that nature ought to be materially softened by the announcement of the league chairman, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, that the organization now is to go right ahead with its work, and more vigorously than ever.

The national economy act, shortly to be administered by the President, will effect perhaps even greater veteran savings than the league advocated, together with those from Government reorganization and other changes.

One Vast Problem.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Traced through in its largest implications, the question of stagnant business activity is inescapably a world-wide problem. The administration recognizes this important fact and is preparing a program in which the leading commercial nations of the world can cooperate. The major efforts in such a program are likely to be (1) the modification of tariffs to permit resumption of world trade, (2) the removal of exchange restrictions so that importers can pay for their purchases more readily, (3) joint efforts of the governments to raise prices of commodities in world trade, (4) readjustment of international debts in line with present price levels, and (5) cooperation in reducing the burden of armament costs.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Tennessee Valley Project Stirs Up Thoughts of Political Whirligig, Switching Jefferson and Hamilton.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In an April 10 news article I read that the Muscle Shoals bill as a starter "creates a Tennessee Valley Authority empowered to borrow $100,000,000 through 40-year 4 per cent bonds." It sounds Hamiltonian and goes to show what a whirligig politics is in a 100-year view of it. It is only a few years past—it seems only yesterday—when as a kid I got my first kick out of politics, not exactly understanding what it all meant as Democratic stump speakers and editors viewed with alarm the Hamiltonian policies of the Republican party. Although he showed the young republic how to get out of a hole funding and refunding public debts, they could not figure out how a public debt could be a public blessing, and, in the eyes of the party of Jefferson, Hamilton was the "painted devil" of centralization.

Jefferson himself did not consider it good policy to burden the future with bonded indebtedness. Such was the state of politics when I was a young citizen. And today I am startled by the proposal, in the name of Democracy, that the proper way to restore prosperity is by the bonded flotation of a national debt of billions of dollars which is likely to carry on into the next century.

Please do not mistake me. The change in our form of government involved in the Tennessee Valley plan may be altogether for the best. But wouldn't it be a great joke on Hamilton and Jefferson if, as a result of Democracy's new deal, the Republican party should become the party of Jeffersonian States rights and local self-government? FEDERALIST.

Mr. Ayers Suggests a Farm Problem to Members of Congress.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The new farm bill proposing to pay the farmer "the cost of production plus a reasonable profit" has all the earmarks of another embalmed beef scandal and veterans' compensation iniquity rolled into one. If Simpson puts this farmers' relief measure over, he will have made Mark Hanna look like a piker.

The Democratic members of Congress corrected most of the abuses of the veterans' compensation act, but now proceed to pass a bill many times more inequitable and impracticable. However, the chances are, should the deal prove as expensive as the veterans' compensation laws did, it could lose them many votes and result in a Republican majority in both houses within two years.

I put this problem up to Congress: Farmer "A" has 160 acres he bought in 1910 for $100 an acre. He paid down $50 an acre in cash and made a mortgage for the remainder at 8 per cent. Being a good farmer and a conservative one, he was able to pay off the entire mortgage at the end of 1920. Now up to the present year he has put no further mortgage on his farm and by frugal management is still in the clear, with an up-to-date equipment.

Farmer "B" bought 160 acres in 1919 for $200 an acre. He paid down $50 an acre in cash and made a mortgage for the remainder at 8 per cent. Not being a good farmer and rather inclined to experiment, he has been unable to pay off any part of his mortgage up to 1933, and his equipment is 50 per cent depreciated.

How will the Secretary of Agriculture measue the cost of production of these two farmers? There are several millions of farms in the United States on each of which production costs must be calculated, and I therefore ask how many "production experts" will it take to work out this gigantic problem?

GROVER AYERS.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Won't some one speak out for the dog? To quote from an article in Popular Mechanics by Albert Payson Terhune, of all the absurd legends about dogs, the mad dog scare is the worst.

The disease of rabies exists. But it is almost as rare as leprosy. Not one supposedly mad dog in thousands is really hydrophobic. Moreover, a rabid dog is a desperately sick dog, often too sick and too dazed to go far out of his way to assail any one.

Among the myriad and senseless theories about dogs, two have always stood out as supposed tests of rabies: That a dog which foams at the mouth is mad, and that an early symptom of rabies is a dog's refusal to drink water. Both are lies. A dog may foam at the mouth or may slaver from any of a dozen trivial causes, which range from indigestion to temporary nervousness. Also, if a dog refuses to drink water, there is just one genuine cause for refusal, namely, that he is not thirsty.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Are we waiting in vain to hear again the Marine and Navy bands over the radio? Why did the Musicians' Union leave the Army Band on the air? What is gained by silencing the two other Federal bands?

The members of the union must feel very proud of themselves to have deprived thousands of hospital patients, suffering invalids and other shut-ins of the delight and comfort of listening to fine music. Perhaps the union is intending to substitute some of its own work for the music of the "masters" which is so dear to all who must remain indoors with their sorrows and pain.

I hope that the Marine and Navy bands will soon be restored to their waiting friends of the radio.

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARRON.

New York.—One of the bankers who sit in on the inner circles of Wall street has a fascinating hobby for amusing his friends. Over the after-dinner coffee he will select one of his guests and tell him to think of something—a number, a certain card, a poem or anything similar and write it down on a piece of paper.

After the guest does this, the banker tells him to call a certain number on the telephone and when a voice answers, to ask: "What am I thinking of?"

This the guest does, and is much surprised to hear the voice repeat word for word what is written on the paper. The voice is always correct.

The explanation is that the voice belongs to a mind reader who gets a regular fee from the banker just to amaze his guests that way.

Panoramic New York.

New York is a show of varied facets. Its panorama constantly changes so that it always is reminding one of somewhere else. Perhaps, that is why it is usually the favorite city of that restless tribe of vagabonds who are always poking into strange ports.

The verdant, sunny neighborhood, with its smart shops, at the lower end of Central Park always brings a nostalgia to those who yearn for Paris.

Even the Tropics.

San Juan Hill, that adventurous and eerie suburb to Harlem, is a perfect duplicate, as far as atmosphere and people are concerned, to any number of out-of-way tropical ports.

The docks on South Street, where mostly fruit boats and small Spanish steamers anchor, have a definite flavor of the New Orleans waterfront about them.

Yorktown, a German neighborhood up on Second Avenue, will make one homesick for the rathskellers and bakeries of Bremen.

As for Broadway, well, there's only one place that it will remind you of—that's Coney Island.

Another sign of spring: The flower boxes have been restored to the windows of that pioneer brownstone mansion which still holds its lonely own amid the modernistic shops at Forty-seventh street and Fifth avenue.

Anti-Trust Suit Aimed At Southern Dismissed

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday dismissed its antitrust action aimed at the Southern Railway Co.'s ownership of stock in the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Co. and the New Orleans & Northeastern Railroad Co.

Both of these holdings constituted virtually complete ownership of the roads and the commission expressed the belief that such ownership tended to decrease competition between the Southern and the two lines. The commission yesterday merely issued a one-sentence statement saying the action had been dismissed. Since the complaint was filed the Mobile & Ohio has gone into receivership.

BOARD IS REELECTED BY SERIAL BUILDING

Enterprise Association Also Names Same Officers for Fiscal Year.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Reelection of the following officers and directors of Enterprise Serial Building Association was announced yesterday following the forty-first annual meeting of the organization. They are: President, James E. Connelly; vice president, John T. Crowley; secretary, James F. Shea; treasurer, G. Percy McGlue.

The directors of the association are George I. Borger, Dr. James A. Cahill, jr., Martin A. Cook, Bernard R. Edwards, Maurice Fitzgerald, P. F. Hannan, Ralph A. Judd, Michael A. Keane, M. J. Keane, Edward T. Kehoe, sr., Fred Kraus and P. T. Niland.

The report of the association shows that its assets are now $1,394,857.94, an increase of $50,142.84 over the past year. There were 7,181 new shares subscribed for last year. This is an increase of 12 per cent over the previous year and a new record in shares subscribed.

70th Series Starts.

The "Enterprise" is a serial building association issuing stock semiannually in April and October of each year and is now receiving subscriptions to stock in the seventieth series.

All of the present officers have had more than 30 years service in the association and several of the directors have served more than 25 years. The experience of these men has been very helpful to the association during its 41 years of operation.

The association, according to its officials, encourages systematic monthly payments, which are accumulated into a fund and loaned to members who wish to borrow money so that they may pay for their homes in easy monthly payments. Thus the person saving systematically in the association is not only acquiring habits of thrift, but is helping a fellow member to acquire a home, as most of the money received from members is invested in homes.

Dividend Is Declared.

The association declared its annual dividend of 5 per cent. It has never had to take in any property from its borrowers and has never sustained a loss, its officials remind. The Enterprise is a member of the Building Association Council of the District of Columbia and a member of the United States Building and Loan League.

Despite the intervention of bank holidays and the tendency to hoard, which preceded the national shutdown in March, trade was not as badly affected as might have been expected. As reflected in the current Consumer Index just issued by Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis, with local offices, it appears that February might have been a definitely satisfactory month were it not for the exchange difficulties which partially paralyzed a large section of the country prior to the national emergency.

Retail buying was notably unaffected, with the index staying as high as it had been in January. However, this item showed a distinct decline from the corresponding month of a year previous, with the index standing at 59 in contrast to 78 in February, 1932. Auto buying also made a relatively favorable showing when contrasted with the preceding month, being at approximately the same level, but was down slightly from a year before. Cost of living reflected a further drop in prices, but it is expected by Investors Syndicate that figures for March will show a reversal of this long-time trend.

Increase in Loadings Aids Shop Employment

Albany, N. Y., April 14 (A.P.).—A steady rise in carloadings, requiring more rolling stock has resulted in the peak of employment for the past several years being reached at the West Albany shops of the New York Central Railroad. Approximately 2,000 men have been employed in the shops since April 3.

The Delaware & Hudson Railroad announced today that shipments of anthracite the last month totaled 436,205 net tons, an increase of 7,000 tons from February.

Cotton Advances Attributed To Commodity Price Outlook

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—The cotton market has advanced during the past week on a continuation of the recent buying movement attributed to expectations of higher prices for commodities generally as a result of relief legislation or possibly more inflationary measures in Washington.

After selling up about 50 points from the low price touched on the reactions of late last month the market met considerable realizing. It was absorbed on moderate reactions, however, and prices reached the highest levels of the week during today's trading, July contracts selling at 6.94 were 64 points above the recent low level and within 16 points of the high price touched when the market here reopened for business right after the banking holiday on March 16.

The absence of Southern selling in any appreciable volume has increased the sensitiveness of the market to buying orders, with reports from the South indicating a slow business in spot cotton, but a generally firm basis with little offering from the interior.

Gifford Reports Fewer Phones Disconnected in Quarter.

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. today reported for the quarter ended March 31, net income, after all charges, of $32,055,227, equivalent to $1.72 a share on the outstanding capital stock. In the same quarter last year the company had net income of $38,879,531 or $2.08 a share.

Dividends received from the associated Bell companies for the quarter amounted to $31,184,995. These dividends, the company stated, were not as a whole fully earned by about $7,500,000. In the March quarter last year dividends received amounted to $35,174,104, which were not as a whole fully earned by about $5,000,000.

Walter S. Gifford, in a statement accompanying the report, said:

"Compared with the preceding quarter there were fewer telephone disconnections during the quarter just ended, but as there were also fewer telephones installed there was a net loss in the three months of 340,000 telephones.

"On March 31 there were 13,450,000 Bell System telephones in service, which was 2,225,000 less than the maximum number reached in 1930. The number of toll and long distance calls during the quarter was 20 per cent less than in the same period last year."

New York, April 13 (A.P.).—Utah Copper Co. reports a 1932 net loss of $2,469,703 before depletion against net income of $2,027,149 before depletion and special charges in 1931. The company is 98 per cent owned by the Kennecott Copper Corporation.

Jewel Tea Sales Drop In March to $736,815

Chicago, April 14 (A.P.).—A decrease of 17.56 per cent in sales of the Jewel Tea Co., Inc., for the four weeeks ended March 25, as compared to the same period in 1932, was announced today by M. H. Karker, president.

Sales for the 1933 period amounted to $736,815.28, with an average number of sales routes of 1,344, as compared to sales of $893,725.15 for 1932, when the sales routes averaged 1,337.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Copper—Improvement in prices resulting from a flurry of speculative buying early in the week gave way to some reaction at the eve of the Good Friday holiday. The trade continues to await signs of a definite agreement among producers on the question of temporary suspension of production.

Wash goods—Retailers were less active buyers in the past week, but some converters are said to have reported a satisfactory business.

Tin—Affected as usual by the trend of the pound sterling tin quotations advanced sharply this week. Some trade interests reported a moderate amount of business done at the top prices, which represented the high for the year to date.

Flour—This commodity in the past week enjoyed the sharpest price advance for some time, but traders asserted that no corresponding increase in demand made its appearance. Consumers generally were content to order out their contracts, it was said.

Cocoa—Moving with other commodities, cocoa prices rose moderately just before the holiday, but trade interests expressed the opinion that the improvement was based on speculative rather than trade buying.

Steel—Local jobbers say that this district has yielded fewer sales than some Western regions, but they concede improvement in demand for tin plate and sheets.

THE METAL MARKETS.

TIN—Firm; spot and nearby, 25.87; future, 25.80.

Packing Products Sale Volume Up

Libby, McNeill & Libby Report Heavy Drop in Prices.

Chicago, April 13 (A.P.).—Libby, McNeill & Libby reported today that its sales volume in cases of goods marketed during the last fiscal year was only a little below that of the peak year. Dollar volume was low, however, President E. G. McDougall reporting that average prices were about 40 per cent below 1929.

The packing house sustained net loss of $6,248,477 for the year ended March 4, compared with net loss of $4,981,945 for the preceding fiscal year. Current assets were reported as $25,347,323, against current liabilities of $11,068,624.

Mr. McDougall said that production had been curtailed and "the most burdensome of surplus stocks have been greatly reduced or cleared from the market." He felt it reasonable to expect "more normal conditions will be established at higher price levels for both raw materials and finished products."

Pacific Coast Cargoes Of Oil Holding Volume

Los Angeles, April 14 (A.P.).—Preliminary estimates by the oil producers' sales agency indicated the first-quarter offshore tanker shipments of petroleum and petroleum products of the Pacific Coast in 1933 held fairly even with the same period of 1932.

The 1933 estimate was 13,053,149 barrels, compared to an actual shipment of 13,254,845 barrels in the first quarter of 1932.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—State and municipal financing scheduled for next week totals $9,094,689, the Daily Bond Buyer reports. This week's total was $6,408,085, against a weekly average for the year to date of $10,346,553.

Shipments of pneumatic casings in February amounted to 2,292,463 units, against 2,596,585 in January and 2,552,861 in February, 1932, the Rubber Manufacturers Association reported today. Production during the month was 2,339,373, against 2,257,846 in January and 3,871,220 a year ago. Inventories amounted to 7,376,946, against 7,236,845 and 9,172,245.

New York State savings banks had 5,761,073 depositors on April 1, an increase of 15,256 as compared with the beginning of the year, the Savings Banks Association of the State reported today. Total deposits of $5,208,374,227 were 1.8 per cent below those of January 1.

Good Friday found a general suspension of business in financial markets in this country and leading foreign centers. Several of the American commodity markets will remain closed until Monday.

Three New York Stock Exchange firms, Wilcox, Drake & Co., R. V. Hiscoe & Co. and T. F. Scholl & Co., have dissolved. None has offices outside New York City.

Crude oil deliveries by nine pipe line companies representing the old Standard group totaled 20,955,350 barrels in the first quarter. This compares with 23,170,985 barrels during the same period of 1932. March deliveries totaled 7,011,083 against 6,153,979 in February and 8,019,935 in March, 1932.

An effort to prevent future "corners" is being made by the New York Stock Exchange, it was learned today, through the making of agreements with large holders of shares whereby stock will be made available for lending purposes at any time the exchange believes it is necessary. Agreements are in the form of letters to the exchange, signed by principal stockholders of a corporation at the time application is made for listing the stock. The stockholders agree that in the event of "a condition arising approaches that of a corner" that the stock will be made available "to neutralize such condition," either by lending or selling.

EXPANSION OF TRADE SEEN MAKING START

Dun & Bradstreet's Report Shows Solid Basis for Recovery.

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—Influenced by the expanding force of an upward seasonal trend, developments this week "have contributed constructively to the broader forward movement in nearly all branches of trade," Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

"Progress has been spurred," the review stated, "by the appearance of indices to show that expansion now is resting on a solid basis, which will fortify it against any abrupt setbacks or recessions other than those of brief duration.

"While trade expansion during the week was most marked in wholesale and retail distribution, there was a reflection of higher manufacturing schedules in the increase in the number of employed and the decrease in the number of relief beneficiaries which dropped for the first time since fall."

Retail buying this week was the largest since the Christmas shopping season, and in many stores volume ran ahead of that for the busiest days of December, the review said.

"The rebound in steel operations is particularly significant, as it is viewed as a reflection of the more rapid stride at which general commercial activity is moving. Under the stimulus of the spring demand and the feeling of confidence which has followed as a sequence of the establishment of sound banking facilities, the automobile industry is entering a period of broad revival. Thousands of workers have been recalled to the leading factories, and motor truck plants are working overtime to catch up with orders on hand. The banking situation still is operating as a retardative factor in many directions, but the effects of the moratorium gradually are disappearing in many directions.

Veterans Ask Jobs In Forestry Army

Indianapolis, April 14 (A.P.).—Louis Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, said today he has requested the Federal Government to extend the age limit for men who will be employed in the emergency reforestation program.

The age limit is from 18 to 25, and Mr. Johnson said he has pointed out that needy World War veterans who would be of assistance in organization and discipline will be barred because of that limit.

He said he has forwarded his request to President Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Perkins.

House Lacks Beer; Promised Monday

(Associated Press.)

"What, no beer?"

That was the question asked by hundreds of disappointed representatives and guests as they sat down to luncheon yesterday in the House restaurant.

It had been reported that beer would be served yesterday, but Frank Verdi, manager, said he was late in receiving formal instructions to buy it.

"I'll have plenty of beer Monday," he said.

The House Accounts Committee ruled that it was necessary for a Government establishment to obtain a permit from the District of Columbia to sell beer.

Hog Prices Higher.

Chicago, April 14 (A.P.).—Higher prices were paid for hogs, semiholiday conditions trimming supplies sufficiently to give sellers the edge in the day's market. Offerings in 12 leading markets were 32,008 lighter than on the previous Friday.

BERLIN BOND STATUS LAID TO TRADE EBB

Drop in Balances Blamed for Fluctuation; New Rates Feared.

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—Recent erratic performances of German dollar bonds on the New York Stock Exchange have resulted in investment houses being flooded with inquiries about them.

Prices of most German issues listed here recently have dropped to the lowest levels of the year, with the heaviest trading taking place in the Government 5½s. State, municipal and corporation maturities have displayed exceptionally heavy tones.

Dealers are of the opinion that weakness of German loans has been caused largely by fears that the country's export surplus, under existing conditions, may not be sufficient to maintain full service on all external bonds. In such an event some sort of reduction in interest payments might be proposed or, at the worst, a moratorium declared.

Both Chancellor Hitler and Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, have stated that the country's credit position will be preserved, but even they are said to realize that some readjustment of service charges might be necessary if trade balances fail to improve.

Last year the republic had a favorable balance of some 1,091,000,000 reichsmarks as compared with a similar balance in 1931 of 2,782,000,000.

For the first two months of 1933 the export surplus was only around 60,000,000 reichsmarks as compared with 199,000,000 reichsmarks in the same 1932 period.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—Cotton goods were steady with the business for the week in excess of current production in print cloths, narrow sheetings and other items.

Finished goods market was quiet. Rayon sold in moderate lots for May delivery. Bradsilks were in good call for immediate use. Women's wear fabrics for spring are being cleaned up steadily. Burlaps are firmer.

FACTS ABOUT THE

FRANKLIN AIR-COOLED ENGINE

During June, 1930, a FRANKLIN air-cooled engine installed in a 7-ton war tank thoroughly outperformed all water-cooled competitors. Not only was the fuel consumption of this six-cylinder engine approximately half of that of the water-cooled engines, but the air-cooled tank out-performed all ten of the water-cooled tanks in speed and hill climbing ability!

IN A WAR TANK
50% LESS FUEL

LESS VIBRATION
QUICKER TAKE-OFF

At Dayton, Ohio, December, 1929, a used "series 14" FRANKLIN air-cooled engine was installed in a stock Waco biplane. Although the airport was covered with mud and snow, the plane lifted into the air after a surprisingly short run. "Al" Johnson, the pilot, testified later with genuine enthusiasm, "It was the first time I had ever flown with a motor which did not shake the fuselage when the throttle was opened up. She performed beautifully."

These, and numerous other tests made under conditions no automobile engine was built to endure, prove the astounding efficiency of the FRANKLIN air-cooled design. In view of this enviable record of economy, performance and endurance, it is evident that a USED FRANKLIN CAR, such as the one pictured below, represents a real investment in fine motoring, combining thrift with quality and endless satisfaction.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

PREPARING AN END-PLAY.

A FORCED lead play is a means by which one or more tricks may frequently be gained by a study of the distribution of the hands and the elimination of a suit or suits from the hand of one or the other adversary, then forcing him into the lead when his choice of a card to return is limited in the way most favorable to the Declarer. The management of this situation is one which many bridge players find difficult, indeed.

The hand below, played in a recent Rubber game at Crockford's Club, New York, is a brilliant example of how a contract, otherwise unattainable, was made through the careful play of the cards until the chosen adversary was rendered entirely helpless.

North, Dealer.

	♠ K J 10 5 ♡ K 8 4 ◇ Q 6 ♣ A K Q 3
♠ 9 2 ♡ A 7 6 3 2 ◇ K 7 4 2 ♣ 9 8	N W E S	♠ A Q 7 6 ♡ J 5 ◇ J 8 3 ♣ J 10 6 2
	♠ 8 4 3 ♡ Q 10 9 ◇ A 10 9 5 ♣ 7 5 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1NT	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding does not require any particular comment. North and South have just about the minimum of strength to justify the hope of making the contract if everything is just so.

The opening lead by West was the heart 3, upon which a small heart was played from Dummy, East played the Knave and South won with the Queen. Many players at this point would stake the success of the hand upon an immediate finesse in the spade suit, counting upon making three or four clubs, two or three spades, two hearts and one diamond. However, this risks too much. The method adopted by the Declarer was much more accurate. He now led a small club, winning in the Dummy, and then led the Queen of diamonds. East, of course, played a small card and West's King was permitted to win. A heart was returned, the King winning in Dummy. Another diamond was led and the 9 finessed.

At this point it would have been unfortunate for South if West also held the diamond Knave, but when the 8 fell, the prospect of success appeared much brighter. The Ace dropped the Knave and another diamond trick was cashed. Now two more rounds of clubs were taken, and when West failed to follow suit, East, who was now marked with nothing but spades, was thrown in the lead with the last club and forced to lead up to the tenace in spades, giving the Declarer his contract.

It will be noticed that this is the only method of making the hand, aside from the lead of a small diamond to the Queen. Had the Declarer depended upon the spade finesse, he must have lost two spades and one diamond in addition to the long hearts in the West hand.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

CHILDREN who have just learned to walk are eager to practice the new accomplishment. Indeed, for a few months, merely trotting about without any particular objective seems to be the most intensely absorbing occupation for them.

The picture of such a youngster held by its mother's hand and being dragged along at a rate considerably faster than its short legs can easily manage is a thoroughly familiar one.

The child's arm is stretched upward to reach its mother's hand, and that hand, frequently none too gentle, often jerks upward still another several inches to urge the child forward, or help him to step up over a curb or an obstacle.

A doctor working in a pediatric clinic states that not infrequently children have been brought in to her suffering from injuries to the elbow, caused by having their arms pulled up suddenly when walking with their mothers.

Very little children should not be taken walking by grown-ups unless these are willing to take all the time necessary to let the child walk at its own pace and stop to rest and look about him now and then.

Where it is necessary to take a small child walking down a busy street it is a good idea to let him wear the sort of harness that children use when they "play horsie."

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A WOMAN is as lovely as her lingerie!

Somehow it has this exact effect on her, too. To know that one is wearing nice lingerie is to feel nice—and lovely and alluring. Then there is the important item of how that underwear fits you know—how it fits under your frock, and how it shows through the frock—that is, whether the lingerie fits so that it doesn't show at all!

Styles in silhouette never change in outer garments without changing in lingerie, too. Today we have tight little shorts—sometimes called "scanties" that would have seemed positively indecent to grandmother in her lawn frilled and knee length drawers. But aren't our shorts, worn with a brassiere, a chemise or vest, and a costume slip, ever so much more appropriate to today's styles in frocks?

The all-in-one undergarment is another practical and very nice piece of lingerie that is the mode of the day. One of my own design incorporates a brassiere, chemise and panties all in one—and the brassiere is adequate, too. One opens this all down one side—and that is its only drawback, if you are in a hurry! If you are in a hurry another chemise is step-into-able—and no fastenings. However, it doesn't fit the figure as well as the first one, so your choice has to be according to what kind of a dress you are wearing atop either of these.

'Nif you're worrying the least little bit about what new lingerie costs—well, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Post for a grand combination leaflet which tells you how to make all our favorite lingerie.

What Today Means

"ARIES."

IF April 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you one this date are from 3:30 p. m. to 5 p. m., from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. and from 11:15 p. m. to 11:50 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:45 a. m. to 11:50 a. m. and from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m.

News of an important or interesting sort may come from a great distance on this April 15, possibly from a foreign land. If you are anxious concerning the outcome of a business deal, it would seem that influences are operating in a right way toward its solution.

The child born on this April 15 will form habits early in life that will be difficult to overcome later on. This child must be taught obedience and must be made to do and speak rightly. He will be much of an imitator, but will not have sufficient discretion in the choice of his models.

If April 15 is the date of your birth, you are careful in all of your thoughts and deeds to give "the other fellow" all that is coming to him.

Born on April 15, you are not a particularly hard worker, but you know how to conserve your energies, how to direct them along right paths and how to make your work count. You save both time and money. You are a prudent person in all matters. When you do battle in business affairs, you lay your plans well, you know the personnel of those on your side as well as that of the opposition, and you follow up every advantage to the fullest extent. You are possessed of a will to win.

Successful people born on April 15: Horace Porter, soldier and promoter. Henry James, jr., novelist and critic. William B. Parsons, civil engineer. Abbott F. Graves, artist.

The Meanderer

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

If shoppers among the lovely blooms in the narcissus show in a big F street department store heed the suggestion of the poet to sell their bread for narcissus, there should be a dearth of bread for many Washington households. For narcissus bulbs are selling by the many dozens. The fragrant lure of the blossoms exhibiting in many hundreds of blossoms and varieties has kept throngs visiting the flower-bedecked corner. Today is the last day of the narcissus show. Many of the blossoms which have been shown as specimens will be sold by the dozens today, some of them for as little as 15 cents a dozen.

Large pastry roll bunnies which have a hard cooked egg baked inside them are a fast-selling novelty in a popular bake shop on upper Fourteenth street northwest. The bunnies sell for 15 cents.

A cheese and rye bread, selling for 10 cents a loaf, is a popular seller, too, in the bakery just mentioned. Grated cheese baked in rye bread makes the bread unique and a favorite for beer suppers.

Potato chips, almost necessary for the week-end supper, sell for 40 cents a pound in a specialty shop in the big market on Fourteenth street at Park road. In the same shop large net bags of fresh roasted peanuts are 10 cents; a sandwich spread made of a famous brand of ham is just 25 cents; the old-fashioned Trenton crackers are available, as are toasted bread crumbs, 10 cents a package and the new larger size packages of Italian bread sticks for 10 cents.

Freshly grated cocoanut from only the best of tropical cocoanuts sells for 45 cents a pound in another stand in the big northwest market, where homemade products are also important offerings. There freshly made delicious mints in all colors sell for 50 cents a pound. They may be ordered in any color the customer desires, if the order is placed the day before the mints are needed.

Fresh dates from California, which are about twice as large as dried dates, have arrived in a big new shipment in a health food shop near the big northwest open market. The dates northwest open market. The dates are known as Deglet Noor dates, formerly imported from French markets, but now successfully grown in California.

Pickles in steins from a famous canning house cost only 27 cents, or three for 75 cents, making it possible for the pickle fancier to collect a beer set economically.

Baby rabbits are selling today for as little as 50 cents each at a well-known poultry dealer's in the Southwest. Frying chickens for the Easter feast retail at 28 cents a pound in this poultry market.

Honey for the Easter breakfast waffles should be bought in a 5-pound pail for economy. The Meanderer found the best of Western alfalfa clover honey selling in 5-pound pails for 90 cents in a health food shop on upper Fourteenth street northwest.

Women's Peace League For Early Conference

Geneva, April 14 (A.P.).—With Miss Emily Balch, of Boston, representing the American group, the women's International League for peace today voted to urge President Roosevelt to convoke the world's economic conference at the earliest, with all delegations prepared to make sacrifices in the interest of the whole.

The league recommends a reduction in tariffs, declares that generous concessions in the problems of the world are best and asks the inclusion of qualified women in the delegations to protect the interests of consumers.

WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

By ANN BARRETT

WITH chicken selling at such a modest price this season, it's bound to be more than ever the favorite for Easter dinner. Stuffed up almost as proud as the Christmas turkey. But in a spring setting—say, of new potatoes, fresh asparagus, watercress and cucumber salad. And followed by a dessert that carries out traditional Easter colors (lavender and yellow), a molded grape juice Bavarian with sliced sponge cake.

There's a dinner most anyone would root for, I think. But particularly former Postmaster General Walter Folger Brown, who has such a liking for the masterpieces to be made from chicken he even takes a hand at preparing them himself.

As you may guess, the first step in turning out a good roast chicken is to choose a plump, young bird (about 4 pounds) that hasn't yet become hardened with life. A flexible breastbone and soft feet are likely indications of youth. A good meat man will do all the disagreeable work of cleaning the bird, even to pulling out the endons in the legs. Then just wash the chicken well, dry it with a clean cloth, sprinkle the inside with salt, and it's ready for the stuffing.

Savory Chicken Stuffing.

Now, just in case you'd like the recipe for such a stuffing—all savoried up with tasty seasonings—here it is: Two cups stale bread crumbs, 2 cups cracker crumbs, ½ cup melted butter (or half butter and bacon fat), 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 tablespoons minced celery leaves, ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1 cup hot water (or half water and half stock). Just mix in order given.

You'll want to put part of this stuffing into the neck-part of the chicken, and part in the lower opening. Don't pack it in too tightly, for it should have room to expand.

Roasting of Chicken.

When you've got the bird stuffed and sewed up, it's important to truss it well—bringing the legs and wings close to the body, and holding them there with skewers thrust through the body. Strong white cord run between the skewers and fastened tightly 'round the drumsticks will finish the job. This trussing not only holds the chicken in shape but prevents it from drying out.

Next, rub the chicken all over with salt and butter (or bacon fat), put it in an open roasting pan, and put this into a hot oven (450). Roast it at this temperature till it is nicely browned (about 15 minutes), basting it frequently with ¼ cup butter dissolved in 2-3 cup boiling water. Then reduce heat to 350, and continue roasting and basting till chicken is done (about 30 minutes to the pound).

Giblet Gravy.

If you like chicken giblets as much as Henry Ford does, you've laid plans for a rich, brown giblet-gravy to keep that chicken company. In other words, you've washed the heart, gizzard, liver (and neck), and put them all (except the liver) in a saucepan with a small onion and 2 cups cold water. These you cook gently (while chicken is roasting) till they are tender (at least 1 hour). Then add the chicken liver and cook 15 minutes more. Next, take out the giblets and chop them. Strain the water for gravy.

Remove the chicken to a hot platter. Pour off all the fat except 4 tablespoons. Blend into this 4 tablespoons of flour, letting it brown (but not burn). Add enough water to the giblet water to make 2 cups and stir this into flour and fat gradually, stirring constantly till gravy is thick and smooth. Then add chopped giblets, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Grape Juice Bavarian.

As an ending to this Easter dinner, I think grape juice Bavarian so A-plus I'll give you the recipe for that, too.

Start with 1 package of lemon-flavored gelatin dissolved in boiling water. (Use warm water for the new quick gelatin.) When this is cool, add 1 cup good grape juice, and set the bowl in a pan of ice or cold water. When the mixture begins to set, beat it with a rotary beater till it's like whipped cream. Next, whip 1½ cups cream, and add to it 3 tablespoons powdered sugar. Save out ½ cup of this whipped cream for garnishing. Fold the rest into the gelatin mixture, and chill in 1 large mold or in individual molds till Bavarian is firm.

Send for More Recipes.

Maybe you'd like to have further directions for cooking chicken—in dishes such as chicken gumbo, chicken and mushrooms in casserole. Ways to cook duck, too—such as smothered duck with hominy croquettes and sweet-sour cabbage, roast duck with oranges. These (along with tips on roasting fowl and fitting them into tasty menus to enjoy right now) are all in our new bulletin, "Chicken and Duck in Tempting Dishes." If you'd like this bulletin, please send 3-cent stamped, addressed envelope.

Crumpets Recipe Receives $5 Prize

A recipe for crumpets, a light, delicious edible that should fit in well with the spring days, entered by Mrs. Mary V. Duvall, Box 317, Edmonston, Md., wins The Post's $5 prize this week.

Mrs. Duvall supplements the crumpet recipe with one for meringo sirup. The ingredients used in both recipes are advertised on The Post's food page. This is a requirement for all future entries in the weekly recipe contest.

The recipe follows:

The night before required, make a light dough of a pint of white flour, a teaspoonful of salt, teaspoonful of pure lard, two tablespoonfuls of liquid yeast. Work well and set aside to rise. In the morning, take a pint of milk and add the yolks and whites of three fresh eggs, beaten separately. Mix with this one spoonful of powdered sugar, adding lastly two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Bake in small cakes (they puff up) on a hot griddle, and serve at once with meringo, made as follows:

Place two dozen squares of loaf sugar in a saucepan, cover with wine vinegar and when melted bring to a sirup by boiling, then add a lump of butter the size of a guinea egg, and serve hot.

Ingredients used in this recipe are Unico flour, United Food Stores, Inc.; Land o' Lakes butter, Sanico fresh eggs and pure lard purchased from Sanitary Grocery.

Sutter Faces Lott in Net Finals

PINEHURST, N. C., April 14 (A.P.).—Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, and George M. Lott, of Chicago, two veteran court players, meet here tomorrow for the North and South tennis championship.

Survivors of a field that included several of the Nation's ranking stars, each topped off preliminary play with straight-set victories in today's semifinals.

Sutter, playing a hard, smashing game, turned back J. Gilbert Hall, of Orange, N. J., 6—3, 8—6, 6—4. Lott beat Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, 6—3, 6—3, 6—3.

Lott in Good Form.

Hall had small success in his net play against Sutter and the New Orleans youth, seeded first, had better luck returning drives.

Lott, seeded fifth, was too strong for the diminutive Grant, although the Georgian apparently was not at his best. Grant improved in the final set and Lott had him at match point, 5—1, three times before ending the set.

Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. P. B. Hawk, of New York, advanced to the finals in the women's singles. Mrs. Van Ryn defeated Miss Eliza Coxe, of Asheville, 6—1, 7—5. Mrs. Hawk eliminated Miss Florence Le Boutillier, of Westbury, Long Island, 6—1, 5—7, 8—6. The finals will be played tomorrow.

Play in the mixed doubles was as follows: First round: Mrs. P. B. Hawk, of New York, and G. C. Shafer, of Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. Donald Sherford, of Pinehurst, and Edward King, of Newport, R. I., 6—0, 6—1.

Quarter-finals: Miss Florence Leboutillier, of Westbury, Long Island, and Elmer Griffin, of San Francisco, won by default from Mrs. Richard Tufts, of Pinehurst, and Herbert Hall, of Glen Cove, Long Island; Miss Eliza Coxe, of Asheville, N. C., and Berkeley Bell defeated Mrs. Hawk and Shafer, 6—4, 6—1.

Semifinals: Mr. and Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, defeated Miss Barbara Stoddard, of New York, and J. Gilbert Hall, of Orange, N. J., 6—3, 8—6; Miss Coxe and Bell defeated Miss Leboutillier and Griffin, 8—6, 6—3.

In yesterday's double, the Y pair defeated Perry McLean and Sam Goldberg, 5-21, 21-15, 21-8, and Jack Kosowsky and Jack Schwartz, J. C. C., defeated Tom Charahee and Randie Myers, 21-0, 21-9.

Black Bill, Ex-Boxer, Dies From Own Shot

New York, April 14 (U.P.).—Eladia Valdez, 27, known to boxing as Black Bill, died in Harlem Hospital today of a bullet wound, self-inflicted last Saturday.

Black Bill was nearly blind. After a promising early career in the ring he began to lose his eyesight. He said it was the result of having resin rubbed in his eyes in a bout at Havana.

When police found him last Saturday in his basement home, he pushed them away. "I'm nearly blind. I can't fight any more. I am good for nothing and it is better I die."

Red Sox Bow To Ruffing's Home Run

NEW YORK, April 14 (A.P.). Charley Ruffing put a story-book finish on a five-hit mound duel with Bob Weiland today and gave the Yankees their second straight victory over the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 2.

Ruffing came up after an error and two passes had filled the bases with two out in the ninth and clouted the first pitch into the right-field bleachers for a home run.

Ruffing fanned nine and contributed an earlier double to his triumph. Lou Gehrig tied the score for the Yanks in the sixth with his second homer in two days.

Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

DODGERS WIN FROM PHILS AGAIN, 7-1

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 (A.P.).—Walter Beck, the big right-hander from Memphis, made an auspicious National League debut and Johnny Frederick made things look very tough for Hack Wilson's hopes of playing right field for Brooklyn today as the Dodgers turned back the Phillies for the second time, 7 to 1.

Beck kept the hard-hitting Phils completely subjugated, giving them only seven hits and fanning five.

The Dodgers, meanwhile, pounded their former teammate, Austin "Cy" Moore, and his successors Hansen and Chabowski for fifteen hits. Frederick set the pace by pasting a homer and three singles in his first four trips to the plate.

In the big fifth Dan Taylor started things off with a single, Joe Stripp hit for two bases and Frank O'Doul followed with a single to bring them both home. Frederick then drove over the right field wall for a homer and two more runs.

Brooklyn added another pair of tallies in the seventh on four straight singles by O'Doul, Frederick, Judge and Cucinello.

Schmeling Arrives, Saying Hitler, Himself, Is Fight Fan

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, April 14 (A.P.).—Max Schmeling, young warrior who fights Max Baer here on June 8, arrived from Germany today, bringing with him reports of peace in his fatherland and of the plan of Chancellor Hitler to make boxing compulsory in the nation's schools and colleges.

"Sport," said Schmeling, "is international. It has nothing to do with politics, races and creeds. I saw no cruelties against Jews in Germany. My country never was more quiet and peaceful. Many of my neighbors in Berlin are Jews and my manager, Joe Jacobs, is a Jew. There is no question between sport and a national problem."

Hitler Is Fight Fan, He Says.

Chancellor Hitler, he said, is a fight fan himself and shortly will announce his program for compulsory boxing in elementary schools, high schools and colleges. If his fight with Baer, who is part Jewish, were to take place in Germany rather than the Yankee Stadium, Hitler would be at the ringside, Schmeling insisted.

The young Teuton returned here for the first time since losing his heavyweight title to Jack Sharkey last summer, in the same fine physical condition in which he left in the midst of the controversy that raged for weeks over the decision against him. He has been training steadily in Germany and weighs about 190 pounds. After a short exhibition tour he will start training May 1 at Lake Swannanoa, N. J.

Return of German Gala Occasion.

Schmeling's return to fight under the promotional banner of Jack Dempsey, who greatly resembles him in features and inspired him to a boxing career when they met years ago in Berlin, was a gala occasion.

It was like the old days, the golden days, when Tex Rickard was the promoter and Dempsey the greatest heavyweight of the day and the biggest drawing card in fighting history. But with the old man mauler around to talk fight, predict that either Schmeling of Baer certainly will be knocked out, and do the kidding, Max at times was all but lost in the shuffle.

Schmeling tried to avoid all political questions, insisting that he was a boxer and nothing more. He was far more eager to talk fight, but would make no prediction that he would beat Baer.

Faces Bout With Confidence.

"I'm looking forward to this bout with confidence," he said, "but I know Baer must be a good man or we wouldn't be matched. I saw him fight Johnny Risko. He is very big and strong, very tall. I want to win and stay here to fight Jack Sharkey again in September."

"I'm glad beer has come back to you," he said, as waiters brought bottles for guests into his hotel quarters. "It makes people happy and I like to see that. For me, I don't like beer. Milk is better."

British Will Probe Olympic Plaints

London, April 14 (U.P.).—An official inquiry into the complaints of British swimmers regarding treatment at the Olympic games at Los Angeles last August 18 is to be made late this month, it was learned today.

Miss Joyce Cooper, British women's swimming champion, has expressed the view that the food supplied the women competitors was "poor, tasteless and tough." The nature of the other complaints has not been made public.

The inquiry will be held by a special committee of the Amateur Swimming Association. This committee already has held a preliminary meeting, and all competitors and officials who went with the British swimming team are to be invited to the investigation.

"A number of complaints have been made," an official of the association said, "but they seem to be rather trivial. Women competitors are chiefly concerned."

Browns Buy Ed Wells, Southpaw, From Yanks

St. Louis, April 14 (A.P.).—Purchase of Pitcher Ed Wells, 6-foot southpaw, from the New York Yankees, was announced today by the St. Louis Browns. Wells was with Detroit from 1924 to 1927, with Birmingham the next two years, and then was signed by the Yankees, for whom he won 34 games and lost 17 in the last three seasons.

WEAVER DUE TO OPPOSE RED SOX

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER MARTY McMANUS and his revamped Boston Red Sox will visit our fair city this afternoon, and, although the City of Culture team happens to be in the cellar at this particular writing, indications are that this season the scribes will have to get along without referring to them as "lowly," as has been the case during the past few seasons.

With the mammoth Dale Alexander, league batting champion last year, being aided and abetted by such maulers as Marty McManus, Smead Jolley, Fats Fothergill and Johnny Hodapp, the Sox loom as an offensive threat against any pitcher. Although twice beaten by the Yankees, they outhit them in their opener Thursday and held their own at bat yesterday, when they were beaten in the ninth by Ruffin's homer.

"Prof." Monte Weaver, the league's most precocious rookie last season, makes his official 1933 debut in the box for the Nats today. Just whom Pilot McManus will call on is anybody's guess, for he has several ready and rarin' to go.

In poker, if you don't want to take part in the game you can pass and fans are wondering why Lefty Grove did not do this when it was his turn to hit yesterday. In his four times up, he popped once to the pitcher and fanned three times. Maybe he was conserving himself for his mound duties—and no one can say that he didn't do a good job in the box.

Lou Kolls, the newest ump, who was behind the plate yesterday, seemed to be having trouble with a lot of players who were testing out his mettle. He turned in quite a nice job. Even Joe Cronin admits this.

"The show must go on." This is an old stage axiom which also applies in baseball. Just before Wednesday's opening game, Mrs. Buddy Myer was rushed to the hospital suffering from appendicitis and an operation was feared. Yesterday, it was decided that she does not have to go under the knife, for a while at least. Meanwhile, the Nat second-sacker has been sticking to his job.

"I've got a bunch of hustling youngsters and can assure you that there is plenty of hitting power there. Just wait until they get set and I think you will find that the A's haven't lost much power as a result of their last fall's trades," said Mack.

Maybe so and then, again, maybe not. We shall see.

Irrespective of whether orthodox or "hook arm" pitchers face the Nats, Pilot Cronin plans to use the same line-up. "Until experience shows me that some of my regulars are weak against certain types of flingers, I'm figuring on using them every day," said the boy manager. "Of course, if any glaring weakness develops—and in view of the way the boys hit all kinds of pitching in training and to date, I don't anticipate anything of this kind—I may do a little experimenting. We're standing pat right now, though."

Kuhel was credited with a clean hit on his attempted suicide in the third, after Stewart had walked. Higgins came tearing in for the expected bunt

Injunction Issued To Raise Mat Ban

Chicago Promoter Carries Fight With Athletic Body to Court.

Chicago, April 14 (A.P.).—The order of the Illinois State Athletic Commission barring all professional wrestling from this State indefinitely following the match between Joe Savoldi and Jim Londos a week ago met with legal interference today.

Joe Triner, chairman of the commission, said he would go to the attorney general's office at Springfield early next week to seek to have the writ dissolved.

"We will make every effort to keep the ban on wrestling in effect," Chairman Triner said.

Indians Send Twogood, Hurler, to New Orleans

Toledo, Ohio, April 14 (A.P.).—The Toledo Club of the American Association today announced acquisition of Pitcher Forrest Twogood from the Cleveland Indians, Catcher Bob Asbjorson from the Cincinnati Reds and Infielder Mike Bellande from the New Orleans Pelicans. Pitcher Bill Rabb, of the Mud Hens, was released to Knoxville. The Mud Hens were badly in need of the new catcher, as Butch Henline and Manager Steve O'Neill, the regular receivers, are both on the injured list.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH

LADIES' day at Griffith Stadium yesterday found the Nats swinging their bats in rather effeminate fashion against the man-sized pitching of Robert Moses Grove, who led Mr. Mack's Athletics out of the wilderness of defeat, while the ladies, bless 'em, cheered everything from Old Glory to foul pops.

The Nats nudged Mister Grove for only six hits during the matinee and were extremely lady-like with their bats until the ninth, when they finally managed to put two hits together and rob Robert Moses of a shutout. In the meantime, the A's were agitating the old apple to the extent of nine hits and won the ball game, 5 to 1.

Dear me, but the Athletics looked like a different ball team with the great Mister Grove out there in the box where the pitchers stand. Poor Walter Stewart was working just too hard for words and was perfectly marvelous for three innings, but horrid old Jimmy Foxx came along later in the afternoon and knocked in two runs and scored another for their side and we just couldn't seem to do anything to Mister Grove.

Higgins' Home Run Astonishes.

And that young fellow Frank Higgins who looks like a perfect darling from where we sat astonished all of us by hitting a home run over the right-field fence in the fifth inning for Mr. Grove's side. We heard, too, that Mr. Higgins, being a right-handed hitter, is not supposed to knock the ball over the right-field fences, but it seemed to count just the same.

Some of the men who sat near us were saying that Goose Goslin, out in right field for our side, didn't play the ball right and that he should have been standing on top of the fence where he could have caught it, but I don't see how Goose could have got way up there in time enough. It wasn't Goslin's fault, I'm sure. Some people are always belittlin'.

It was too funny for words in the first inning when Heinie Manush got put out near home plate by Mickey Cochrane. We thought sure that Washington was going to win the game then and there when Mister Grove walked Mister Kuhel, but they put two out when Buddy Myer hit a nice one down to a fellow they called Cihocki, I think.

Distance Too Far for Manush.

But then Heinie batted the ball way out over the center fielder's head and didn't stop until he got to third base. They called it a triplet, but we didn't know why. Heinie started up again when somebody threw the ball over Mickey Cochrane's head, but he fell down just when he was getting near home plate and Mister Grove, who had run after the ball threw it back to Mister Cochrane and Mister Cochrane tagged Heinie out while Heinie was on the ground. We didn't think that was hardly fair, but the umpires did.

Those perfectly horrid men behind us said that Heinie was just a sprinter and shouldn't be entered in these distance races because he tired. We didn't know exactly what they meant, but it sounded like a dirty crack.

There was lots of cheering in the second inning when Fred Schulte, our only blond except Goose Goslin, beat out a double to center field with two out and Ossie Bluege got on first base by a walk. Luke Sewell batted a nice high one then and it was a wonderful hit, right up into the sun, but this fellow Johnson came running in and caught it so easily.

Johnson Ruins Day for Our Side.

We got three men on base in the next inning when Stewart walked, Kuhel hit one past third base and

Dusty Cooke Is Sent To Newark by Yanks

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—Allen (Dusty) Cooke, outfielder, today was released outright by the New York Yankees to their Newark farm club in the International League.

Cooke, who did not play last year because of an injured arm, played 27 games in 1931 and batted .333. The release of Cooke left the Yankees with Sam Byrd and Fred (Dixie) Walker, who was with Newark last year, as reserve outfielders.

HAVRE DE GRACE OPENS MARYLAND RACE SEASON TODAY

By WALTER HAIGHT.

HAVRE DE GRACE racing, the Graw or, to be more technical, the thirteen-day meeting of the Harford Agricultural and Breeders' Association—call it what you will—but the fact remains that the Sport of Kings, supported by Mr. Public, returns to the Maryland turf cycle today—two weeks later than usual, due to the shift in Bowie dates.

But the delay has only served to sharpen the appetite of racing fans, and long before noon today all points will be leading to the ancient town on the banks of the Susquehanna which hustles and bustles as a turf center twice a year and then goes back to sleep around a historic church steeple while most of the world goes by on the two railroad systems and the State highway.

Shortly before 2:30 o'clock a field of maiden 2-year-olds will follow the lead pony to the post at the end of the long green fence that borders the backstretch and a few minutes later they will be frolicking for the imaginary wire. Then the 1933 Maryland season will be under way and the horses will thunder through the Harfords, the Chesapeakes, the Inaugurals and the Preaknesses.

East to Welcome Racing.

It is the start of racing in the East, which has been forced to subsist on results and charts for more than four months, and New York, Philadelphia and other coast cities, as well as Washington, are expected to send their quota of fans to the course today. A few thousand are expected to make the trip from the Capital, either by auto or at the reduced fares offered by the railroads and buses.

Racing Secretary Joseph McLennan has arranged a sparkling card to be featured by the Harford Handicap—a sprint of 6 furlongs for 3-year-olds and upward. Although the Harford has been reduced, like a majority of Maryland fixtures, from $10,000 to $2,500, the purse seems eagerly sought after and a star field has been named overnight.

Only three of the thirteen entered took part in racing during the winter season. They are Bill Martin's Con Amore, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Curacao and George D. Widener's Pinite.

Among others expected to face the barrier are the star fillies Tred Avon, the property of the Washingtonian, Preston Burch, and W. W. Vaughn's Canron. Then there's Pilate, Microphone, Osculator, Pompeius and others of varying sprint ability.

The secondary feature is the Bayview, which will give fans a look at Derby and Preakness candidates and is as much of a magnet as the Harford. Ladysman, last year's 2-year-old champion and now vieing for Derby favoritism with Repaid, has been entered by W. R. Coe. War Glory, Projectile, Glorify, Rush Hour and Acautaw are other stars entered.

Hampton Roads Draws Star Field.

The Hampton Roads, listed as the fourth race, draws the formidable Snapback, Springsteel, and Curacao, among others. The usual three claiming races complete the card. The third race presents a high-class group of platers, which includes Character, Ladino, Brave and Bold and others popular last year in Maryland.

Needless to say, General Manager Edward Burke has the plant in excellent shape. Recent rains have packed the course and, barring a change in the weather, the strip should be lightning fast this afternoon.

Some 1,200 horses are in stalls at the track and another 1,000, more or less, are quartered in the State. Virtually every leading stable in the country is represented. Mills, Workman, Hanford, Gilbert (put them in your own order) and other star jockeys are ready to be hiked into the saddle.

Three Coast Crews Ready for Race Today

Long Beach, Calif., April 14 (A.P.).—Ky Ebright brought his California oarsmen back to the scene of their 1932 Olympic games triumph today, dubious as to their chances of victory tomorrow over Washington and the University of California at Los Angeles.

"There's no use kidding ourselves or anybody else," was his comment. "We just haven't the speed for Washington. We'll look better over the 2,000-meter distance, but not good enough to win."

Harris & Ewing.

Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, missed his first opening game in 21 years because of illness that confined him to a local hospital, but hardly was the game over when Manager Joe Cronin of the Nats rushed to the hospital to pay his respects and found Walter Johnson, former manager, already there. Left to right are Johnson, Flaherty and Cronin, all of whom are warm friends. Mr. Flaherty is the godparent of Johnson's children.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAVRE DE GRACE, APRIL 14.

Well, friend, Mrs. Bennings' boy arrived here today and immediately took charge of the situation. Mike, my clocker who preceded me from Lexington, reports that he wore out two watches, and this morning he was trying to time them by the town clock. He has given me 876 sure winners. He met me at the station and from the way he talked of sizzling workouts I expected to find the track burnt to a crisp. However, I always divide Mike by twelve with the help of the answers in the back of the book. Between digging in the book and listening to Mike, I have emerged with these. BILL.

FIRST RACE—DRESS CIRCLE is a swift little thing they have been working regularly here, and the clockers are enthused over the prospect of this one hopping right out of the maiden ranks the first time out. TO ARMS is well bred and a strong looking juvenile that may make the top one step all the way. LADOGAN was in the money three times during the winter and may get in the money picture.

SECOND RACE—CHARACTER probably will carry the family jewels and a mortgage on the house among these excellent platers. Has had a heavy campaign without much of a let-up, but seems capable of starting a new winning streak. In case track conditions change I'm putting BUTTER BEANS second. ON TAP has been working well and is dangerous.

THIRD RACE—PROJECTILE gets the Bennings call in this despite the presence of LADYSMAN. Don't believe the 2-year-old champion is going to beat the Pons ace at the weights and at this early date. It was at this course that PROJECTILE was sent to the races last season. POMPONIUS will be stronger on an off track.

FOURTH RACE—CURACAO came up from a successful campaign in the South and will have the condition edge on most of this field. SNAPBACK and SPRINGSTEEL have worked well and will be ready to give the top one a run for the purse.

FIFTH RACE—CANRON burned up the course at Benning during the last three weeks and may provide an upset in the Harford. She has the courage, the speed and seems to have found her condition early. Of course, PILATE must be rated high and will take it if the mare makes mistakes. CON AMORE has winter racing on her side.

SIXTH RACE—SEA FOX raced to stardom in Florida after burning up a lot of money in Maryland last fall. Seems the best suited in this. GLIDELIA and ROYAL RUFFIAN to take care of the others.

SEVENTH RACE—NIGHT PATROL has the apprentice mark up but even so I'm giving the Fire Under gelding the nod. MARCASITE has been kept in training and will not be far away. EVEN UP for the show.

Middleburg Cup Features Races in Virginia Today

Special to The Washington Post.

MIDDLEBURG, Va., April 14.—The first of two days of steeplechase racing under the auspices of the Middleburg Race Meeting Association is scheduled tomorrow. The second day is Wednesday. Tomorrow's feature is the running of the Middleburg Cup, 4 miles over timber, and is the second race of the day.

This race was won last year by Stonedale, owned by M. McGriffin. Stonedale was ridden by the veteran Jim Ryan. This famous race meet is one of the best known in the United States, and attracts horsemen and horse owners from all parts of the country. Last year a gallery of 15,000 were present, and Danile C. Sands, chairman, of the race committee expects a much larger attendance tomorrow.

Many Washingtonians To Attend.

Naturally there will be a large number of people from Washington, all parts of Virginia and Maryland, where so many horses will be entered. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New Jersey, New York and Long Island will be represented. From Camden, S. C., where the Carolina Cup Meet was held last month, and from Aiken, Columbia and Pinehurst there will be entries. Several of the Middleburg riders such as Bobby Young, Jack Skinner and others will see a number of the South Carolina horses go to the post.

Robert B. Young, the racing secretary and a nephew of W. G. Langley, who runs the famous Meadowbrook Meet, Long Island, reports full field. Others on the racing committee, besides Mr. Sands, are Raymond Belmont, Jack Skinner and Louis Leith. There will be six races each day, the first race starting at 1:30 p. m.

Considerable interest centers around young Raymond Guest, the young polo player. He is a brother of the well known internationalist, Winston Guest. Mr. Guest has gone in for steeplechase racing and his first entry will be Engineer II, trained by Jack Skinner.

Ladysman 8-1 Choice in Derby

By THOMAS H. NOONE
(United Press Racing Editor).

NEW YORK, April 14 (U.P.).—Why Tom Shaw has dropped the odds on H. C. Phipps' Enthusiast from 1,000 to 100 to 1 in the future-speculation on the Kentucky Derby, will remain a mystery until Trainer Jimmy Fitzsimmons reveals the "cause of it all" by starting the Diophon colt for the first time during the Havre de Grace meeting which opens Saturday.

Other prominent changes include Ladysman back to 8 to 1 and favorite over Repaid, which is still quoted at 10; Crowning Glory from 50 to 30; Dark Conquest and Dark Winter from 200 to 100; Dynastic from 25 to 15, and The Darb from 25 to 20.

Captain Red Long Shot Possibility.

In searching for a long shot on the big event, it might be well to consider the record of J. C. Milan's Captain Red. With six starts and four victories to his credit, the gelded son of Captain Alcock—Wilton Danna made only one trip to the races last year. He tin-canned 5 furlongs in 1:00 3-5 on that occasion to win easily over a fast track at Dade Park. He then went into hiding until early in March of this year when he went to the post at Tropical Park and was beaten off in two overnight claiming events. His next start was in an allowance affair at 7 furlongs and he breezed out in front all the way to win in a romp by 5 full lengths.

Returned to Kentucky, the gelding gave every indication of being a mudder by winning handily in two sprint races at Lexington. Last Monday he beat a well-balanced field of his peers and Thursday he returned triumphant over older horses.

The Milan candidate, if he trains satisfactorily, may prove to be the "dark horse" among the bluebloods in America's classic on May 6.

Knockaway Is Seen As Derby Dark Horse

Louisville, Ky., April 14 (A.P.).—An imported maiden, hitherto but lightly regarded in the list of Kentucky Derby eligibles, won its way into the group of "dark horses" for the classic, to be run here May 6, by turning in a first-class workout today at Churchill Downs.

The latest "joker" is Knockaway, which William E. Smith, vice chairman of the State Racing Commission, imported from Ireland as a yearling and which has yet to face the barrier.

Until today very little had been heard of the strapping bay son of Knockando—Half Awake, but after his first ambitious test his name was on the lips of every railbird who saw him perform.

Swivel Is Impressive In Derby Trial at Graw

Havre de Grace, Md., April 14 (U.P.).—Adolphe Pons' Swivel, outstanding filly candidate for the Kentucky Derby, to be run at Churchill Downs three weeks from tomorrow, turned in an impressive trial for that 1¼-mile stake over a fast track here today. Displaying a smooth, even stride, she stepped 1¼ miles in 1:58 and was only breezing when taken up.

Projectile, another Pons derby eligible, did a 3-furlong trial in 0:35 2-5.

Other derby eligibles to work were War Glory and War Stripes, from the Glen Riddle Farms, which went a half in 0:49 3-5 and a mile in 1:44; the Greentree Stable's Jungle King, a half in 0:50; the Hastings Stable's Tractable, five-eighths in 1:06 1-5; Mrs. John H. Whitney's Poppyman and Crowning Glory, halves in 1:13 4-5 and 1:14, respectively; the Belair Stud's Jovina, a mile in 1:43, and William Ziegler, jr.'s, Keep Out, a mile in 1:43 2-5.

5 LONG-SHOT WINNERS AT LEXINGTON

Perfect Play, $53.00, Proves Best Bet of the Day.

LEXINGTON RACE TRACK, Ky., April 14 (A.P.).—Dixiana's Constant Wife, who gave great promises in her races at Miami last winter, lived up to her reputation, and in her first effort here made a show of some high-class fillies in winning the Athens Purse, the most attractive race on the card.

Constant Wife packed 116 pounds and ran the 4 furlongs in 0:47 2-5, which is just 1-5 of a second behind the track mark, made by Gen. Haldeman. Constant Mark was an odds-on favorite and, breaking from the outside position, showed wonderful speed, running away from her field as if they were tied to a post. The daughter of Circle never took a long breath galloping along in front. She won by six lengths over Hug Again, with Candle Fly three lengths back. The winner paid $2.88 for $2.

All Forlorn Cheers Backers.

All Forlorn, a rank outsider in the betting, made a runaway race of the opener, and paid his backers $38.30 for a $2 ticket. All Forlorn was ridden by W. Cooler. More Anon finished second and Parade Step third. There was not much to the race as it was run. All Forlorn had all the speed and led for the entire trip and won by four lengths in 1:11 flat. The track was good.

Another long shot went over in the second race. This time Four Spot, with Mel Lewis as the pilot, scored a close victory over the good thing Third Alarm. Fighting Bob was third. The leaders ran well bunched for 3 furlongs, then Third Alarm and Four Spot drew away. Lewis fairly outrode Elston to gain the purse. The winner paid $16.02.

Again a long shot copped, making it three in a row for the long-priced players to enthuse over. Bichloride paying $25.28 scored rather handily over the favorite Bettina H., with Romac third. Bichloride and Romac staged a duel for the first seven furlongs with Romac apparently having the best of it, but, rounding into the home lane, Romac suddenly tired and Bichloride shot into lead and landed the purse by two lengths over Bettina H.

The form players got their first break of the day when Bedight, scoring his second victory of the meeting, landed the money in the fourth event. Bedight was a well-played choice and, breaking on top like a flash, ran into a long lead. M. Parke, who had the leg up, merely sat looking back at his field. Bedight romped along in front, winning by five lengths in the fast time of 1:09 3-5. Oziti beat Volwood a length for the place.

Ogygia Much the Best In Sixth.

O. G. Brown's Ogygia was the third favorite to win. But she had to be pounds the best to annex the purse in the sixth. It seemed that all during the running the other jockeys were determined to block the favorite and they succeeded in doing it twice, but entering the stretch Westrope rushed Ogygia up on the inside and won by two lengths in 1:54 4-5. Deserve was second ahead of Tight Rope. The winner paid $2.94 for $2.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Gambado scored for the popular Eastern horsewoman by taking into camp some fair platers in the seventh race. Gambado showing surprising speed took lead early and was going easy as the field made the bend into the stretch. However, Gambado ran out to the middle of the track, but stuck gamely to his task to win by half a length over Plum Wild with Puttalong third.

Coleman Leads G. W. Golfers in Tryout

W. E. Coleman, letter man from last year's team, led golfers of George Washington University in their tryouts yesterday for the 1933 team. Coleman had 158 with 79 for each of the eighteen-hole rounds played at East Potomac Park. Earle Knibiehly had 159, Craig McKee and J. M. Sutter, another letter man, 160, and Charles Kolb 164.

Fans Eager For Irving, Van Bout

SOMEBODY is going to get hit and somebody is going to hit the canvas Tuesday night when Young Van and Henry Irving clash at Portner's Arena in their 10-round renewal of the "natural of naturals." If such doesn't materialize, hundreds of rooters from Van's Southwest and hundreds of rooters from Irving's Northeast are going to miss their guess.

Scenes from that sensational draw fought a month ago at Alexandria are still deeply impressed on the minds of those who saw it. Every fight fan who didn't see it is still snapping his fingers and saying, "Shucks, why did I miss that one?"

True, Van and Irving, for all the punch that they pack, could not come to a decision the last time. It was to settle the rivalry and crown an undisputed middleweight champion of the District that Promoter Frankie Mann signed these sluggers for ten rounds instead of the eight that marked the last clash.

Van Was Near Knockout.

The 1,200 or 1,300 fans who stood on their chairs and yelled themselves hoarse at the last clash will recall how the battle seemed over in the second round when Irving caught Van on his supposedly glass jaw. Van slowed and the fans wondered what was holding him up. But the Southwest boy came back to weather the storm. In the seventh Van slammed Irving with a right that sent the Northeast boy down for a three-count, but Henry, as game as his rival and aided by the bell, returned to action and took the final round.

Harry (Kid) Groves (Washington) trained both fighters for the last battle, a fact that seems creditable cartoonist copy. And Groves remained neutral to the finish, refusing to go in either corner. For Tuesday's clash Groves has worked only Irving. Van has shifted over to the Mohawk Club and has trained under the guidance of Ray Bowen, clever lightweight, who will be in his corner.

Each claims to have learned a lot about the other in that last fight. However, it will still be a sock vs. sock battle.

Brilliant Supporting Card.

As if the clash of these rivals were not enough, Portner's has lined up the feature supporting card of the season. In the semiwind-up, Nick Antonelli, who stopped Jackie Lamar in a round recently, meets Willie Essinger, another puncher.

Jimmy Reed, colorful mitman who shined and unshined hereabouts last summer but always gave the fans a show, gets a test against Roy Manley, who has been winning, in the main preliminary. In another six, Jackie Simpson, also from Florida, tackles Harry (Kid) Groves (Baltimore). The opening four pits Bob Lowry against Whitey Graham.

Western Net Team Beats Friends, 5-1

Western High's tennis team scored a 5—1 victory over Friends School on the latter's courts yesterday. Eakin was the lone winner for Friends, taking a singles match from Doyle, 6—2, 7—5.

Singles—Howell (W.) defeated D. Hayes, 6—0, 6—4; Eakin (F.) defeated Doyle, 6—2, 7—5; Corcoran (W.) defeated Clark, 6—3, 7—5.

Doubles—Howell and Doyle (W.) defeated Clark and Eakin, 6—3, 1—6, 6—3; Corcoran and Robey (W.) defeated D. Hayes and O. Hayes, 6—0, 8—6.

ATHLETES AT MARYLAND U. SWEEP THREE-SPORT PROGRAM

Penn Staters Beaten on Diamond

Seven-Run Lead Is Overcome as Terps Win, 13 to 8.

Varsity, Frosh Track Teams Beat Richmond Handily.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND made a clean sweep in an athletic program including a varsity baseball game, varsity track meet and a freshman track meet yesterday at College Park. The Old Liners topped Penn State, 13-8, in the opening ball game of the season; the varsity track team squeezed out victory over Richmond University, 66 2-3 to 59 1-3, in its first home competition and the Old Line freshmen tracksters swept to a handy win over the Richmond freshmen, 75 to 42, in competition that also marked the start of their campaign.

The ball game was a typical early season college affair. Penn State got off to a 7-1 run lead, only to have the Old Liners put across six tallies in the third to tie the score. The Nittany Lions again took the lead in the fourth when they counted a run, but Maryland struck back in its half of that frame to mark up two and go to the front, where it stayed. The Old Liners clinched victory by scoring one run each in the sixth and seventh innings and two more in the eighth. Meanwhile Bill McIlwee, veteran southpaw, turned in a snappy bit of pinch-pitching, holding the visitors to one run and four hits in the last six innings and fanning five.

Maxwell Stars
At Bat.

Maxwell for Maryland and Walus for Penn State took batting honors, each getting a double and two singles in five times at bat.

Marked superiority in the running events, in which they scored 52 points to 20 for Richmond, carried the Old Line varsity to victory. The Spiders counted 39⅓ points to 14⅔ for the host team in the field events. Chaltain, of Richmond, was the leading point scorer. His total was 14 as the result of victories in the 120-yard high hurdles and the broad jump and a tie for first in the 220-yard low hurdles. Two others each captured two events, Widmyer, of Maryland, being first in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and Ashton, also of Maryland, winning both the mile and 2 mile tests. Warren Evans, of the Old Liners, hailed by Coach Geary Eppley as the best quarter-miler since Knocky Thomas, won that event in impressive style. His time was 50.8 seconds.

In the freshman meet also it was Maryland's strength in the track department that counted. The Old Liners rolled up 53 points, while the Richmond first-year men were able to gather only 10. Richmond, however, managed to outscore the Maryland youngsters in the field events, 32-22. Beers, Slye and Smith, with 13, 12 and 10 points, were the ace performers for the Old Line yearlings. Beers won the broad jump and tied for first place in the 120-yard high hurdles and the high jump. Slye won the 220-yard low hurdles, tied for first with Beers in the 120-yard high hurdles and was second in the broad jump. Smith took the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

GOVERNMENT TITLE TO G. P. O.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE last night won the Government League basket ball title, defeating the Investigation five in the Boiling Field gym, 31 to 24. It was a thriller from start to finish as the lead frequently shifted and it was not until the final few minutes that G. P. O. forged ahead. The trophy, offered by the Federation of Labor, will be presented to the winners just as soon as it is appropriately engraved.

Led by Understein, who scored 11 points, and by Williams, who was credited with 10, the Printers always appeared to have a slight edge, although they had but a one-point margin at the half, 16 to 15.

Not only did these two stars do some nobby and timely sharp-shooting, but the guarding of the winners was especially good in the later stages of the game.

Shapiro and L. Singman, each with seven points, were high guns for the losers. They were brilliant throughout, but some of their mates failed to keep their G. P. O. foes well-covered in the final period and the result was a spurt which ended in a seven-point triumph for the Printers.

W. & L. PLAYS VIRGINIA TODAY

LEXINGTON, Va., April 14.—Capt. Dick Smith's General nine will enter the Virginia game tomorrow afternoon with the entire pitching staff in the proverbial pink of condition. The team has seen action since Tuesday and Coach Smith will be able to call on any of his pitchers to assume the mound duties.

It is probable that his selection will come from one of the following three: Jarrett, right-handed ace, whose thirteen strikeouts in the Vermont game aided in the General's victory over the Northerners; Sauerbrun, leading Blue and White southpaw, who lost a real 2-to-1 pitchers' duel to North Carolina University on several bad breaks, and Painter, blond right-hander whose eccentric submari delivery held North Carolina State batsmen to only one scratch hit in five innings in Tuesday's game.

Capt. Smith will have to conserve some of his pitching strength for Monday when the Generals will try to even the score with the William and Mary Indians. The Indians handed the Blue and White a defeat at Williamsburg, and the Generals are anxious to cancel the memory of that tilt. It is probable that Coach Smith will use one of the two right-randers against Virginia and the left-hander against William and Mary. At any rate all three of the above-mentioned moundsmen will see action in the two games.

G. W. Plans Field Night For Sandotters on May 3

Baseball Meet Scheduled to Precede Colonials' Game With Wake Forest; Players of D. C. and Nearby Teams Eligible.

A FIELD night for sandlot baseball players of Washington and adjacent Maryland and Virginia towns is scheduled in Griffith Stadium Wednesday, May 3. Contests to determine the speediest base-runner, longest hitter and longest thrower will comprise the program of the affair which is to be known as the "Greater Capital Baseball Carnival."

Arranged as a special attraction in conjunction with an intercollegiate baseball game for the benefit of the National Capital Civic Fund, the carnival is expected to draw a large field of contestants, who in years past have exerted only their oratory in trying to settle the titles involved in the forthcoming event. George Washington University and Wake Forest College nines will meet in the ball game.

Entries are now being accepted at the sports department of the daily Washington newspapers, the athletic office of George Washington University and the Department of Playgrounds in the District Building. The G. W. U. athletic department will conduct the carnival in cooperation with the Department of Playgrounds and the Capital City League.

Eligibility and entrance requirements will be simple. Competition is open to uniformed players of recognized teams in the following cities and towns: Washington, Alexandria, Rockville, Bethesda, Chevy Chase, Silver Spring, Hyattsville, Bladensburg, Capitol Heights, Cottage City, Arlington, Chefrydale, Clarendon and Ballston. The name, age, address, name of team and event to be entered must be submitted in writing by the prospective entrant at one of the offices mentioned above. No entrance fee will be charged.

To keep the field of entries within reasonable limits, the committee in charge has announced that no more than two players may represent the same team in any one of the three events, and that no player shall represent more than one team. Two players of the same team, may, however, compete in all three events.

EAGLES READY FOR GAMES.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles baseball team is now ready to take on teams in the unlimited class. Teams desiring games call National 4637. All members and candidates are asked to report at No. 1 diamond at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

GOLF MATCH TO PITT AND McCALLUM

HARRY G. PITT, Manor Club champion, and Walter R. McCallum, of the Washington Golf and Country Club, yesterday teamed up over the Argyle links to defeat Roger Peacock, District champion, who hails from Indian Spring, and Bill Di Este, of the home club. It was an eighteen-hole match, with the final score being 4 up and 2.

This match featured the Board of Governors Day celebration and it was much closer than the score would indicate. The two teams were all square at the turn for home and remained deadlocked until the Pitt-McCallum duo suddenly cut loose with some sensational golf at the fourteenth.

McCallum's Shot
Decisive.

McCallum chipped in two long ones, his second coming on the sixteenth while 20 feet away from the pin to decide the issue.

The four finished out the string, with Pitt having a 74, McCallum at 75, Peacock a 77 an Di Este an 82.

Pro Golf Head Stands Pat On Team

Says Burke Was 10th in Ryder Cup Ballot and Was Not Named.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associate Press Editor).

NEW YORK, April 14 (A.P.).—Bill Burke, the 1931 American open golf champion, whose absence from the 1933 Ryder Cup team selections has been criticized by Gene Sarazen and others, was just one place removed from making the American International Squad in the final tabulation of votes. This was disclosed today by George R. Jacobus, of Ridgewood, N. J., president of the Professional Golfers Association of America.

At the same time Jacobus indicated to the Associated Press that there will be no "recount," in Burke's case, and that he is satisfied the team is sufficiently representative and strong enough to beat the British in the Ryder Cup matches abroad this June.

Burke Was Tenth
In Balloting.

Nine professionals were named for the team by the P. G. A. in a voting contest in which executives of 25 sectional associations and the national executive committee participated. Burke was tenth in this balloting, tied with John Golden. The surprising feature is the gap of votes between the last team selection, Paul Runyan, a newcomer, and the two veterans.

Here's the result of the national voting, as made public by Jacobus:

Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Olin Dutra and Densmore Shute, 34 each, "par" for the balloting; Ed Dudley, 30; Craig Wood, 29; Leo Diegel and Horton Smith, each 27; Paul Bunyan, 25; Bill Burke and John Golden, 18 each; Johnny Farrell, 15; Al Espinosa, 12. There were some other scattering votes.

Each Section
Voted.

The P. G. A. tried out this system of Ryder Cup team selection this year for the first time. Each sectional association, 25 in all, submitted a preferred list of 12 professionals. The national executive committee, through its headquarters in Chicago, also voted for its 12 favorites, and then tabulated the whole list to extract the leading nine.

"As president of the P. G. A., I named Walter Hagen as captain," said Jacobus. "I consider this team truly representative of the best golfers among association members. The team was selected fairly and without partisanship. While it is the first time a Ryder Cup team has been chosen in this manner I feel confident the members of it will carry through to victory over the British."

Jacobus flatly refused to enter into any controversy with Sarazen over the justice or injustice of leaving Burke, star of the 1931 team, off the 1933 line-up.

As matters stand the only chance for Burke to make the team is to win the national open championship again at Chicago, a place being left for any American homebred, not now on the team list, who may finish on top.

FOXX INSECTS WIN.

Rassle Feature Promises Action

Zaharias and Raines, Two Rough Boys, Matched for Thursday.

Everything short of murder is looked for at the Auditorium next Thursday when the weekly rassle fest is staged, for Promoter Joe Turner has decided to match up two of his man-eating maulers in the feature bout. George Zaharias has been noted as a killer for some time, but it was not until the past two weeks that a rival in the person of Dick Raines appeared upon the scene. The latter, a multicauliflowered giant from Texas, came and saw and conquered and made so many enemies by his rough tactics that Zaharias volunteered to knock him off. So these two supervillians will tangle in a finish bout next week.

With boxing taboo here, District fans who crave action have been looking to the matmen to furnish it, and unless all signs fail, they will see it aplenty when this pair exchanges holds, grunts, groans and grimaces in their little set-to.

Everett Marshall, one of the more refined craftsmen, who has a host of followers here, will appear in the 45-minute time-limit semifinal, taking on Tom Alley. This pair recently battled to a half-hour draw in St. Louis and promise to reach a decision of some kind Thursday.

Other bouts are being negotiated for and Turner promises a most attractive card.

Battle Today For G. W. U. Gridmen

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY'S successful 1932 football team will be reassembled this afternoon to play a regulation game with the 1933 squad led by captain-elect Lee Carlin in Central Stadium, starting at 3 o'clock. The game marks the close of the Colonials' spring drills and has generated much interest among the university's students and friends.

Such familiar figures as Zuzu Stewart, colorful guard, and Johnny Fenlon, dynamic back, both of whom received honorable all-American recognition at the close of last season, will be seen in the line-up of the '32 boys, who despite their brilliant past performances, are not favored to win today.

Capt. Carlin's outfit, primed physically and raring to show the veterans a thing or two, number several outstanding prospects from last season's freshman team, namely, Harley Volkman and Harry Deming, giant tackles; Jack Morrison, guard, and Ben Plotnicki and Don Bomba, backs.

William-Mary Nine Routs Bridgewater

Harrisonburg, Va., April 14 (A.P.). William and Mary Indians easily defeated Bridgewater College, 10 to 3, here today in a Virginia Conference game.

George Callison, William and Mary freshman hurler from nearby Dayton, allowed the Eagles only eight hits and was never in danger. William and Mary pounded Craun for fifteen safeties. Five of the visitors' runs were scored in the last three innings.

Christianson, Indian first sacker, led the hitting with a triple and three singles. He drove in three runs.

Hits and walks in the first four frames netted the Nats ten bases, yet they were trailing at the end of this round, although the A's had totaled but four bases as a result of two hits and an error. It's when you get the bingles that counts.

Max Bishop claimed one of Stewart's shoots hit him on the left elbow while he was at the tee in the seventh. Umpire Kolls differed with him, however, and when Dineen, who was appealed to, declared he was not voting, Max got nowhere in his argument. So officially, at least, Bishop was not hit, even though later he pulls up with a broken arm. Something like this happened to Bob Reeves in Boston two years ago. The umpire refused to let Bob take his base, claiming he was not hit, yet the player had to withdraw from the game and was out for three weeks with a broken hand.

Crew Brushes To Feature Navy Card

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 14.—Varsity and junior varsity eight-oared crews of the Naval Academy and Princeton University were all set tonight for their brushes on Severn River tomorrow afternoon that will mark the opening of the college rowing season in the East.

Both races will be rowed over the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths. The Jayvees will bend to their oars first, their race being scheduled for 3 o'clock, weather conditions permitting, and the clash between the senior oarsmen will be within an hour afterward.

Conditions of water today were all that the oarsmen could wish for, and hope is held that high winds, always an uncertain element at this season of the year, will hold off, as it is believed two lively brushes will result. Taking advantage of the near-smooth river, the rival crews put in snappy workouts as their final tightener. The Tiger crews were out both morning and afternoon, while the Middies were content to take their usual afternoon spins.

Navy Has Slight Edge
In Weight.

Contrary to early forecasts, the Tiger varsity crew has less than a pound average advantage over the Middies, according to statistics announced. The visitors average 171½ to Navy's 176¾. But the Jungaleer Jayvees are a ponderous boatload, averaging 184¼ to 173½ for the Navy Juniors. The rival coaches, Charles S. (Buck) Walsh, of Navy, and Gordon Sikes, of the Tigers, pronounced their charges in good shape and said they expected keen contests. The Tigers have a veritable giant in their varsity boat in J. Rutherford, No. 5 oar, who scales 205 and is 6 feet 5 inches tall. His brother, H. Rutherford, is boated at No. 5 in the Jayvee crew.

The races will be the outstanding features of the first big card to the spring athletic season to be presented by the Naval lads.

Varsity teams will see action in six other events to be staged, with interest being divided between the basball game with Penn State and a field and track met with North Carolina University.

The day's card will be run off in the following order:

Plebe Lacrosse Opens
Program.

Lacrosse—Plebes against Severn School at 1:15. Baseball—Varsity against Penn State, at 2. Field and track—Varsity against North Carolina, 2:15. Tennis—Varsity against University of Virginia, 2:30. Lacrosse—Varsity against Lehigh, 3. Baseball—Plebes against Baltimore City College, 4.

Navy Varsity—Stone (stroke), 178; Hood (7), 176; McLain (6), 180; Klinsman (5), 180; Wendt, captain (4), 177; weeks (3), 177; McMahon (2), 174; J. V. Smith (bow), 172; Krulak (coxswain), 120. Average weight, excluding coxswain, 176¾.

Princeton Varsity—Armstrong (stroke), 166; R Pflaumer (7), 167; Smith (6), 160; J. Rutherford (5), 205; Strang (4), 174; Dayton (3), 175; W. Pflaumer (2), 176; Cumming (bow), 167; Kennedy (coxswain), 120. Average weight, 177½.

Navy Jayvee—Brady (stroke), 172; Woods (7), 175; Brockett (6), 173; Beasley (5), 182; Austin (4), 169; Coffin (3), 174; White (2), 174; Fletcher (bow), 169; Wahlig (coxswain), 122. Average weight, 173½.

MACKS BEAT NATS, 5-1, BEHIND GROVE

Manush walked and there was only one out. Then Joe Cronin batted the ball foul into right field and this Johnson fellow caught it, even though it was foul. What should he do then, but pitch it right to home plate where Mister Cochrane caught Stewart and the whole side was out.

Those men behind us said that Johnson pulled a dumb play by catching the ball and that it was only a perfect throw to the plate that caught Stewart for a double play. Anybody else but Stewart would have scored from third base, they said. It seems that he didn't slide because he had a pitcher's license.

The Philadelphians started up with two out in the fourth when Jimmy Foxx batted a two-base hit and came right home when Johnson batted a single. It was in the next inning that the young Higgins fellow knocked the ball over the right field fence. It was a bunt, they said. Anyway, Mr. Grove's side was ahead, 2 to 0.

Mister Grove's team started some more doings in the eighth, when Mickey Cochrane knocked one out by Goose Goslin. Goose couldn't find the handle on the ball, and by that time Mr. Cochrane was on third base. Poor Walter Stewart walked Jimmy Foxx and then this same Johnson fellow knocked one to Bluege and they tried for a double play, but when Bluege's throw pulled Cronin off the bag, everybody was safe, including Cochrane at home plate.

Joe Cronin put Jack Russell in in the ninth to pitch in Stewart's place and he was marvelous, striking out three men. But before he struck the last one out he walked Bishop and Cochrane, and Cramer got a single and then Jimmy Foxx came along and batted Bishop and Cochrane home for their side.

Our side started up again in the ninth, when Goslin bunted a double to left field and Schulte batted him right home with a single to center, but they caught Bluege's ball out in right field and then when Luke Sewell batted one way out in left center field, Lou Finney, for their side, skipped right over to where the ball was and fell down on his knees and the ball landed right in his glove. It looked for all the world like he said a quick prayer when he was on his knees. The Lord must have listened.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

It now looks as if the North American Radio Conference in Mexico City will not be held much before May 15 or June 1, if then. The postponement has been caused by the delay of the Mexican government in issuing the formal invitation. An opinion was expressed in official circles that no significance should be attached to this and that no opposition had arisen to the conference in Mexico City.

Before retiring from office President Hoover appointed Judge E. O. Sykes, of Mississippi, now chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, and Senator Wallace White, jr., of Maine, the delegates to the North American Conference which was supposed to be held in Mexico City some time this month.

An Easter concert will be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, assisted by the Harvard Glee Club and the Bach Cantata Club (WMAL, 8:15 o'clock) tonight. The program is being revised in the last minute, but it is expected that "The Russian Easter," Rimsky-Korsakoff's overture, based on themes of the Russian Church, will be included.

A three-ring broadcast from "the greatest show on earth" will be heard over WJSV from 3 to 4 p. m. today, when a staff of announcers and engineers bring a complete description of the Barnum & Bailey-Ringling Bros. circus in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Predicated on the theory that it is impossible for any one person to witness everything that goes on under the big tent at any one time, the broadcast will be a comprehensive picture of the big show, and within the space of an hour will take the listeners not only to each ringside and sideshow, but also behind the scenes and into the lions' cage.

Victoria Sackville-West and her husband, Harold Nicolson, both successful British writers, will make their only American appearance before a microphone just before they embark for the return voyage to England tonight.

Both of the speakers are noted authors whose works have had wide circulation in this country. Victoria Sackville-West is best known for her books, "The Edwardians," "All Passion Spent" and "Family History," and her husband is a biographer of Tennyson, Byron and other famous Englishmen, and has had a distinguished career in the diplomatic service.

In their au revoir to America, which will be broadcast at 6:45 p. m. over WRC, the authors will tell about their experiences in this country.

ARTHUR GODFREY, blessed with a grand sense of humor, helps many listeners start the day off right with his WMAL Breakfast Club programs. However, like nearly every other broadcaster who faces a small black instrument in an empty room, he is given to wondering whether there is actually anyone tuned in.

The other morning Godfrey had a telephone call from a lady who wished to thank him for the pleasure the program gave her. When he returned to the microphone to announce the next selection, he facetiously remarked that he had one listener out there, anyway.

The telephone began to ring. There were eight calls within a few minutes. And Godfrey gleefully reported that he had nine listeners, all told. The telephone rang again. The lady on the wire said there were eight listeners in her family alone. By the time Godfrey made this report on the size of his listening public over the air, things started humming. Telephone bells jangled. Godfrey finally had to beg the listeners not to telephone—he was alone at the station and couldn't continue with the program and answer the telephone calls.

However, if Godfrey thought that was the end of it he had another think coming. The next morning he was able to announce that a company of Marines stationed at Quantico listened to him regularly. Sixty-seven of them had gone to the trouble of affixing their signatures to a letter of praise, which was forwarded to Godfrey.

The morning following that a letter from the Naval Academy at Annapolis was brought in. It contained the information that there were 2,000 midshipmen who considered themselves members of the Breakfast Club, since they listened every morning. And there, for the time being, the matter rests.

All of which should convince Arthur Godfrey that he is not exactly talking to himself every morning.

WILL HAYS and DeWolf Hopper head the list of well-known authorities on the theater who will discuss the future of the spoken drama during a luncheon meeting of the National Republican Club to be broadcast over WMAL at 2 p. m. Hays will act as chairman of the meeting and the other distinguished speakers will include Eva LeGallienne, Mrs. August Belmont and Daniel Frohman. The subject of the discussion will be "Has the Spoken Drama a Future in America?"

The memory of Jenny Lind, the Swedish Nightingale, will be honored in a special broadcast over WMAL at 4:30 p. m. The program will be under the auspices of the St. Erik Society of New York, of which Dr. Johannes Hoving is president, in connection with preparations for the opening, in a few weeks, of a Jenny Lind collection in the John Morton Museum, Philadelphia.

Senator Elmer Thomas, of Oklahoma, will discuss "The Necessity of Expanding the Currency" during the National Farm and Home Hour (WMAL, 12:30 p. m.)

Henry Morgenthau, jr., head of the Farm Credit Administration, was to have spoken during the program, but will not now be able to be present.

COMING EVENTS: Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, will be heard over an N. B. C. network on Wednesday, April 26, as he addresses a dinner meeting of the Pilgrims, Anglo-American society, in New York. . . . Will Rogers will return to the air for a new series of broadcasts, beginning Sunday, April 30, over the WJZ network. . . . The 1933 Festival of Chamber Music of the Library of Congress will be broadcast direct from the auditorium there on Monday, April 24, and Tuesday, April 25. This year's festival brings Adolf Busch and his String Quartet to America for the first time. The Busch Quartet will be broadcast on Monday. . . . The vaudeville engagement of Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians in Washington, beginning April 22, means that his radio program will be broadcast from here. Arrangements have been completed to have the show originate in the auditorium of the National Press Club.

Arthur Conn, a Washingtonian, is director of the Banjo Club of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which will be heard with the M. I. T. Glee Club in a special program over WMAL at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

William Rose Benet, poet, and his wife, Lora Baxter, the actress, will go before the microphone with Thomas L. Stix for the America's Grub Street Speaks program (WJSV, 6 o'clock) tonight.

THE Columbia network has one of the longest lists of convalescents since it went on the air. There is Elsie Hitz, recovering from scarlet fever, who'll broadcast her part as June Armstrong in "The Magic Voice" from a makeshift bedside studio in her home, beginning tonight.

And there's Angelo Matera, supervisor of musicians, who just had his sixth motor collision on the Queensborough Bridge. It may be the world's greatest cantilever bridge to engineers, but to Matera it's the champion suspension span—keeps him in suspense every time he crosses it.

Capital Unit Plans Apple Fete March

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 14.—The Overseas Drum and Bugle Corps of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Washington, D. C., has accepted an invitation to march in the feature parade of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival here about May 1, and Alvin Loring, director of the corps, stated today that the men would be here 120 strong.

In 1931 the Overseas Drum and Bugle Corps won the grand prize here for the best veterans' musical organization in the line of march. Last year the Overseas boys participated in the fete, but declined to compete for a prize. They will be assigned a position close to the division bearing Miss Francoise May, daughter of the Belgian Ambassador to the United States, and Mrs. May, of Washington, as Queen Shenandoah X.

Word also was received from the Strasburg (Va.) Fire Department that it will participate in the "mummers' parade" to be held the first night of the festival.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THE guillemot, a bird inhabiting northern seas, is the world's best producer of Easter eggs. Its eggs show more variety in point of color than those of any other bird in the world—a dozen different distinctive tints being found in guillemot eggs. Although many common birds lay eggs of various hues, only the fabled Easter rabbit can match the guillemot in producing colored eggs.

Any white sparkling wine may pass under the name of champagne, but it is not really champagne unless it is made from grapes grown in the old French province of Champagne. It is also possible to make a wine that none but expert tasters can distinguish from true champagne, the term champagne being largely a geographical distinction. It is against the law in France for any wine to be sold as or labeled champagne that is not made from grapes grown in the Champagne district.

The history of Sicily, the Mediterranean island, has been a story of succeeding powers and invasions in which fifteen nations have figured, some of them more than once, over a period of 30 centuries. The Phoenicians moved in to colonize the lands of the ancient Sicels, then came the Greeks, pushing the Phoenicians before them. Later from Athens, Carthage and Rome invaders took their turns in Sicily, only to be followed by the Vandals, Goths, Saracens, Spaniards and Arabs. The Normans, Germans, Aragons had their turn. Today Italy rules Sicily.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

MR. TWITCHELL HAS SOME TROUBLE WITH MR. SHAW ON THE RADIO.

(It seems that some impish members of the household kept tuning into the Ed Wynn, Ben Bernie, Kate Smith and other programs.)

"MR. CHAIRMAN, ladies and gentlemen: Finding myself in an opera house with such a magnificent and responsive audience, I feel an irresistable temptation to sing. But I am afraid my unfortunate age precludes any performance of that kind . . . So-oo-oo-o!

"I drag in the subject of my age because it really has something to do with what I am going to say tonight . . . Lissen, Graham . . . Oh, Graham . . . Lissen . . . You'll die laughing at this one . . .

• • • •

"The advantage that I have over my audience is that I have actually seen about three generations of human beings. I can remember the sort of person that an American was, say in the year 1860. Now the American of that day was quite unlike the American . . . Kate Smith, who I am sure delighted you with her number, 'Now You've Got Me Cryin' Again.'

• • • •

"Graham! . . . Lissen! . . . The girl's father is so twisted mentally that he has to screw his hat on with a wrench . . . He was a man of magnificent periods and splendid perorations, a tremendous talker, but he never said anything . . . Soo-oo-oo-oo!

"Now this Academy of Political Science. What is it for? . . . It is, in the first place . . . the solution to quick pick-up and longer mileage . . . When you drive into a gasoline pumping station be sure to ask the man . . . to smash the American constitution, to get rid of it at all hazards . . . Lissen, Graham, you'd better sit down . . . You'll fall right over when you hear this one . . .

• • • •

"It seems there was a farmer's daughter and a traveling salesman and the salesman says to the girl, 'Where are you going?' and the girl says . . . It is very doubtful whether man is a political animal—to use the expression of Aristotle—whether he really is enough of a political animal to produce a sensible constitution . . .

• • • •

"And, lissen, Graham, the salesman says to the farmer's daughter . . . We were taught, my friends, that antiquity meant the Roman Empire, which had absorbed the Greek Empire and before that the Egyptian Empire . . . It was Prof. Petrie who said . . . 'When the moo-oon comes-s-s over-r-r the mountain-n-n-n-n- . . .

• • • •

"Now ladies and gentlemen, where does that leave us today? How do things stand? I'll tell you how they stand . . . Toronto, 3; Rangers, 1.

• • • •

"This is Ben . . . Shaw . . . the old maestro, coming to you under the auspices of . . . Academy of Political Malt in Toronto, Canada . . . by special permission of the copyright owners. So-oo-oo-oo!"

"Mr. Robot"

License Status of One That Flies Wiley Post Here Proves Puzzle.

Just what kind of a pilot's license should be issued to a robot pilot yesterday puzzled the best minds of the Aeronautics Branch of the Department of Commerce.

A plane flown by "Mr. Robot" came here yesterday from Columbus, Ohio, with no human hand touching the controls from the time the take-off was made in Columbus until the ship approached the Anacostia Naval Air Station.

In the back seat sat a pilot of no less reputation than Wiley Post, co-holder with Harold Gatty of the round-the-world record of 8 days and 16 hours, made in 1931. According to Mrs. Post, who also made the trip, Post read the papers and napped while she admired the scenery over the mountains.

Shortly after its arrival here the plane and pilot were inspected by Government aviation officials. "We can issue 'Mr. Robot' a special industrial license," one Department of Commerce official was heard to say. "Well, that's all right, but I haven't taught him to sign his name to the necessary papers," was Post's reply.

Built by the Sperry Gyroscope Co., "Mr. Robot" may be Post's partner on a new round-the-world attempt to be made probably this summer. With the mechanical man at the controls, Post hopes to be able to spend his time navigating and resting, thus enabling him to put in more hours in the air than has heretofore been possible.

COMMERCIAL BANK REOPENING IS VOTED

Depositors' Group Approves Reorganization Plan; to Go to Awalt.

A plan for reorganizing and reopening the Commercial National Bank was approved by the depositor's committee yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the Willard Hotel, it was announced by Col. Wade H. Cooper, president of the bank.

It was also said yesterday that more than 5,000 shares of new stock in the Northeast Savings Bank had been subscribed. This represents more than half of the new stock which is needed to reopen this institution.

The plan for reopening the Commercial National will not be made public until it has been presented to F. G. Awalt, Comptroller of the Treasury, Col. Cooper said. It will be presented immediately, he added. The plan was formulated by a subcommittee of the depositors' committee, which presented it to the parent committee yesterday. The committee adopted the recommended plan unanimously, it was reported.

George F. Hoover, conservator and one of the vice presidents of Northeast Savings Bank, announced yesterday that in excess of 5,000 shares of stock for the reopening of the institution already had been signed for, and that quite a number of pledged subscriptions are still to be sent in. Next week the bank will be open every night from 7 to 9 o'clock to receive subscriptions for stock. The shares signed for represent more than half the amount needed.

1,500 Hospital Aids Might Be Dropped

Employes of Naval Bureau May Be Kept, Though, Through Transfers.

Unless a remedy is discovered before July 1, more than 1,500 members of the medical personnel, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Navy Department, will be faced with the loss of their positions.

Due to the reduction in the number of patients of the Veterans' Administration in naval hospitals, personnel numbering 180 officers, 1,381 enlisted men and some 60 women nurses, will be without jobs.

Under President Roosevelt's economy program, veterans who are unable to trace their disability to service in the country's armed forces will no longer be hospitalized.

Efforts are being made to transfer this group to the newly organized civilian reforestation conservation corps.

Boy Riding Tricycle Barely Misses Being Struck by Sniper's Bullet.

A roused community waited in grim determination last night for the reappearance of a mysterious new sniper in the upper Georgia avenue section, who yesterday afternoon seemed to appear from thin air, fire at a small child and his faithful dog, then disappear again, leaving the dog on the sidewalk with a bullet through his chest.

The warm sunshine of a spring afternoon lured 2-year-old Theodore Cash, jr., to try out his new tricycle in front of his home at 4530 Ninth street northwest. He played under the watchful eye of Fritz, a shepherd dog, which for eight years has been "a member of the family."

Trots After Master.

Theodore peddled the tricycle with all his tiny might. The dog broke into a gallop in an effort to overtake him. Suddenly, as Fritz almost reached the boy's side, a report rang out.

The startled child turned to see the dog lying on the sidewalk. Mrs. Cash ran from the house to her son's side, and neighbors, attracted by the shot, appeared on front porches.

Little Hope Is Held.

The wounded dog was carried into the Cash home, where it was found a bullet had entered the left shoulder and lodged in the chest. Fritz continued to cling to life last night, but little hope is held for his recovery.

Mrs. Cash said little Theodore escaped the gunman's shot by inches. The dog was directly behind the tricycle.

Police canvassed the neighborhood, but failed to find a clew to the would-be killer's identity. Whether the bullet was intended for child or dog has not been determined.

Armed Pair Holds Up Arlington Oil Station

Two robbers held up John Werrich, manager of the Bauerman Service Station at Glebe road and Columbia pike in Arlington County, late last night and looted the cash drawer of about $30.

Werrich said one of the men, who masked his face by pulling his cap over his eyes, forced him into a rear room at gun point, while the other scooped up the money. They escaped in an automobile.

Fish Nets Target Of Mass Meeting

Cobb Island Citizens Hold Session Tomorrow on Navigation Snags.

An attempt to devise means whereby hydroplanes, motor boats and fish will get an even break while traveling the waters of Chesapeake Bay and the Potomac River will be made at a mass meeting tomorrow at 1:30 p. m on Cobb Island, Charles County, Md.

Charges that the nets reaching across the passages to spawning grounds do not give the fish an even "sporting chance" and hinders the navigation of airplanes and boats, will be drawn into a petition and sent to President Roosevelt and Maryland and Virginia State officials.

W. W. Malone, of Rockpoint, Md., is chairman of the meeting and asks that "everybody who likes to eat fish and catch fish" attend the meeting.

PROFIT OF $60,000 BY INAUGURAL BALL WILL GO TO CHARITY

Grayson Forwards $40,000 to Chest Pending Winding Up of Affairs.

Profits of the inaugural ball last month will be about $60,000, it was estimated yesterday in a preliminary statement issued by Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the inaugural committee.

The exact net proceeds of the affair will not be known until its contracts have been adjusted and supplies paid for, it was explained. When these affairs have been adjusted and cleaned up, the books of the committee will be closed and the entire profits paid over to charity.

Chest Gets $40,000.

To take care of emergency charity needs, the committee has sent a check for $40,000 to the Community Chest, recipient of the charity fund raised by the ball. It is known that the profit will be more than this, so the advance payment is made at this time, when demands for charity are especially heavy. It is hoped to make the final payment to the Chest shortly, after the affairs of the committee have been wound up. The $40,000 already remitted will be subtracted from the total amount of the profits when the final payment is made.

Guarantors Are Repaid.

The estimated profit of $60,000 is the amount left after all bills have been paid and a $96,120 guarantee fund has been returned to citizens of the District. This guarantee fund was subscribed by local residents to underwrite the losses of the ball, if there were any. Checks for the amount they subscribed have already been sent to the guarantors, the statement yesterday said.

Mrs. John Allan Dougherty was chairman of the inaugural ball subcommittee of the inaugural comtee, headed by Admiral Grayson, while Ray T. Baker was chairman of the subcommittee on reception of distinguished guests.

They told Mr. Roosevelt that neither the farm relief bill nor the farm credit bill alone can help the farmer, but that a "reflation" of money and credit will be needed.

Relic Puzzle

What started out to be a single mystery appealing to Post readers for its solution, became further complicated yesterday when another colonial relic of undetermined origin came to light.

Several weeks ago Henry S. Baker asked for aid in his 20-year search of the significance of a silver plated copper medallion uncovered in the grounds surrounding his old colonial mansion Castle Thunder, near Charles Town, W. Va. Dated March 4, 1789, its significance had defied historians.

L. W. Stephenson, 3421 Lowell street northwest, reading about the find, remembered a similar relic which he uncovered in the garden of his home when he lived at 2941 Macomb street. At the time he had also launched a vigorous search in musty historic volumes for the medallion's origin, but he was also unable to discover its secret.

What seems to read "Memorable Era" on the disc found by Mr. Baker, is legible as "Memorable Fra" on the medallion possessed by Mr. Stephenson. This, however, brings little light on the mystery.

TROLLEYS COLLIDE AND ARE DERAILED

That was the burning question a few moments after two street cars—one of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and one of the Capital Traction Co.—were derailed in collision at Georgia avenue and Kennedy street northwest late yesterday.

The two trams came together with a resounding thump when the afternoon traffic was at its thickest. The few passengers and the two-man crew on each vehicle were unhurt. Several windows shattered was the damage extent.

Somebody, however, thought a near-disaster had occurred. Police vans clanged up, also a couple of ambulances. By the time the emergency vehicles and newspaper reporters and cameramen arrived, the hurry-up wagons from the street car terminals had fixed everything up, put both cars back on their tracks and sent them packing along.

On Tuesday, police say, the corporation counsel will gather around with attorneys for the two traction companies and the crews of the two cars and some of the passengers and determine who had the right of way.

Harold L. Wright, 23, of 917 C street southeast, was motorman of the Washington Railway & Electric car, police said. It was going south on Georgia avenue. M. Scott, 43, of 1311 Longfellow street northwest, was motorman of the other car, which was going west in Kennedy street en route from Takoma Park.

Rivermen Feel Potomac High Water Peak Over

Normal river conditions were expected today by Weather Bureau officials and rivermen after the high level reached yesterday with encroachment of the Potomac over the seawall at Hains Point and the deluging of lawns at Anacostia Naval Air Station yesterday morning.

Barring heavy freshets in the mountains or unexpected rainfall, the spring high-water peak is believed to have passed. At Chain Bridge yesterday the narrow gorge of the river was swelled nearly 16 feet above normal but with the recession of high tide it dropped considerably and rivermen predicted that the next high tide would see the river little above its spring average.

FIREMEN PUT DOWN 4,800 FEET OF HOSE TO BATTLE FLAMES

The home of William R. King at 5800 Eastern avenue northeast, which is farther from a fire plug than any other structure in the District, was badly damaged late last night by a fire believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace.

Fire companies responding to the alarm had to lay 4,800 feet of hose to obtain water to battle the flames, and about ten minutes was required for the work. Had the home been 200 feet farther from the plug on Eastern avenue the firemen would have been unable to use water, as only 5,000 feet of hose is carried.

Bucket Brigade Fails.

Mr. King was away from home when the fire broke out. His son, William N. King, said he had tended the furnace early in the evening and was reading on the second floor of the frame structure when he noticed the house filling with smoke.

Owing to the inaccessibility of the home to the fire department, young King, his mother, Mrs. Nannie King, and Mrs. Nellie Dennis, who lives in the home, tried to extinguish the flames in the basement with buckets of water.

Damage Is $10,000.

Failing, Mrs. Dennis ran to the home of Mrs. Charles W. Miller, at Riggs road and the District line, and telephoned the fire department.

Damage was estimated in excess of $10,000. The interior and furnishings were practically ruined.

Sewing Machine Call Is Issued by Red Cross

Applications for sewing on the Government cotton garments for the Red Cross, being financed from the Paderewski concert fund, must be made to the emergency relief division of the board of public welfare and not to the Red Cross, it was announced yesterday.

A special appeal is issued by the Red Cross for the loan of sewing machines for approximately two or three months. These machines are to be used by the women certified to do the sewing.
